Man with the golden horn. Paul Janecka performs his solo in Firedance at the halftime of an NM football game.

Accomplishing something worthwhile seldom comes easy. Often obstacles keep one person alone from completing tasks. But by Pulling Together with others there is no limit to what may be accomplished. It is the combined effort and support that enable us to succeed. It takes everyone helping, encouraging and pushing toward goals showing that Pulling Together cannot help but produce a Winning Combination.

Pulling Together... A Winning Combination

Breaking barriers. The football team was one of many organizations which pulled together to produce a rewarding year.

Home Sweet Home. A deserted North Mesquite High School some 2,500 students enter its doors on the first day of the school year, August 23.

We've got Spirit. The school mascot proudly poises himself in the center of the gym, during the Wilmer Hutchins pep rally. This would be the fifth consecutive victory for the mighty Stallions, but not the last.

Good Vibes. Cathy Oper and Katy Horton play the school song at a pep rally.

Rock 'n Soul. The Stallionaire drum line puts their soul into their music at half-time.

Wheels in Motion

Under constant pressure to win, whether consciously or subconsciously, we are taught to win, to hold our heads up high and give it all we have academically, athletically, and socially. When we first entered high school, we were taught it was not if you won or lost, it was how you played the game. We soon learned that winning was everything. It was everything if you had fun doing it, and someone to do it with. We won victory after victory in 1983. The victories didn't just come over night. Many hours of practice and preparations went into routines and game plans. The preparations began early in the summer of 1982, just on the heels of the 'state-renowned' roundballers who gave us such excitement in 1982. The preparations were long and hard; however, they would pay off in the long run.

The Pacesetters planned their heart-stopping routines at their summer camp at Kilgore College. Meanwhile back in Mesquite, the Big Blue and their directors were setting the wheels in motion for the upcoming marching season. Their hard work is what makes them, 'The Pride of North Mesquite.' As summer was winding down, the Stallion football team was putting the finishing touches on their game plan. For the players that made it through the grueling workouts, it would be a very rewarding season.

Comic Relief. Jeff Boulware promotes spirit with a skit at the NM/BA pep rally.

All Together Now. Mrs. Barbara Thomas coaches the Pacesetters at an early morning practice while the flag corps practices on.

For the most art. The Highland Park run-through showed our winning football team that the Art Club considered them the best.

Blast off. The varsity cheerleaders bring the Stallions onto the field at the NM/Samuel game.

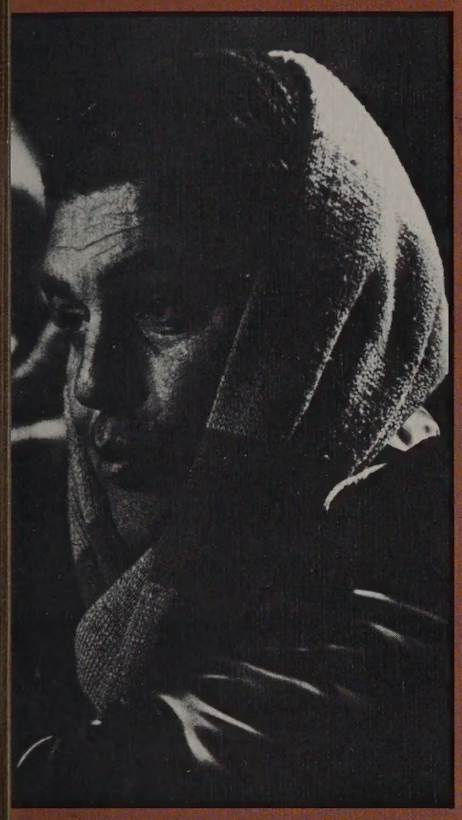
Double Trouble. Sherrie Reville and Lori Kirpatrick pause for a moment of hot chocolate at a cold football game.

Calling the shots. Mrs. Capps is interviewed by Warner Amex Cable for the girls basketball team.

One more time. Mike Smith hopes that his Stallion teammates can score another six.

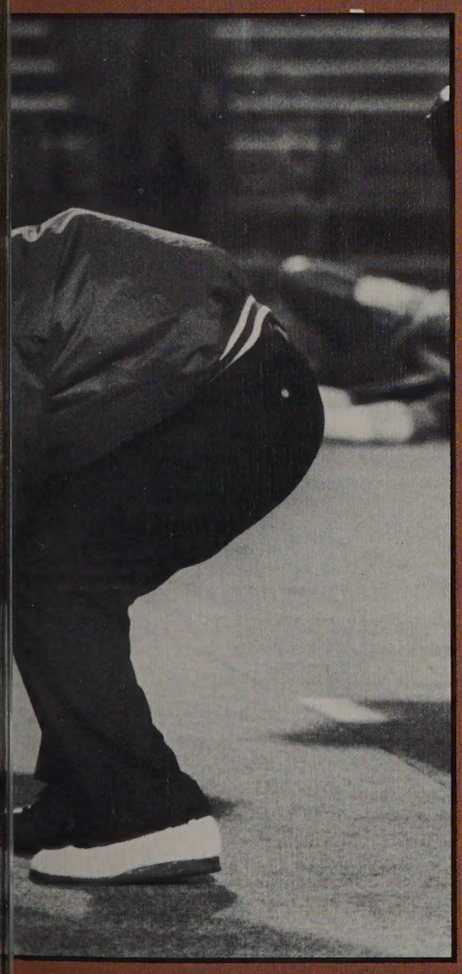
The playoff's the thing. Coach Tyler helps Steve Wohlschlegel endure the pain of pre-game stretching.

reat Expectations. A hopeful Coach White atches the football team tromp to a district hampionship.



Bottoms up. The Cheerleaders show their support.

Get up and go. The Pacesetters provide the fans with another stunning half-time performance.



New Adventures

With the beginning of school, came new challenges, new goals, and new adventures. Our first goal would be to win the district championship in football. With the cheers of the students, parents and cheerleaders, the running of Spirit, the folding of chairs by Pacesetters, the counting of the drum major, and the hard hitting of the football team, we pulled together – we found the winning combination. This combination of spirit and togetherness took us to an undefeated season and the coveted District 9-AAAAA Championship.

Through the year we pulled together within our own little groups. The Big Blue pulled together and gave one of their most exciting performances in the Parade of Champions Contest at the Cotton Bowl. This earned them a 2nd place in their division out of approximately fifteen other bands. The North Mesquite Big Blue and Pacesetter drill team united for a thrilling performance at the Dallas Cowboy vs. Philadelphia Eagle game at Texas Stadium. The temperature was about 30 degrees and raining when half-time came. Refusing to postpone their performance, they went on as scheduled in the midst of a downpour, thus warming the crowd with their thrilling performance. The capacity crowd honored the performers with a standing ovation.

More prestige was brought to North Mesquite by the NM Volleyball team. The netters took the District Championship and went on to win the Bi-District Championship. Not to be denied their district title the lady roundballers took the court week after week, and dominated their opponents. Again proving the newswriters wrong; the varsity girls pulled together as a team and took it to the hoop.

Batons and bows. Head Majorette Lori Jones performs her feature twirler routine to 'Fire Dance.'

The thrill is gone. Loretta Schnurr and Barbara Tobias anxiously watch the Stallions play South Oak Cliff.

Unlimited fun. Rhonda Johnson and Kathy Kessler show their support for the Stallions by cooking the Colonels.

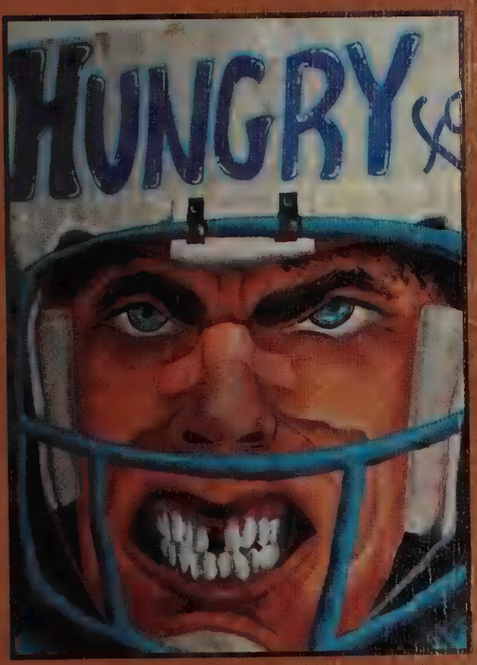
All That Spirit

The coming of Christmas brought about a time of rest and social gathering between friends and family. It also brought about the end of the first semester of the school year and the beginning of a new year in our lives, 1983. We began the year with mixed hopes. Some concentrated on where they would go to college, or what classes they would take next year; some just tried to get through this year. Through the year students and teachers pulled together. Students helped other students, teachers helped students, administrators helped teachers.

We grew together academically through class study and field trips. There were trips to many places in the Dallas/Ft. Worth area. Still some students carried on their studies individually. With all the spirit and togetherness, North Mesquite has some groups and sports that are left ignored. Two groups are the boys and girls soccer teams. Both teams played before practically no fans against the Mesquite Skeeters as well as their other opponents.

Blue Music. Performing his trumpet solo at half-time, Jim King thrills the crowd.

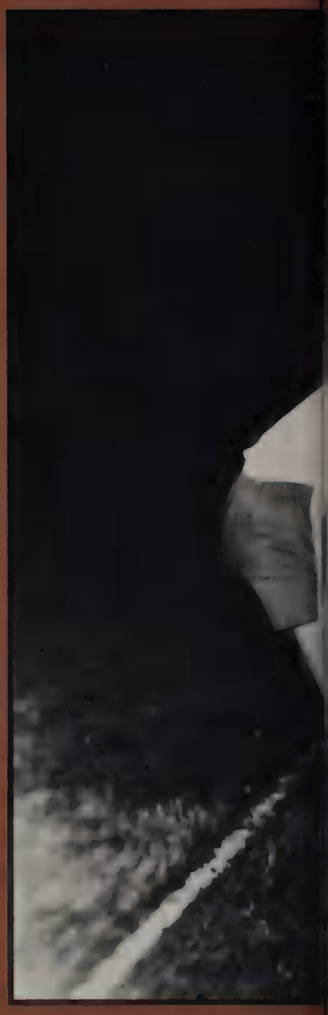
They're the tops. The varsity football team joins the other students in singing the school song.



Real Hungry. As was later proved, our hunger was satisified as we won district with a perfect 10-0 record.

Just plain folk. Laura Lynd, Bill Kula, Dee Dee Deets, Tony Martin, Michelle Warren, Debi Williams punk out.

Second to none. Kelly Dunn, Teresa Jackson, Lori Porter, and Michelle Steele stand in front of the thought that carried them to district. A perfect record — 12-0.

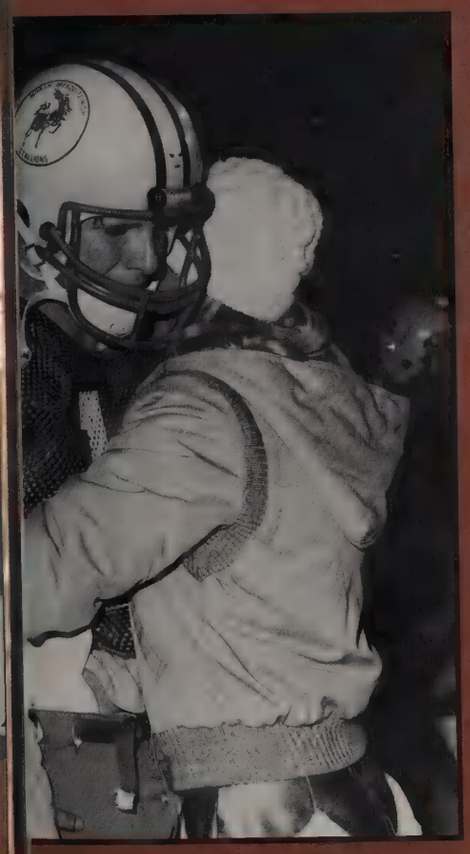


Together we're better. Fans and students gather around Spirit after the Homecoming victory against Lakeview.

Routinely perfect. Mrs. Thomas watches over her Pacesetters one cold early morning.

You better watch out. Jana Allen and Missy Westmoreland help Mr. Duke with his beard while he passes out detention slips for Christmas.

Bound and determined. The varsity soccer team pledges their dedication to each other during a huddle at the beginning of the Mesquite game. NM won 4-0.



Pulling Together

The soccer teams defeated the Skeeters as well as their other opponents. The girls went on to take the district title and advanced to the state tournament. They did it without very much support, and without much publicity from the newswriters. The team found that confidence, friendship, and pulling together of their talents was their winning combination. There is another group of students, although not a small group, that are only recognized at the time the class rank is given, and at graduation when they are designated with the title 'honor graduates.' These were the students that always talked scientifically. When someone screamed 'Great' in the hall, they would say the volume was about 20 decibals; when something was thrown across the room, they would say it was thrown at a 30 degree angle with a velocity of 125m/sec. These students do one thing, study; and they do it right. These 'Einsteins of the Eighties' have to pull together within themselves to be the best. They work diligently, studying every chance they get.

The ability to pull together and excel socially, athletically, academically, and in their extra-curricular activities gives North Mesquite High School the winning combination. Our "Pulling Together" and forming the "Winning Combination" makes North Mesquite High School the best little high school in Texas.

Closing voices. Donna Browning gives Brian Cain a consoling hug after the NM defeat at the hands of SOC in the Bi-District playoff.

Organizations Pulling Together...

Dance The Night Away. Paige Rich cheers for the Freshman football team.

Note-able affair. Scott Magee, Gena Goff, and Donna Shaw sing at the Fall concert.

A Little Nub'll Do It, Lori Kirkpatrick, Kevin Sledge, Mike Pearson, and Patty Ramsey demonstrate the correct way to point at paintings, which they learned during their visit to the El Greco exhibit.

A Christmas Cello. Janet Sloan plays at Town East for Christmas with the Orchestra.

Through organizations, students learned the importance of assuming responsibility, compromising, and persevering. We struggled through car washes, and candy sales. Nevertheless, we worked together and got the job done by achieving our goals and serving our school. Whether it was the Art Club spending endless hours finishing a run-thru, or the band and Pacesetters giving up Christmas holidays to polish their routines for a Dallas Cowboy game, we always worked, pulling together as a group.

For Art's Sake. Jana Kennedy, Monica Brown, and Paul Wade prepare the run through for the football game against Bryan Adams.

Sweat Inspiration. The Big Blue and Pacesetters practice in the early morning to perfect their routines.

Rolling in the Dough

Future Homemakers Cook Up New Experiences.

Walking down one of the back halls of "B" floor on certain days you might have been delighted to smell all the goodies that were being prepared inside the classroom kitchens. Learning to cook was just one of many experiences in which homemaking students took part. Another experience which most of these students participated in is Future Homemakers of America. North Mesquite has eight different chapters and sponsors. Projects which Future Homemakers of America is responsible for are working with senior citizens at area nursing homes, helping in local child care centers, and numerous school spirit activities. "We've got the privilege of having an area officer — Jennifer Martin, who is serving as Vice President of Programs for Area 5. She is committed and has really done a good job," commented Mrs. Marshall, sponsor. In March many of the FHA's attended a meeting at Paschal High School in Ft. Worth which Jennifer organized. With over 200 members the organization successfully served the school and community throughout the year.

Finishing touches on the cake. Shelly McKinney, Louis Jones, Sherri Dunn, and Mark Ray enjoy the cupcakes which they prepared during class.

FHA sponsors. Mrs. Allred, Mrs. Birdsong, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Prater, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Tonroy, and Mrs. White.

The season of Giving. Vicky Briggs, Linda Gray, James Douglas, Jan Calloway, Cindy Murdock, and Beth Hartsfield experience the joy of giving at the Big Town Nursing Home.

Wrapping it up. Priscella Rheh decorates gifts for nursing home residents.

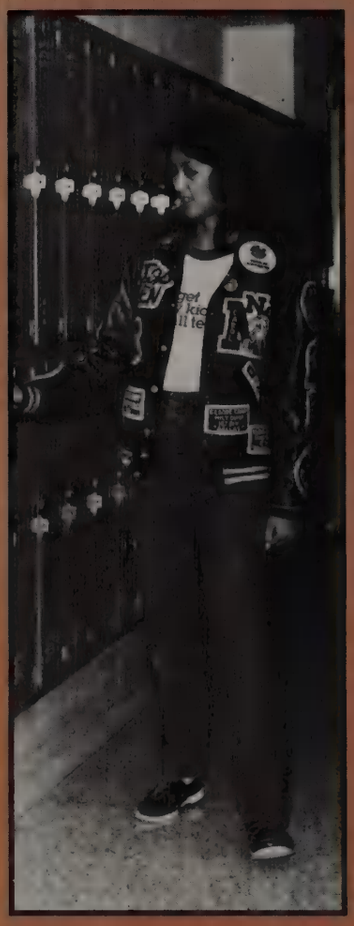
The Chain Gang. John Kearney and Bobby Eubanks assist in the hanging of Christmas chains.

If you can't stand the heat. Steve Piland, Kevin Perkins, Diane Prater, and Gloria Pena lend each other a helping hand in baking a batch of cookies.

Dishpan Hands. Melany Guy cleans up the dirty dishes her group made while they cooked.

Taking Care of Business

Miles of tiled floor, thousands of pages and early morning devotions are part of each person's life who is an office or library helper or a member of FCA. The FCA is a non-denominational organization that allows students to get to know one another in a Christian atmosphere. They have meetings on Monday nights with guest speakers. They also sponsor morning devotionals in Coach Blair's room. The office and library workers help the secretaries and librarians with their daily work. Picking up absentee slips, relaying messages from the office to teachers, and helping new students around school are a few of the office workers' routine. The library workers help the librarians with checking books in and out, keeping the shelves straight and collecting money from students with overdue books. FCA and the office and library helpers work together to perform many jobs in their support for North Mesquite.



Neither rain nor snow . . . Nothing can keep Carol Abarquez from her daily rounds.

Talent and Imagination

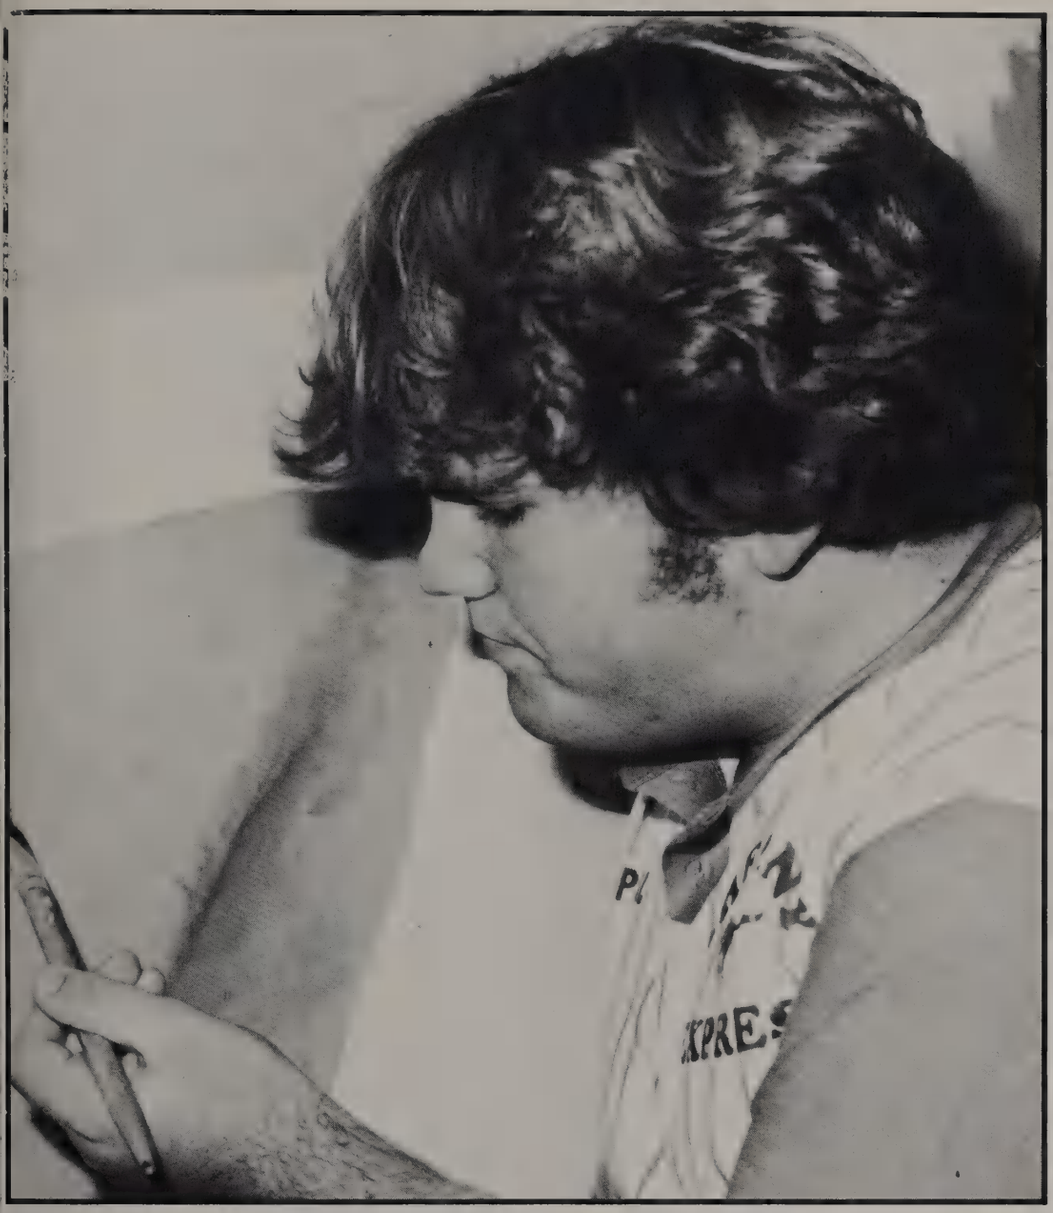
During football season the atmosphere was filled with an enormous amount of enthusiasm and school spirit among almost everyone that stepped foot into any of the classrooms. Students were always anxious to see what was going on in one room on C-floor in particular. On a wall in the room, each week, hung a 'masterpiece' which the Art Club created. Many outsiders couldn't believe that the artists would spend so much time on the run-thrus only to see them torn to pieces in a matter of seconds. The Art Club's philosophy was that by painting these giant, much detailed posters, they were showing the team that they were behind them 100%. At one point while one group worked on the run-thru, another group ventured out to the weight room to paint the Stallion Strength insignia on the wall. Over 1,000 spirit buttons were also printed by the Club for the Mesquite and bi-district game. After a busy first semester, the members got a chance to relax at the Ft. Worth Art Museum. As a finishing touch for the year, the Art Club had a special banquet at Baby Doe's.

Another organization which has a lot of talent and imagination is the Literary Magazine. Under the guidance of Mrs. Lavonne Dennis and Mr. Ron Taylor, the staff composes a book of the best original works by students at North Mesquite. Students of all grade levels submitted over 350 entries to the magazine, including poetry, stories, and essays. Staff members would then rate the writings on a scale of one to ten. The staff went to Denton in December to learn the new techniques of putting together a magazine. Many new ideas were learned and many old ones were improved. Senior staff member Jill Johnson said, "I enjoy being on the Literary staff because it gives me an idea of how the people in our school feel about life, love, and many other things." With organizations like Art Club and Literary Magazine it's obvious that creativity is one thing North Mesquite is not lacking.

Members of the Art Club are: Amy McCarter, Stacy Zimmerman, Linda Gray, Sandy Maxwell, Lisa Van Briggle, Michelle Patrick — Treasurer, Carole Kallaus — Historian, Jana Kennedy — Vice President, Monica Brown — Secretary, Leanne Goolsby, Kari Ryle, Connie Knox, Debbie Burchfield, Vonna Thornburgh, Andrea Hall, Teresa Morones, Michelle Sebright, Lou Ann Starnes, Ms. Bradley, Paul Wade — President, Bill Roberts, Laura Diaz, Christine Edwards, Al Aleman, Rodney Nanez, Eddie Draganski, Betty Wesson, Edward Abarquez, Juha Riihimaki, Tom Lawson, Starla Anderson, Shelly McKinney.

Open wide. Literary staffer Kendal Smith takes a break from the workshops in Denton to enjoy some food for thought.

Illustrating a point. These are only three of the fourteen run-thrus which Art Club members painstakingly produced for all the football games.



It's Paul in a day's work. Art Club President Paul Wade works to get the colors on the Mesquite run-thru just right.

Eating in. After a cold, wet day in Denton, Mrs. Dennis and Christine Kelley discuss what they learned while they eat.

Out on a limb. Leslie Langford, Linda Boroughs, Debbie Burchfield, Rodney Nanez, and Jana Kennedy take a natural break from the Fort Worth museums.

Foreign Flare

It was Christmas time and the Spanish Club was having its Christmas party at the El Torrito Mexican restaurant as the wonderful smell of Mexican food filled the room, the enthusiasm of the Spanish Club grew. Then all the fun began. These were piñatas to break and games to play for all of the members that attended. Not all of the two hundred and fifteen members came, however. Spanish Club officers are Robert Granado (president), Chalese Stachowiak (vice president), Kevin Sledge (Secretary), Lori Kilpatrick (treasurer), Teresa Trail (social chairman), and Bill Kula (program chairman). It is not just the officers that make a club work though. The club members have to be interested in activities and make them successful. Mrs. Benavides and some advanced students feel there are many reasons why the Spanish Club is important, "There are many activities available in the area that could be used to further expose students to the Hispanic culture, but time definitely sets limits." Chalese Stachoviak (senior) says, "I enjoyed being in the Spanish Club because the students who are in the club have fun and share a common interest in the Hispanic culture. When we are together we have a great time and I'll always treasure those memories." Annette Reid (senior) explains, "I have participated in the Spanish Club for the past four years. It has been an enlightening experience for me. Together we share great memories."

Foreign Flare

"When I call your name, come up and get your carnations," said a Latin club members. It was Valentines Day and the usual carnation sales were here. Only $1.50 and a person could send their girl or guy a flower. The Latin club splashed into Spring with the year's first school car wash. With all the money the club members raised they were off to an area convention and state convention. The club consisted of sixty-five members this year. Officers are Greg Hall (president), Dale Price (vice-president), Tina Carroll (secretary), Allen Cortez (treasurer), and Richard Fagola (historian). Walking in to Le Madeline (a French bakery), was like walking into little France. Smells of French pasteries filled the air. After touring the kitchen and chatting with the French chef, everyone sat down and ate every pastery in sight. When Ms. Attaway (French teacher) says, "Get out of Mesquite," she means it. Almost every other weekend, the French club goes on an activity. They went to see The Three Muskateers at the Theater center, visited Las Colinas' Four Seasons Hotel, saw French movies at the Galleria and went to the DeGolyer estate.

There are one-hundred-thirty-eight French club members.

There are no officers because the third and fourth year students all work together to plan and carry out activities.

At Your Service

Serving as the student body voice is the main responsibility of the Student Council and Youth Advisory Council. YAC members work closely with the cafeteria personal to improve the quality of the school food. Senior Chalese Stachowiak says, "It's a great way for students to become more aware of the cafeteria and more responsive to the needs of fellow classmates." At Christmas, YAC sells baked goods from the cafeteria to faculty members. The proceeds from these sales go for cafeteria improvement and to send members to conventions. The blood drive is only one of the many projects which student council members took part in this year. In an attempt to increase school spirit and the student council's budget at the same time, bumperstickers which read "I love NMHS" were successfully sold. The slide show assembly in the auditorium went on as planned and the teachers enjoyed two luncheons during the year. These organizations have always been an asset to the school and continue to help keep the wheels running smoothly.

Annual Memories

Every morning at 7:30, the annual room is suddenly filled with noise. Eleven annual staff members sit in a cramped room waiting for another eventful day.

Would it be full of staff meetings, or Rodney giving orders, or Paul screaming through the walls at teachers. Or would it be full of Debbie snorting her laughter through the halls? Yesterday's quad-paks lying on the floor and everywhere else cause Mr. Taylor to insist on getting more organized. Steve sits at his desk looking over the current events, most of course, of Lady Diana. Leigh Ann talks so softly that she is hardly ever heard and sometimes never seen. Linda sits at her desk writing her award-winning copy and preparing next year's book as editor. Claire is busy with drama photos and modeling books, while Kari sits feverishly typing. Edward sits fumbling through fashion magazines to find photos for the fad section. Leanne quietly sits at her desk and reads the latest best seller. And the last person is Jill who fights with the coaches trying to come up with heads — goodness — those heads!!

These eleven hard-working students dedicate themselves night and day to produce an award-winning yearbook. Memories happen throughout the year that must be taken down and photographed for the yearbook. The annual staff's responsibility is to make sure that these memories remain vivid ten or twenty years from now. Through months of Rodney and Paul's antics and Debbie and Linda's rivalries between Pacesetters and Band, the annual staff seemed to get the work done.

The deadlines were met and Mr. Taylor even bought desk organizers and wire baskets and — of course — our very own tubs. The arrival of the new oak cabinet only made things that much more crowded. As the end of the year approached, the tensions broke and the parties began. One last final trip to Malibu Grand Prix made the work seem less monotonous and all the staff, remembering the good times and the bad, realized that pulling together made a winning combination.

Between the Lines

The door to the journalism room opened to seventeen students feverishly working on the Pony Express. One immediately senses the anxiety of the approaching deadline. As Ms. Janet Jones stated, "Deadlines can best be described as World War III, As the World Turns, and Nightmare Alley rolled into a one week period. The interesting phenomenon about the day after deadline is that everyone turns back from Hyde to Jekyl again, and the cycle repeats itself for every issue." No matter how chaotic the staff seemed, they always produced an award winning paper. During the summer, staffers attended a workshop at Mountain View College. Gwen Meazell won Best Newspaper Design and the staff received Best Overall. In District UIL, Gwen Meazell placed first in News and second in Features; while Becky Stuard received first place for headlines and third for Editorials. In the ILPC state competition, Paul Wade received a second place metal for one of his feature photos. The paper also received the best of Dallas from the Dallas Time Herald In summing up the year, editor Gwen Meazell explained, "The staff has been a conglomeration of seventeen very different people into a corporation that produced nine spectacular issues of the paper. I loved every minute of it!

Scholarship, Leadership

Scholarship, leadership, service, and character are all important to be successful in life; they are also important in determining who will be inducted into the National Honor Society. Selection is made not only on scholarship as in past years, but also on each persons leadership, service and character, both at school and in the community. The major activity of the Honor Society was once again the Food Drive. All the students and teachers were asked to bring canned foods. The Honor Society gathered the food and took it to a needy family, so that they would have a nice holiday meal. The year began by selecting and inducting forty new members. The induction ceremony was held November 1, in the auditorium. Several present members spoke on the importance of the NHS, and afterward a reception was held in honor of the new members. For most students to speak in front of a large group such as the NHS induction it takes practice and stuttering and stammering. To help students be more at ease when speaking they are offered the chance to take Speech. This class helps students relax and speak clearly when making a presentation or giving a speech. Clair Taylor, a member of the Speech Club commented, "The field that I plan to go into will have a lot of speaking opportunities. Speech has taught me to be able to stand before a group and make a presentation without being nervous or uptight."

Add, Subtract, Cook, and Play

North Mesquite has activities to appeal to varied interests. For the intellectually curious, there is the Math and Science Clubs. For the more laid back, casual student, there is the Woods and Water Club.

The Math Club went to meets competing in Number Sense, which is mental math, Calculator, and other math categories.

They have attended meets at Austin College and also Dangerfield.

The Science Club went on several field trips to broaden the knowledge of the world of science. They Traveled to Glenrose to visit the Commanche Peak Nuclear Reactor and the Glenrose Dinosaur tracks. They were taken in style in a Dallas city bus. Glenn Phillips commented, "I was so shocked to have comfortable transportation. I wonder who paid for it?" While exploring the dinosaur tracks, the Science Club decided to "research" the water in the river. Although their purpose was strictly "scientific," their activities looked more like a swimming party.

Even though their purpose is strictly unscientific, the Woods and Water Club, or Outdoor Ed, has learned to really enjoy exploring the great outdoors. Many students, especially seniors, like to take Outdoor Ed to get away from the ordinary class set-up. The students play games like horse-shoes, washers, and have cook-outs on Fridays. The purpose of Outdoor Ed is to learn to enjoy being outside and appreciate nature. Pam Hubner, senior, said, "I think it's a super class to take. The thing I enjoyed the most was the cook outs."

Spirit Squads Jump, Shout, and Flip Out!

The Pep-Richter scale went off the charts every time a group of cheerleaders got together as they did what they did best — cheer. But forget the old standards — Rah, Rah, sis boom bah, Yea Team! Cheerleading has changed. After watching for five minutes, it is amazing that anybody actually watches football or basketball when these squads are on the same field. Cheerleaders are not only entertainers but also athletes.

They talk about extension flips, roundoffs, back flips, pyramiding and 'locking in' — what you have to do when three people are standing on your shoulders. The cheerleaders learned all these things at summer camp. The Freshman and JV squads went to TCU in Ft. Worth. The JV cheerleaders received a trophy for Award of Excellence runner up. Both squads also brought home spirit sticks for their outstanding work. The Varsity cheerleaders went to camp at Stephen F. Austin. In competition with approximately 80 of the best squads our cheerleaders took home a trophy for the Award of Excellence runner up. Also, senior Patty Ramsey won the coveted title of all-American cheerleader, and for their undying spirit the squad brought home a spirit stick. The cheerleaders make it look so easy! That's because they're good and they know what they are doing — they train for it. It's not just a popularity or beauty contest anymore. It's a sport!

The Spirit Never Stopped!

The Stallion football team kept everyone on their toes, but probably kept the Stallion Battalion the busiest. Every time the team scored more points against the opposing side, nine enthusiastic battalion members made sure that "Spirit," the school Mascot, was proudly in the spotlight. When they weren't running the mascot around the end zone, the members were helping the cheerleaders to get the people in the stands fired up. For the first time ever, the Stallion Battalion tried their hand at some stunts with the cheerleaders. Since there're no male members of the cheerleaders, it gave the Battalion a chance to help out. "They asked us at one of the games if we would do a stunt during one of the pep rallies; we were more than happy to lend a helping hand. We met with them one afternoon and the cheerleaders started teaching us the different stunts," explained Paul Wade. The guys found out that being a cheerleader wasn't as easy as it looked. At first the battalion members couldn't quite get the hang of it and often one of them would drop a cheerleader or forget to yell at the right time, but after a little practice, they got better. The guys will agree that much of the success of the 1983 Stallion Battalion was due largely to Becky Stuard, the organization's sweetheart. Becky's responsibilities were to keep a scrapbook of the year's events and to plan extra activities for the group. One activity was a hayride in Seagoville during the Christmas break. It was a big success. It gave everyone a chance to all be together, enjoy themselves and get to know each other better. "I feel like I belong; I'm close to all the guys, we're like one big family," commented Becky.

J.V. Drillers Show Winning Smiles

With the direction of J.V. Drill instructors Carol Abarquez, Pam Hubner, Denise Ishmael, and Shelley Rosebrock, the J.V. Drill members learned basic skills in their first year as drill team members. The J.V. Drill performed at a football game, four basketball games, and attended the pep rallies and home football games. "I've really enjoyed J.V. Drill," quotes Leslie Langford, "I've learned a lot of basic skills and made a lot of new friends."

Pacesetters Perform At Texas Stadium

"Pacesetters is a great chance to meet people and a fun way of learning how to work together in a group," comments Karen Anderson, a Junior Pacesetter. Though the Pacesetters work hard at everything they do, it is still an enjoyable organization.

A Pacesetter's first glimpse of hard work begins at summer camp: a week of learning routines, pranks in the dorm, and sweaty gyms, all taking place at Kilgore Junior College. This year was no exception, with the Pacesetters winning a Sweepstakes award, signifying the collection of more points than any other drill team present. Points were given for spirit, performing ability, and an essay contest which was won by Linda Boroughs. Kim Fillmon, Sharra Mattingly, Sherry Prater, Shelley Rosebrock and Rhonda Taylor were chosen as outstanding girls for each routine learned.

When the summer ended, School and football season began, bringing in football performances with the band during halftime. When the band was invited to perform at a Dallas Cowboys game, the Pacesetters joined them at Texas Stadium. The spring brought the Maverick game and the Stage Show. Then the Pacesetters were allowed to relax, as Seniors graduated and moved on to other things, while the juniors stayed behind to prepare for their senior year.

The Morning, The Merrier

The clock strikes 6:00 AM! More than 200 band students, still recovering from the practice the day before, wake-up to get ready for the day's early morning practice. "It's very hard work! — but well worth it in the long run," comments Lynda Taylor, sophomore flute player. The Big Blue Marching Band, although giving award-winning performances, must first go through time-consuming rehearsals in order to be finely-tuned. The first practices began in the hot month of August. After three to four hours of marching and playing music each day, there were still separate rehearsals scheduled. While a section of brass players practiced its music, a group of woodwind players concentrated on its notes. As the majorettes practiced on their special routines, the flag corps could be seen perfecting its colorful features. Meanwhile, the drum line added the finishing touches on its percussion feature, some of which were performed at pep rallies. As the weather cooled throughout marching season, the sweat turned to shivers. With practices beginning between 7:00 and 7:30 in the morning, repetitions of the halftime show could be seen and heard at Memorial Stadium. Practices were also held at the school parking lot where the music weaved its way into the classrooms every morning during 1st period.

Tuba or not Tuba — The Big Blue Tubas "oompa" their way to the stands in one of their outstanding performances.

Horn in on this — The French Horn section plays through the show "just one more time."

Batons and Bows — Donna Person performs the colorful opening to "Ride Like The Wind."

No absence of Mallets — The Drum Line performs "Fire Dance" as the band marches into formation.

Pride of the North

As the sun rises over Memorial Stadium, the Big Blue Marching Band could be seen putting the final touches on formations during marching season. The Drum Majors are MonCharles Tipay, Mark Mullino, and Craig Murphy. The drum majors attended East Texas State University during the summer and studied corps-style drum major techniques. The 1982-83 Majorettes are Lori Jones, head, Regina Mills, Donna Person, Lisa Reed, and Wendy Davis. The twirlers attended ETSU and received numerous awards. They performed their ensemble at UIL Solo and Ensemble and received a superior rating.

The Flag Corps received superior ratings at Parade of Champions and attended ETSU summer camp where they were awarded superior ratings in Manuel of Arms, School Routine, and Learned Routine. Rick Davis is the instructor with Connie Oliver and Laurel Pannoni as captains. The Drum Line is instructed by Mike Lipe from ETSU and Ricky Fitzgerald is the section leader. The drum line often held practices at 6:30 AM during marching season.

The Jazz Band, instructed by Rick Davis, performed at home basketball games among various other concerts. In December, the stage band performed at Town East Mall with Unity. The stage band also played at Junior High Schools for recruiting new members. The officers of the band are Ricky Fitzgerald, Bryan Knowles, Melanie Hood, and Melissa Dean. When asked how the quality of the band was, Mr. Kline replied, "The quality of the band was in direct relation to their dalliance at any given moment."

Work Out And Glow

As the mud splashed from beneath the once-white shoes of band members, the Big Blue warmed up in the parking lot of West Mesquite High School. Throughout the year, the band performed at many contests. On November 2, the band participated in the most important contest of marching season. The band walked away with sweepstakes — straight "ones." When asked about the attitude of the band during marching season, Mr. Coulson replied, "The attitude of the band was very good even though there were a few students on the periphery." Most people think that drawing up the formations is easy; in fact, it is quite difficult. "We all sat around Mr. Kline's table on Sunday afternoon with our protractors, retractors, and Mr. Kline's son's John Deer tractor," replied the band directors. On January 7 and 8, students in grades 10 through 12 auditioned for High School All-Region. Lynda Taylor, sophomore, Richard Getso, sophomore, and James Talton, junior, were the outstanding students chosen for All-Region on January 21 and 22. Steve Weger and Bryan Tomes also gained recognition for Jr. High All-Region. On February 5, solo and ensemble took place in Van, Texas. Students who participated played a solo or an ensemble for a judge and were graded on a score of 1 to 5, 1 being superior. After the recuperation from marching season, the Big Blue divided into three separate bands, the Honors band, Symphonic band, and Concert band. On March 3, each band performed a pre-UIL Concert to prepare members for the UIL Sight Reading and Concert Contest on March 9 and 10. The bands played three pieces of music and were asked to play a piece of music never played or seen before. "In order for a band to be great, at some point there has to occur a concentration of mind spirit," states Mr. Kline. In April, the Big Blue traveled to Houston to perform at the music festival which enabled them to gain recognition all over the state of Texas. On Tuesday, May 10, the bands performed their final concert of the year. At the end of the year, the band reviewed the year by playing at graduation. "The band was the best in the history of North Mesquite, ever!" summed up Mr. Davis.

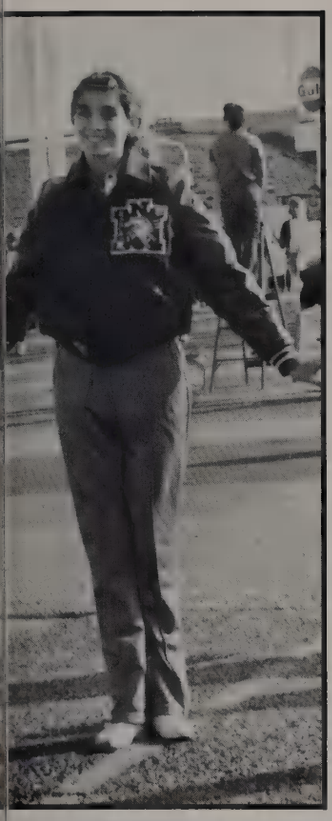
The Lone Arranger — An appropriate title as Mr. Kline lines up with junior, Karla Perry, during a band-drill rehearsal.

The Cymbol Life — Ricky Fitzgerald keeps the beat as the band marches to "Brazilian Fire," the percussion feature.

Ready Set Go — Edward Abarquez gets ready for the Percussion feature.

Deck the hall — Spirited band members decorate the band hall for Parade of Champions.

Horn O' plenty — The trumpets fill the air with excitement at the opening of "Fire Dance."



Get on the big band wagon — A rare scene as the band gathers around Mr. Kline as he gives "directions."

Pick up the tempo — The Flag Corps shows spirit at a pep rally as they clap to the fight song.

Jazz it up — Mr. Davis, the stage band director, performs at the Christmas concert with Unity at Town East Mall.

Not for members only — The Blue Brigade forms a smile to show their friendship to the opposing team.

Designs of The Times

Put 144, 12x12 inch colorful cardboard cards together and what does it add up to? If you attended one of the home football games the answer is apparent — a colorful design performed by the Blue Brigade. The Blue Brigade is composed of approximately 145 J.V. Drill students, freshman and J.V. cheerleaders, and other interested students. The Brigade consists of two short practices per week to prepare them for the game. These practices enable them to perfect the designs for the upcoming game. These designs welcomed the home crowd as well as the visiting crowd. They also performed a salute to the Big Blue, the Pacesetters, and a message to the football team. "The card section is beneficial to a school because it enables more people to participate in an organizational showing of spirit, it also provides a cheering section for the cheerleaders," replied Mrs. Muhl. Some of the formations consisted of a 'B-B' for the Big Blue, a 'Smiling Face', a 'Pacesetter boot', a 'Field Goal Post', and a 'traffic light' that said "GO," were just a few. "It's a fun and interesting way to show school spirit," comments Janet Bryant, sophomore.

Junior Crooners

As the tardy bell rang, forty-seven freshman girls settled down and prepared to warm up. These girls worked hard to live up to the reputation NM has for its excellent music department. Being a member of concert choir was no easy task, as they completed an apprenticeship to the older, more experienced choirs such as Chorale. Kim Russell stated, "Being in choir as a freshman has helped me a whole lot because it prepares me for the bigger choirs and gives me experience to learn something new everyday." Another partner in the apprenticeship were the thirty-seven freshmen, sophomores, and juniors that made up the a capella choir. The two choirs performed three concerts during the year: the Fall Concert, the Christmas Concert, and the Spring Concert, and entered two contests: UIL Solo and Ensemble, and UIL Concert and Sightreading. The choirs fared well at Solo and Ensemble with seventeen entries from concert choir, and eighteen entries from a capella choir. Sixteen of the thirty-five entries earned superior or excellent ratings. Mr. Council recognized the talent in his junior crooners. He commented, "Concert choir has good sound this year. They have worked hard. A capella is capable of doing some difficult music. They are one of the best a capella choirs around."

Sweet Harmony

A lunch time stroll in the area of the choir room revealed some of the exceptional talent posessed by the fifty-three members of Chorale. Knowledge of this talented group reached far beyond the walls of North Mesquite. The chorales of Mesquite and North Mesquite combined to perform in the invitational concert at the annual TMEA convention in San Antonio. The pieces performed were taken from their yearly Christmas concert at St. Stephen's United Methodist Church. "Music is the universal language and we proved it with this concert. When we start singing, the rivalry disappears. We all have one purpose — to entertain," said senior Cathy Henry. Choir director Tom Council has a great amount of respect for his students. "The kids in Chorale are a mature group of young people. They have worked hard and accomplished much," Mr. Council said. Chorale president Larry Mead said, "Mr. Council tries to do everything he can to make sure we enjoy choir. He doesn't force music on us. If we really don't want to do a piece of music he doesn't make us do it. So far this has been a better year for me than last year. We're all real close, and musically I think we're better." Junior Todd Thompson felt that part of the closeness was a result of Mr. Council's influence. "Mr. Council is good about pulling us all together. There are a lot of different types of people in Chorale, but the personal problems and fights can be put aside while we rehearse," Todd commented.

As usual, Unity reached it's mark of excellence. Unity member Scott Magee said, "Unity is fun because it's so different from any other music group in the school. No one has to push us to work hard. We do it ourselves because we have to set an example for the rest of the choral department." That's a role that shows on stage as Chorale and Unity strive for the perfection expected of them.

Acting Up

The next dramatic challenge was the selection for UIL competition. Drama students once again started one month of rehearsals for the competition. The UIL is a competition with strict rules that apply to time, sets, and choice of plays. The play performed was titled "Infancy" by Thorton Wilder. "Infancy" is a play dealing with how babies act like grown ups and grown ups act like babies. The characters were officer Avonzino (Kris Cumnuck), Tommy (Chris Herrage), Mrs. Baker (Kristene McAda), Miss Millie (Sandy McCrummen), and Moe (Mike Davis). Many awards were given after the performance. Mike Davis won best actor, and he says "I truly enjoyed this experience. This was a fine group of people. I'm honored." Other award winners included Chris Herrage and Sandy McCrummen chosen for the all star cast.

Acting Up

It was the evening of November 18 and after six weeks of rehearsals and eight weeks of set building by the thirty cast and crew members, the first performance of Tell Me That You Love Me Junie Moon was about to begin and the nervousness was building back stage. The plot of the play is about three people with handicaps, who learn to accept each other's faults and end up living together to avoid being lonely. The five main characters were Junie Moon (Lori Johnson), Arthur (Jeff Boulware), Warren (Kelly Smith), Mario (Chris Herrage), and Minnie (Lana Browning).

Mrs. Clark, drama instructor, felt that the play turned out well, but that it was challenging. "Junie Moon was a very different play. It was more serious, and had more complex characters than are usually done. As a result, the audience (especially the student matinee) had trouble accepting this play. I look for material that is new and challenging for my students."

The drama department's next production, Brigadoon, was performed on February 17 and 18. The play had sixty cast and crew members. The story is about two Americans who visited Scotland and stumbled on a make-believe village. An American (played by Jeff Boulware) fell in love with a girl (played by Tracy Hookings) from Brigadoon, he ended up staying in the imaginary town to be with her. The main characters were Tommy (Jeff Boulware), Fiona (Tracy Hookings), Jeff (Todd Boatwright), Meg (Gena Goff), Charlie (Mark Mullino), Jean (Bonnie Perkins), and Harry (Kelly Smith).

Concerts, Contests, and Calluses

Concerts, contests, and calluses are all a part of being a member of an orchestra. In the course of one school year, a member of the NM orchestra will have participated in six concerts, entered five contests, and suffered with innumerable callused fingertips. The symphony orchestra competed in the TMEA honor orchestra contest where it placed fourth in the full orchestra division and second in the string orchestra division. Members of the group also auditioned for chairs in the all region and all-state orchestras. NM was well represented by orchestra students at UIL solo and ensemble contest with sixty-three entries; thirty-one of which received superior ratings while thirty-two received excellent ratings. Both the symphony and intermediate groups performed concerts throughout the school year. Director Weldon Minnick stated, "I am blessed with some of the best strings in the state." Donna Person added, "We are certainly among the best orchestras in Texas.

Handel with care. Cheryl Kirkpatrick handles the keys with ease as she plays for an orchestra rehearsal.

Sound Chamber

Amidst the clattering of chairs and scraping of stands, nine people could be seen eagerly arranging the stage for the concert later on that evening. The stage crew had to arrive at every concert a hour and a half before the concert was scheduled to begin. The chairs had to be set, the lights had to be focused, and the stage finely tuned. The stage crew made up a very important part of the North Mesquite Symphony Orchestra. Planning ahead, last minute phone calls, and Winchell's Donut House meetings were all a part of the 1982-83 NMSO officers. The librarians, Danny Macey and Becky Murdock copied music for the orchestra and filed music whenever necessary. The treasurer, Rusty Lloyd, kept up with the money and bank accounts, a very demanding job. Ruth Moore, secretary, collected all information of each meeting and wrote down suggestions that were discussed during meetings. The public relations job dealt with advertisement and social interest for the orchestra. This job was carried out by Donna Person and Debbie Burchfield. The role of vice president was filled by Dana McKeithan. She took roll during orchestra and generally kept everything rolling. The most important and demanding job of all is the president. Cheryl Kirkpatrick filled this role well. She was in charge of the officers as a whole and kept the orchestra in line especially in the absence of Mr. Minnick. "As president of NMSO the acknowledgement has been superb. This years music has been quite a challenge, we have played music in which any other High School wouldn't try to achieve," commented Cheryl.

The Color Guard was present at each home football game to display our state and national flags in pre-game activities.

The annual Turkey Shoot was sponsored shortly before Thanksgiving. Students shot air rifles at targets, with the ten best sharpshooters winning a turkey.

On February 4, the corps honored Charles Gandy as quest speaker at the Military Ball. The former Battallion Commander, and now our Fifth District Representative, crowned Monette Kovar as the ROTC queen, with her court of Tammy Wilkins, Renae Sawyer, Leslie Pamplino, Beverly White, Becky Bradford, and Dayla Long.

The ROTC ended its year with the Annual Federal Inspection. The students pulled together for a matchless perfection and another winning year.

Double Shift

Designing and building houses, fixing a bent fender, or repairing televisions sounds more like a vocational career college than a high school class. However each year students in North Mesquite's vocational classes learn these and other trades and skills while still in school, more or less pulling a double shift. The classes range from PELE, designed to teach students technical instruction and practical experience in a child care center, to Auto Paint and Body, where students not only learn basic terminology and skills required in that industry. Students not only learn basic terminology and skills but also have lab time where they get to use the skills that they have learned in a real situation. To get credit for these classes the students must accumulate over a hundred hours of class time plus some must also work at a job dealing with what they are studying. Most of these classes are spread out over two years, and at the end of the second year the students are able to get a job in their field or continue their education in college with classes in the same area.

DE

DE or distributive education is a program that enables the student to learn and study the job duties and positions in a retail selling occupation. This is accomplished by instruction, role playing, and simulated activities in a classroom laboratory setting with actual store fixtures and equipment.

FFA

FFA provides a basic agricultural knowledge through classroom instruction and work experience. It provides a high school vocational agricultural student with the preparation needed to enter the field of AgriBusiness in an off-farm agricultural occupation. Students usually work in jobs ranging from seed sales and service to a veterinarian assistant.

VICA

VICA is designed to train students for careers in the various industrial and industry-related occupations by combining approved work experiences with related classroom studies. This program is able to operate due to a cooperative relationship between employers of the community and the public schools. VICA participates in Skill Contests throughout the year competing against other area high schools.

VOCT

VOCT is made up of all the members of the CVAE Cooperation. These students participate in a dual education program where they learn a saleable vocational skill while also acquiring basic knowledge in the fields of math, science, English and social studies. This dual approach enables students enrolled, to reach maximum personal development including employment potential, within their ability in the shortest possible time.

Double Shift

Drafting

Drafting Trades is a two year course that prepares students for an advantageous entry into employment. The course includes technical instruction important to the fields of mechanical, structural, topographical, architectural, illustration, and general drafting. Students taking drafting must be 16 or older and either a junior or senior. Each student must also take two consecutive semesters to receive credit.

Building Trades

Building Trades is a two year program designed to include skills and technical knowledge necessary for employment in the building trades industry. The student learns by means of both group and individual instruction as well as participating in the construction of a residential building. The students are encouraged to become members of VICA and compete in district and state wide competition.

Metal Trades

Metal Trades is a pre-employment lab course in welding and machine operations. Classes meet for three hours of instruction per day. Students perform basic skills involved in welding and sheet metal operations. In machine operations students learn to use many machines including presses and lathes. Heat treatment of metal is also included as a part of the two year course.

Auto Mechanics

Auto Mechanics is designed to provide classroom instruction on the basic problems of the modern car. Shop instruction includes instruction in safety and familiarization with common car repair tools. Experience is gained through diagnosis and repair of the modern car. Students become experienced in using diagnostic equipment, advanced automobile repair work and general shop management.

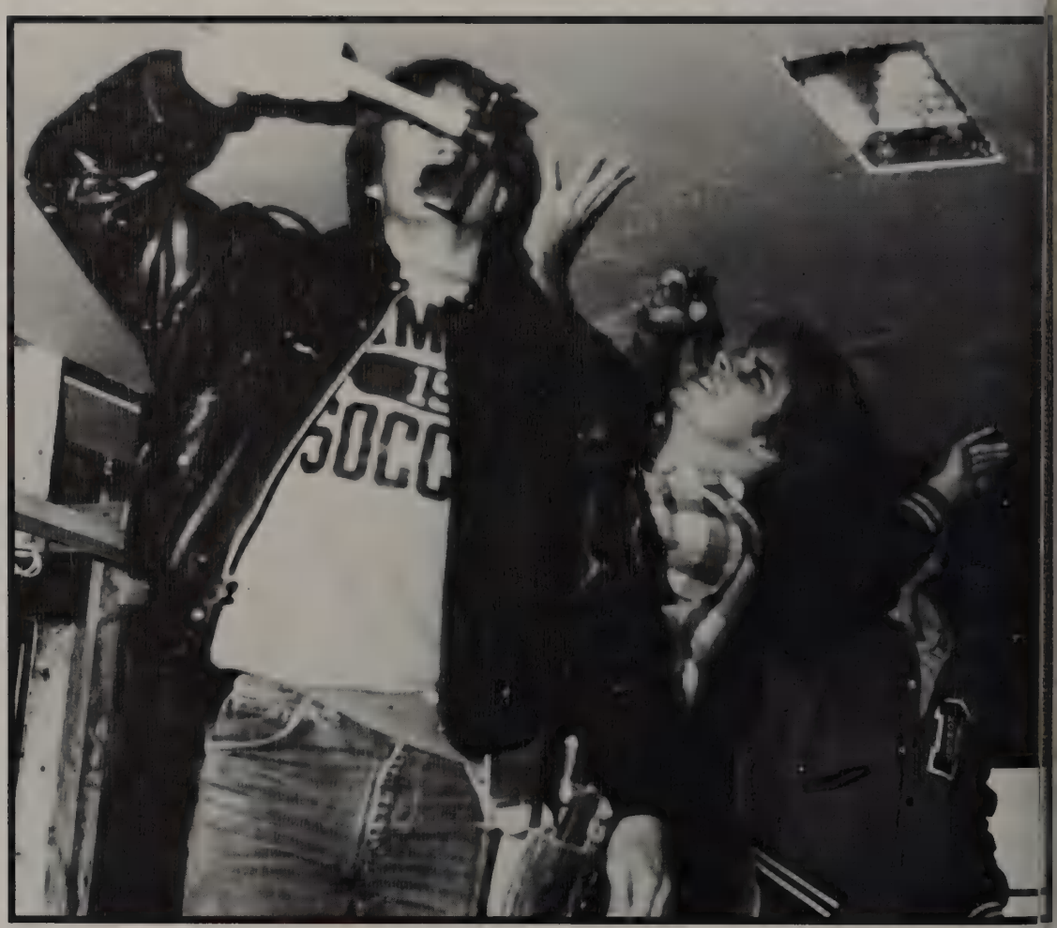
Auto Paint/Body

Auto Paint and Body develops the basic skills required in the industry through lectures and in the shop training. Areas involved include tools and tool usage, basic sheet metal repair, painting and minor panel replacement. In addition skills are added in the areas of estimating, frame strengthening, major panel replacement and financial matters concerning the auto paint and body industry.

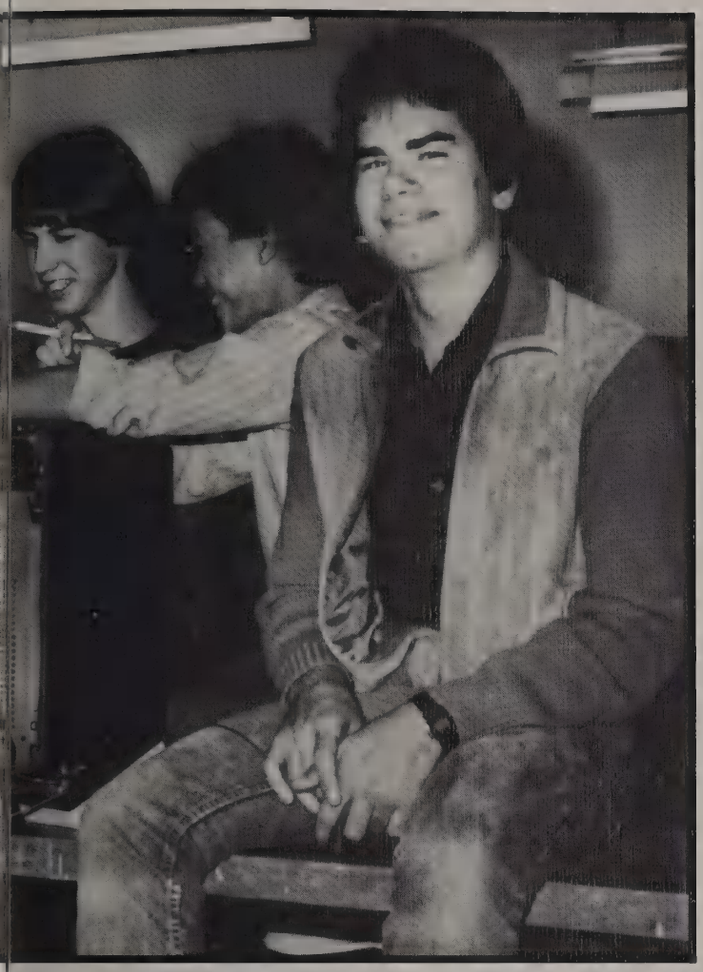
Radio/TV Repair

Radio and TV Repair is a two year course that is designed to provide students with a basic knowledge of radio and TV repair. In the second year the students receive training in repairing color TV's, record players, tape decks, stereo equipment, and CB's. Many of the students will pursue studies in this field after high school. Others will seek employment in the field of electronics.

Handcrafted Excitement. Loren Carlson pounds the dents out of the side of a car panel.



Building for the future. Todd Nichols and Marty Crawford put the finishing touches on the ceiling of the house being constructed by the Building Trades class.



Quality is Job 1. Richard Murphree, Randy Reed, John Schmeltz, Thin Tieu and Kevin Bartlett go over the electronic circuitry of a broken television.

High Power Experiment. Terry Arnold and Arthur Weller put the finishing touches on their repair job.

Car of my dreams? Joe Gonzales and Xavier Meza attempt to transform this old car into a beautiful looking car, with a new paint job.

Double Shift

PELE

PELE is designed to provide technical instruction and practical experience for students preparing to enter employment as a Child Care aide or in other related occupations. Instruction takes place in the student's own class and in a lab situation away from the high school campus. Generally the lab phase includes experiences in a day care center or in a public or private school kindergarten.

VOE

VOE is designed to give students interested in gaining an office related position, experience in that field. The students who have a specific area that they would like to specialize in, must either have completed or be currently enrolled in the business course related to that occupation or interest. Students gain credit for the course by accumulating hours in class as well as on the job.

HECE

HECE provides the job training and work experience for students preparing to enter the job market in a homemaking related area. Class period time explores the subject of how to get a job and how to keep it. Individual study is performed by each student in the occupation directly related to their future employment. Group instruction includes career objectives and methods to obtain them.

Cosmetology

Cosmetology provides students with the knowledge of technical information and skill needed to become a licensed beautician. Cosmetology provides personal beauty service to customers in hair styling, bleaching, tinting, permanent waving, scalp and hair conditioning, hair cutting, facials and manicures. The students participating must be 16 or older and either a junior or senior.

HOCT

HOCT offers high school students the opportunity to learn about the many health service careers available to them. Emphasis is placed upon personal adjustment of health and their relationship to a satisfying and productive life. Students are provided with instruction aimed at developing a basic medical knowledge and vocabulary applicable to the health field they choose to enter.

Longer Lasting Lashes. Karen Cooper applies the finishing touches to Robin Rich and her eye lashes.

People Pulling Together...

Miles to go before they sleep. Andrea Power and Kelly Brennan cover many miles of hallway during their school days.

Doll's in a days work. Becky Stuard shows that even Raggedy Ann supports the Stallions.

Writer's block. True friendship is shown as Stacy Dunford gives Lori Yniguez her shirt and her back.

Every day 2500 people crowded the halls of school. We bumped into artists and athletes, comics and intellects. When we came to school we shared ideas, interests, attitudes. We made friends and through them developed character and self confidence. The faculty played a very important role in our lives. They helped us build the foundation for our future. Every day we worked and pulled together with these people to help form a winning combination.

Easy does it. A few Stallion Supporters join in the hall to build a pyramid.

Kid power. With all these kids pulling together, the Stallions couldn't help but make this a winning season for everyone.

How They Love Ya!

Becky Stuard

Looking out on the football field after a touchdown, spectators see a group of crazy guys pulling a large blue and white stallion around the end zone in a trailer. It has been a tradition of the Stallion Battalion for thirteen years. Another tradition which the Stallion Battalion takes pride in is choosing its sweetheart each year. Becky Stuard took on the job this year and all the guys think she's great. "She has so much school spirit, and she really cares," commented senior battalion member Kevin Perkins. Becky Stuard does care about school; that's obvious when you look at what she has been involved in. Becky has been active for three years on the student council and served as secretary her junior year. The National Honor Society, youth advisory council, and Distributive Education are also important organizations in which Becky participates. The ambitious senior is also the Editorial Editor for the Pony Express. Journalism is what interests Becky most and she hopes to pursue it in college at the University of Texas at Austin. Becky's journalism skills have won her many awards, and she hopes to go on to work for a college newspaper and later study for Broadcasting journalism. My main goal is to become a successful news commentator. It is not hard to see why the highly qualified sweetheart was a unanimous choice of the Stallion Battalion because Becky really puts her heart into everything she does.

Wave your banner high. Kevin Perkins leads the Stallion football team onto the field.

Awesome B-Baller

Anyone attending a North Mesquite Basketball game, has seen the number 14 pass by and dazzle the crowd with his fantastic playing style. This number belongs to senior Keith Adams. Keith is the only player ever to play varsity basketball four years. He started playing b-ball at age five and after 13 years he still wants to continue playing. His junior year, he was named All-District and All-Metro 2nd team. Although b-ball is his favorite hobby, he also enjoys golf and water skiing. Keith is a member of FCA and Woods and Water. He has attended b-ball camps in Miss., Lou., N. Car., and Kentucky. When asked how he felt about his coach, he comments, "Coach Powell is probably the best coach in the state." Keith may attend SMU, but he is not sure. His feelings about being state semi-finalist were: "It was a really great feeling to go so far in the playoffs. It was a once in lifetime thing. Going to state was the best thing ever. I believe having a spirited student body behind us helped our team to succeed, and it also helped NM to be more spirited and supportive overall."

How Sweet She is

"She's such a fox!," comments a spectator from the stands as senior Laurel Pannoni performs her flag routine to "Fire Dance." She performs the ending to coincide with the music as the crowd roars with excitement and the band marches off the field. Laurel has been in band for six years and was selected as the 1983 Band Sweetheart. Laurel also plays bass clarinet for the Honors Band and has been on the flag corps for three years, where she is the flag captain. In her spare time, when she isn't practicing flags, Laurel enjoys snow skiing and playing volleyball for her church. Laurel likes to keep busy by playing the piano and she loves to laugh. Laurel has been in the Spanish Club for two years and was involved in choir her sophomore year. In the future, Laurel is planning to attend Brigham Young University in Utah where she will major in computer science and minor in music. She is excited about the future and the things ahead of her. When asked how she felt about North Mesquite, Laurel replied, "It was an experience! I enjoy all the activities and football games." She also thinks people should slow down and take a look around them.

Sweet Inspiration —Laurel attempts to play the trumpet during marching season.

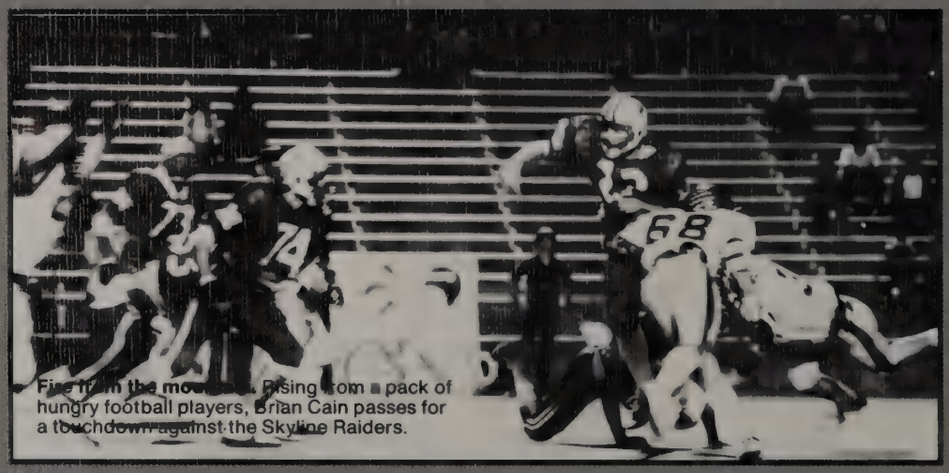
King of the Blues

To most students, football consists only of something to do on Friday night. But to Brian Cain football is a serious activity. After playing football for eight years, Brian was the quarterback of the football team here at North Mesquite and pitcher for the baseball team. "Football taught me how to strive for my goals," he comments, "and I've learned how important it is to be dependent on others and yet be independent at the same time." Brian was also named Player of the Week by the Dallas Times Herald. "Brian Cain exemplifies what we like in an athlete," commented Coach Childress. "He is a well-disciplined, mature, young man." In his spare time, Brian can be found hunting, fishing, or enjoying some other outdoor sport. His future plans call for a career in engineering or accounting.

Bat-breaking labor. Brian warms up during practice before baseball season begins.



Fire from the mound. Rising from a pack of hungry football players, Brian Cain passes for a touchdown against the Skyline Raiders.

Huddle up. The football team gathers to form a game plan against Highland Park.

Sweat nothings. Sweat and hard work helped Brian keep in shape for our winning district season.

Green With Envy

Senior Sherri Green can best be described as spirited. During her four years at N.M. she has been a freshman and varsity cheerleader, a twirler for Big Blue and a Pacesetter. All of these point back to one thing — spirit and pride in North Mesquite. Sherri's spirit and pride didn't go unnoticed either. She was elected to be in "Who's Who" Among American High School Students. Sherri has also been involved in the Spanish Club, Campaigners, FCA, and Young Life. When Sherri is not involved in a school activity you can probably find her at Calico Kids. This is where Sherri teaches tumbling and twirling to little kids. Sherri's goal for the future is to go to Eastfield for two years and then to ■ major college for her last two years, majoring in Business Management. She would then like to own and manage her own studio where she would teach tumbling, twirling, jazz and tap. When asked to reflect on her years at North Mesquite she responded, "N.M. has a reputation of being close, I think this comes from being able to forgive people, no matter what they do." Sherri's involvement in school and school activities has helped bring North Mesquite this reputation.

Up in arms. Sherri, Amy Fletcher, Tracy Limmer and Lisa Anderson practice for their half time performance at the Dallas Maverick vs. New York Knick basketball game.

Flower power! Pacesetters Sherri Green and Lisa Anderson participate in Homecoming Day activities by giving their football guy Lenny Pollard the traditional good luck boutonniere.

A Man for All Seasons

Check these out: Spanish Club, Young Life, FCA, Student Council, Soccer Team. Do all these activities remind you of a certain person? If not, try this: Senior Class President. All these add up to senior Bill Kula, who believes that being involved in school activities can make the year more enjoyable. He believes upper-classmen who show pride in North Mesquite provide leadership to the under-classmen. After graduation, he plans to attend Eastfield and then maybe a Southwest Conference school, where he plans to major in politics or government. One of Bill's philosophies is: "In everyone's life, you should strive to become a better Christian and be willing to serve others."

The Gift of Life — Bill helps stress the importance of the Student Council Blood Drive.

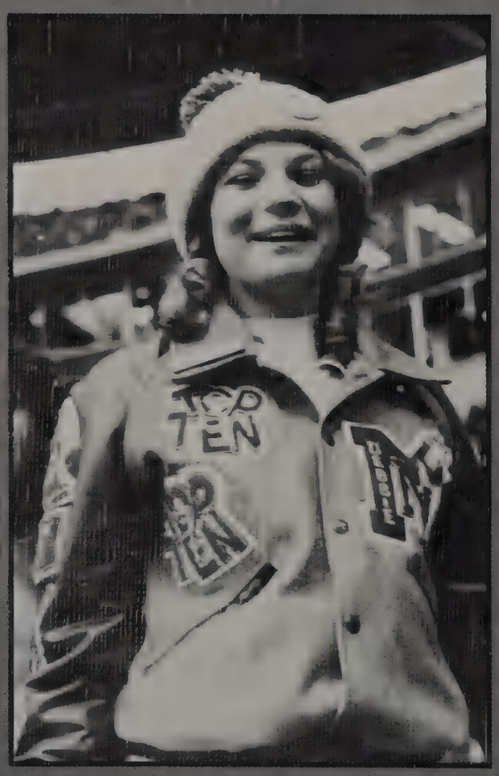
A Strong Comeback

Just what the doctor ordered. Debbie Duggins regains her fabulous kicking ability after months of recovery.

Seventy-three drill team members had just completed the final performance of their annual stage show, but for five of the girls the show had just begun. These girls had won the role of officers for the 1983 Pacesetters. One of them, Debbie Duggins, remembered it as being a dream come true; but for Debbie that dream turned into a nightmare. It all happened during the summer while driving her car. A terrible accident occurred and Debbie was rushed to the hospital for several hours of emergency surgery. "Friends and parents helped me through the worst times like missing drill team camp." Confined to a wheelchair for another month, Debbie realized that her senior year was quickly approaching, and she would not be able to perform at any of the football games. However, in December, with a strong will and persistence, Debbie made her debut as a Pacesetter officer. Six months of preparing went into her performance at the Dallas Cowboys vs. Philadelphia Eagles game. At first Debbie couldn't even bend her knee, but she never gave up. Mrs. Thomas, instructor, said, "Debbie has been one of our best high kickers even now after her accident." "I was determined not to let the accident ruin my whole life," said Debbie. It took long and painful workouts, and many days it was hard for her to even walk. The therapy was enough to make anyone give up being on the drill team but Debbie committed herself and stuck with it. Despite her temporary handicap, she managed to keep her grades and attitude high. With parents and friends' love and Debbie's determination, she pulled herself out of the nightmare by making 'a strong comeback.'

Debbie loves Dallas. Debbie nervously awaits the Pacesetters halftime performance of the Cowboy game.



Majestic Moves. The officers proudly finish their chair routine in front of thousands of fans.

Duet together. Debbie shows off her little sister, Gayleen Bailey.

Notably Different

If someone were to ask you the question, 'Who is the most off-beat and creative guy at NM?', the name Jeff Boulware always comes up." Drama has always played an important role in Jeff's life. During 1983, he served as the vice president of the Thespian society. While at NM, he played roles in plays such as "Harvey," "Once Upon A Mattress," "The Crucible," "The House at Pooh Corner," and "Tell Me You Love Me, Junie Moon." Jeff said that during his years at North Mesquite, he tried to be someone that everyone could look up to. He does wish that he could have put more into making people believe that being authentic is "where it's at." Jeff says, "It all revolves around the fact that anyone can be a conformist, but you've gotta work to be a non-conformist." He also feels that one of the main problems in the school is the lack of respect for the teachers. After high school, Jeff is planning to go to college and study theater arts. He would also like to become an actor or drama teacher. Jeff Boulware will be remembered as the guy who was never afraid to say or do what he believes in.

Oh, Dad, can I . . . Jeff Boulware asks to borrow the keys in a performance of "Junie Moon."

Top-Notch Driller

Senior Sandy Hetzel is an involved person when it comes to school activities. Since her freshman year, she has been in some sort of activity. While a freshman, Sandy was a member of choir and Blue Brigade. Her sophomore year she became president of Acappella choir and a member of the JV Drill team. Student Council, NHS, NJHS, Young Life, and Pacesetters dominated Sandy's junior and senior years. "Pacesetters taught me a lot," Sandy said. "I respect others, and I know how to accept criticism from my peers." Although Sandy admits that being a Pacesetter is hard work and demands hours of practice and sore muscles, she feels that all of it is worth the effort to maintain a top-notch drill team. "The time spent is rewarded when a good performance is made," commented Sandy. Sandy plans to major in accounting after leaving high school. She hopes to attend Eastfield for two years and finish her degree at a four year college. She eventually hopes to become a CPA. "I expect to do as much with my life as possible. I plan to go to my limits in learning."

Fire when ready. Sandy yells to the Stallion team at a football game.

Bloom at the top. Sandy performs at a pep rally with the Pacesetters.

Whose Turf?

Eighteen thousand pairs of eyes were on one young man standing in the end zone, arms reaching for the sky, football held high, as the tight end for the Stallion football team, Damon Dobson, began what was to be victory against the Highland Park Scots. Reacting to a great season played by the Stallions, Damon said, "The football season was the best part of the year for me, beating everyone but S.O.C. The players are friends and we all played well together." When he's not working out or playing football, Damon is active in F.H.A. and the Woods and Water Club. In the past, Damon has served as F.H.A. vice-president and has actively participated in the Spanish Club. Thinking back on his years at North Mesquite, Damon said, "I wish everyone could experience the fun I've had, and have great friends like I've had."

To each his zone. Damon Dobson finds his zone against the Garland Owls.

Huddle together. Damon Dobson and his teammates prepare to celebrate as the clock runs out against the Highland Park Scots.

Bring it on. Damon Dobson practices hard in a daily workout.

To err is human. Gwen and Toni look over the newspaper as it arri on the delivery date.

A chair to remember. Smiling as she walks off the field, Gwen Meazell holds her chair from her Pacesetter halftime routine.

Press Partners

A walk by Room C-3 immediately shows the confusion and disorder inside. Shouts for materials, pictures and assistance are heard; and in the midst of all this sit the two newspaper editors, Gwen Meazell and Toni Smith. With the newspaper staff producing eleven issues of the Pony Express each school year, Gwen and Toni are always busy working on the school newspaper. However, the newspaper is one of the few things common to both girls. While Toni prefers golf and writing in her spare time, Gwen enjoys painting and reading. Because of her interests, Gwen planned a career in advertising art after studying at ETSU. "I'm going into advertising art because in that field I'll be exposed to newspaper, advertising and art all at once, and those are the three things I enjoy most," explains Gwen. Toni plans to study at SMU and then proceed to law school to become a corporate lawyer. They both enjoy working on the staff as Toni points out: "The newspaper reflects the interests of the student body and helps students learn about themselves through the experiences of others."

Light on. Toni Smith works on a paste-up at the light table, used to arrange copy and headlines precisely.

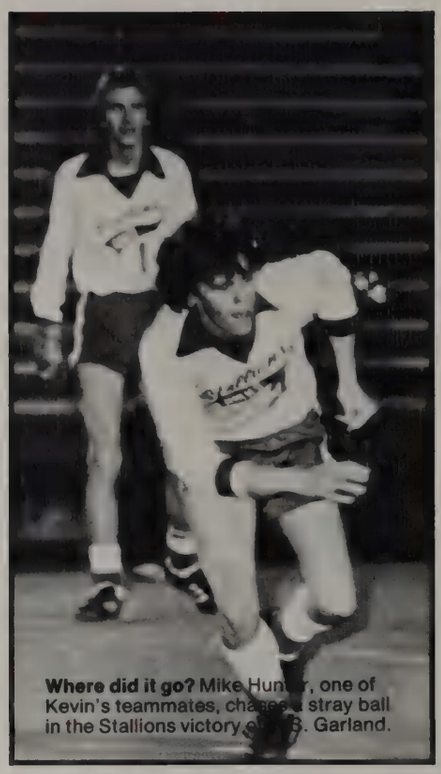
Brains -n- Brawn

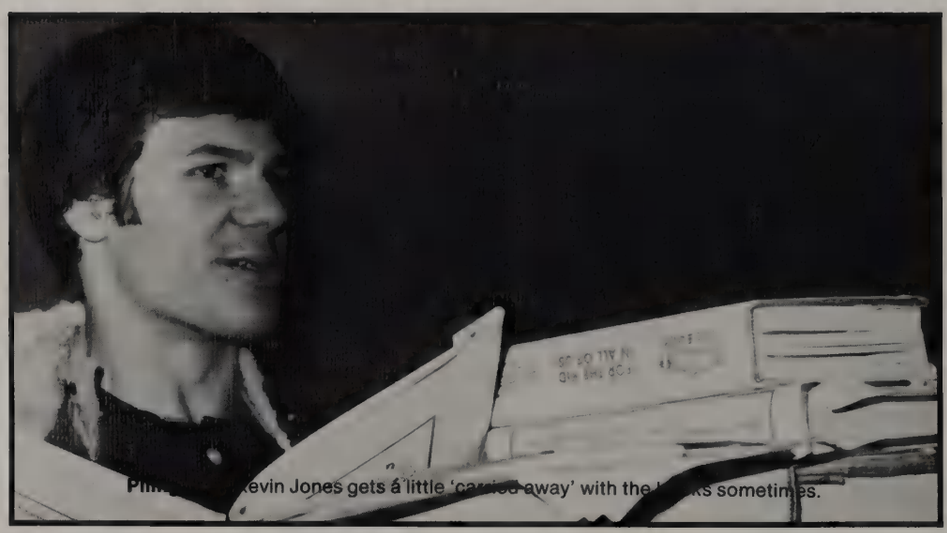
Kevin Jones

Students at North Mesquite find their own special way to show their support for their school. Some run for class officer, some strut their stuff on the gridiron, but Kevin Jones has found his own unique way to show enthusiasm for school — academics. Rather than be 'Mr. Involvement,' Kevin has loaded his schedule with 'brain classes.' Kevin feels, "I think by taking all my hard courses now, I'll save myself a lot of trouble when I get to college." There is more to Kevin than just books. He is also involved with activities at the church he attends. Another side of Kevin is athletics. He ran cross-country for three years, track for one year, and played soccer one year. Kevin also played club soccer for the Chargers for six years, and several years before that he played for the King Cobras and the Wildcats. After graduation, Kevin plans to attend Eastfield and then maybe Texas Tech. He intends to go into some branch of medicine, probably diagnostic or neurosurgery. He advises freshmen, "Get involved! There is so much I missed out on my first three years at NM, but I'm glad I finally got involved."



Where did it go? Mike Hunter, one of Kevin's teammates, chases a stray ball in the Stallions victory over S. Garland.

'I can't move!' Kevin Jones prepares for a rough game with South Garland.



Pl... Kevin Jones gets a little 'carried away' with the ... sometimes.

Serving It Up

A crowd of fans, family, teachers, and administrators become silent. A young red-headed senior steps to the back of the volleyball court and rips off fifteen straight points. The entire process takes only ten minutes as the North Mesquite volleyball regional finalists are treated to a first-rate aerial display by Lea Ann Stephens. Others have noticed. Lea Ann has earned a place on the Dallas Morning News All-Star Team as co-defensive player of the year. Her abilities on the volleyball court have won her a position on the All-District team three years running. Her teammates have named her most valuable player for two consecutive years. Reflecting on the success of her team, Lea Ann said, "All our success belongs to team effort, and all of us striving for the same goal." When she's not spiking a volleyball across the net, Lea Ann takes part in other school activities. Commenting on her eternal cheerfulness, Lea Ann said, "If you laugh and giggle while you do something, you'll remember that time forever. I want enough memories to last a lifetime."

On the road again. Lea Ann boards the bus with teammate Lisa Heffner to go to Huntsville for the regional tournament.

Volley the leaders. Lea Ann and Coach Deaton take time to relax after a big game.

Tribes and tribulations. Lea Ann takes a moment to visit with a 'friend' at the El Greco exhibit.

New Wave. For Punk Rock Day, Lea Ann goes all out.

For Love or Money

For most people, ten years of anything is a long time, however for senior Lorrie Mosher it is just the beginning. Lorrie has been playing soccer for ten years, the past three as North Mesquite's varsity center or left halfback. Lorrie has not only been active with the soccer team during her four years at North Mesquite but a member of the French Club, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Young Life too. Lorrie has also been a Freshman Cheerleader, Freshman and Sophomore class president and a four year member of the Student Council. When Lorrie is not playing soccer or busy with one of her many activities at school, she can be found at Oshman's Sporting Goods in Town East Mall. As a two year employee she is learning retail selling and good customer relations at the same time. After graduation Lorrie plans to go on to college and work toward her masters in Math and Elementary education. She would like to attend Eastfield College her first year and then transfer to East Texas State University to complete her degree. Lorrie has learned a great deal during her years at North Mesquite. One thing is how to treat people. She put it best by saying, "I feel that one characteristic that everyone should learn through life is to put others before themselves." This attitude has helped Lorrie become a respected member of the Class of '83.

Outspoken in her field. Lorrie takes a quick breather in the Mesquite soccer game.

Tennis shoes anyone. Enjoying her job helps the work day go by fast for Lorrie.

A Hard Case to Crack

"Football is serious!" says senior Frank Case, who has worn #72 ever since his freshman year. "The neatest thing that has happened to me was that as a sophomore I was picked to start on Varsity," remarks Frank. Frank's talent and love for football was passed down from his grandfather and dad. "I had many goals this year that reached in football," Frank reflects. In addition to football, Frank was also shot-put and discus champ for the track team. He feels that sports are rewarding and that much can be learned from sports. "You learn sportmanship, teamwork, and how to accept defeat." In his spare time, Frank likes to water ski, fish, mountain climb, go camping and work out with weights. During the summer, Frank enjoys being a lifeguard. He plans to major in physical education and education at Texas A&M. After college, Frank wants to come back to North Mesquite and be a coach under Coach Childress. "I'm very proud to be a Stallion!" says Frank. "I feel that in my years at North Mesquite, 1982-83 was the greatest as far as spirit goes. It has just been a special year to me."

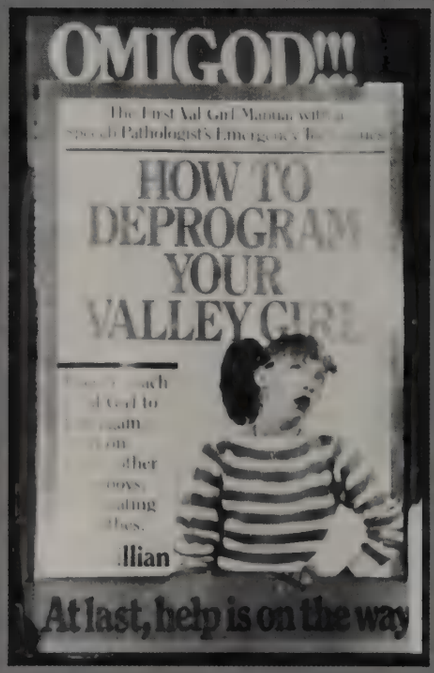
Like, Totally To the Max!

Uh, uh. My name is like, Laura Swank. Like, I work at Big Town Cinema. Uh, Uh. I mean like Big Town's not a Bonerama or anything, but like, it's there. It's like great to see all the good looking dudes that come in; too bad they come in with Twinky girl friends. But every once in a while we get some real geeks, I'm talkin Aqua Velva geeks. Grody to the max!! I'm fer sure! I mean, it's really tubular working out in the ticket box. I mean like I get to card all these Pre-car nerds. It's totally awesome! I know they'd love to call me a beasty or something, but I don't want any imature billy's being given to me for my tickets. Fer sure! But really, it's megafun. It can be nappy sometimes but I like it. Totally! Well gotta go. I'm goin to the Galleria today. It's so twitchen. Fer sure.

Button it up. Laura Swank displays her button collection while keeping in vogue with a fork and spoon.

Read 'em and weep. This new look helps undo all the mega weird talk that has been the latest craze.



Like gag me fer sure! Laura Swank displays her distaste for Valley Girls by punking out.

Nothing But the Best

With the football team undefeated in district play, the players are some of the top in the state, and Steve Wohlschlaeger is no exception. In addition to football, Steve has also been a member of the National Honor Society, the Student Council, and the Latin Club for the past two years. His Senior Year was highlighted by the Rotary Club honoring him as one of the top twenty-five graduates, the students electing him all-school favorite, and Texas A&M presenting a four-year scholarship to him for football. He plans to major in electrical engineering, and will miss most of all his many friends here at North Mesquite. "I'll miss all the friends that helped me, because I won't know many people at A&M," reveals Steve. "I'll miss just being around my friends." His lifetime goal is simple: to help as many people as he can around the earth.

Meet you in the middle. Steve Wohlschlaeger practices during summer to keep his abilities strengthened.

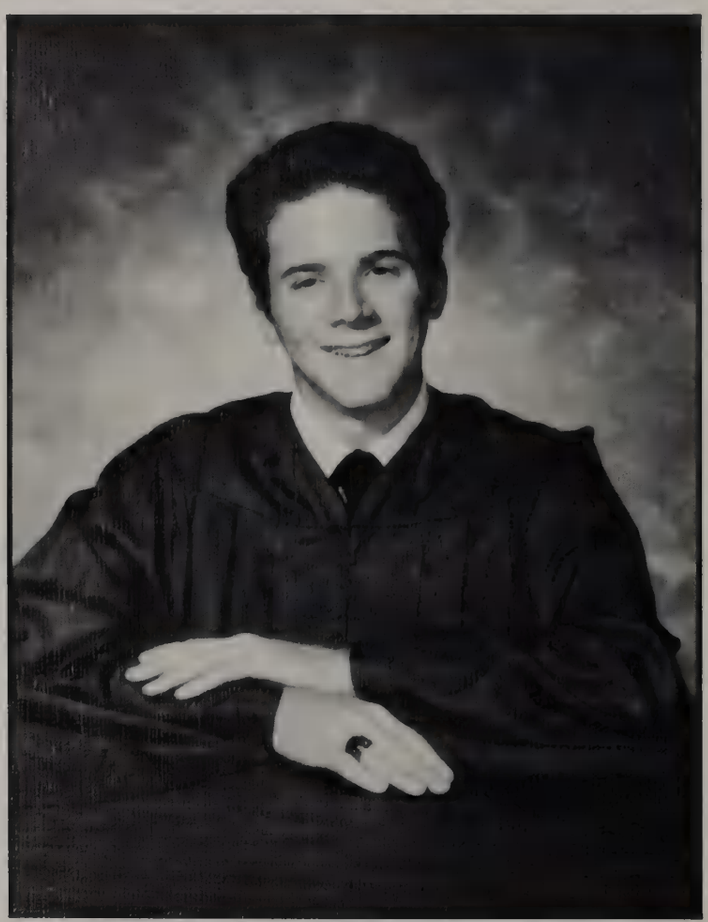
Valedictorian

Kelly Rattan

Along with being Valedictorian for the class of '83, Kelly Rattan participated in many activities in and outside of school. While at North Mesquite, Kelly was a member of the Literary Magazine Staff, the Math Team, the French Club, Student Council, National Honor Society, and the National Junior Honor Society. Kelly served as President for the Science Club, played volleyball and assisted in taking the girl's soccer team to the UIL state tournament. After school hours, Kelly enjoys playing softball, and she is also Campaigners and Explorer Post 1232.

In her small amount of spare time, Kelly enjoys writing poetry, reading, being outdoors, listening to music, and adding to her penguin collection. Kelly received much acclaim for her academic records. She was named Teenager of the Month. She received second and third place science fair awards, perfect attendance awards, the National English Merit Award, and in addition Kelly was named All-District goalie for her performance on the Varsity Soccer team. Kelly has received over five thousand dollars in scholarships from various groups, including Austin College, where she plans to major in engineering.



Salutatorian

Steve Walker

Kelly's counterpart, Steve Walker, is also very active. During his high school years, Steve served as President of the National Honor Society, Vice-President of the Science Club, and was a member of the Math Team, French Club, and Campaigners. Outside of school Steve held down a summer roofing job and participated in Explorer Post 1232. In his spare time, Steve plays softball in his church league and also enjoys skiing and backpacking. Like Kelly Steve has received numerous awards for his academic achievements. These awards include the National English Merit Award, the National French Merit Award, all-year honor roll and perfect attendance awards. Steve was also named National Merit Scholar for his excellent SA score. Steve has received over ten thousand dollars in scholarships from National Merit Scholarship Corporation, Circle 10 Explorers, and Texas A&M University where he plans t major in engineering.

Tight-rope Act

Every year at springtime, a special event takes place for a special cause. The Jump-rope-a-thon is held to raise money for the American Heart Association. This event took place on April 15th in the gym. Barbara Thomas was in charge of organizing the event and collecting the money, while Phyllis Reed, Sarah Wolfskill, and Donna Capps also helped by assisting Mrs. Thomas. Over $2500.00 was raised with top jumpers John Futtrell earning $102.00, Kim McRae earning $75.00, and Andrea Harris earning $72.00. The winning team consisted of Kim McRae, Susan Deason, Teresa Sleeper, Rebecca Wells, and Robyn Reynolds who earned a total of $223.00.

Night Moves

Different Strokes

Couples at football games, movies, dances, and on the living room couch engage in teenagers' number one sport — dating. Students have different ideas about where they go on dates. Sherry Prater, senior, says, "I like to go to a restaurant rather than a movie. I also prefer to date only one person." But for some students, dating gives them a chance to get to know different people and see new places. For most students, dating means to have fun with someone you like. Some students' favorite hang-outs are Chili's, White Water, or Audubon for a picnic.

Shootin' the Rapids

Six Flags Over Texas announced plans for construction of the largest, most expensive addition to the park's ride line-up in it's history. The huge attraction is called the "Roaring Rapids" and opened in the spring of 1983. The ride occupies land formerly devoted to LaSalle's Riverboat Adventure and about half the area originally known as Skull Island. "Like the riverboat, Roaring Rapids will be a ride the whole family can enjoy," Six Flags General Manager Ray Williams said. The ride will be filled with 1.5 million gallons of water and will be powered by two 400 horsepower pumps. The construction totaled up to 8 months of hard work and careful planning. Admission price for 1983 is $12.95.

Wet, Wetter, Wettest — The ride is equipped with 20 twelve-passenger boats, and can carry 2,000 riders per hour.

Homemakers Become SPIRIT MAKERS

The Future Homemakers of America were more than just homemakers; they were also spiritmakers. One of the main objectives of the 1983 FHA was to help promote school spirit, and they did by inflating over a thousand helium balloons for the Homecoming game against the Lakeview Centennials. They were released as the "Mighty Stallions" entered the field. Whether it was helping a youngster learn his ABC's in local child care centers, or being a friend to the residents at the Big Town Nursing Home, the activities which FHA participated in were rewarding.

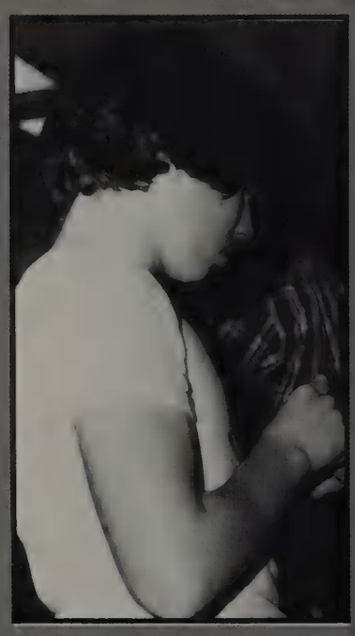
Booking It

The 11:30 bell rang and the stampede was on. Students swarmed to the cafeteria to be the first to find a book at the book fair. Mystery, romance, and murder were some of the things offered. The book fair, held November 30 through December 3, was sponsored by the English department. Over 200 books, furnished by B. Dalton's, were sold to NM students. Senior Rusty Lloyd expressed his thoughts on the book fair. "It's a good idea because a lot of kids here wouldn't normally buy books if it weren't for the book fair." Although many students enjoyed the book fair, some thought there was room for improvement. Allen Cortez was one of these. He said, "They could have offered a better selection of books, but it was nice to have the opportunity to buy books at school."



Mine eyes have seen the stories. Terry Shuffler chooses a book at the book fair.

All's Quiet

The tardy bell rang; the halls and classrooms became silent. A sense of calm settled over the school. A casual observer might think the school was deserted. A look into a classroom showed students reading everything from comic books to novels. It was December 8, Reading Day. The English department set aside third period to do nothing but read. Most of the teachers chose to extend it all day. Reading day was begun to encourage reading as a hobby. Mrs. Lavonne Dennis said, "Reading day was started to help make people aware of reading for fun and knowledge. They have to realize that reading is a lifetime activity. It's for everyone, not just students." "Some students used reading day to catch up on sleep and homework. Brian Harvey said, "Reading day gave me a lot of time to finish book reports and other homework."

12 Pound Shots

The annual ROTC turkey shoot was held on November 22nd and 23rd. There were over four hundred entries with twenty winners. They received an average size turkey weighing 12 lbs.

The shoot was conducted in a very organized fashion. The entry fee was $1.00 and participants received four bullets. There were six lanes to shoot from with a .22 caliber rifle. The money earned went for "good causes." The rifle team's equipment and the funding of trips were a coupie of the "good causes." SFC Doyle Couch commented, "This year the turkey shoot was held for only two days instead of three days as it was in 1981. This is the third year for the shoot and hopefully it will become a tradition."

Sale on

By the first part of September, students had gotten used to the every day ritual of morning announcements, but the yearbook soon took care of that! The morning of September 13 saw the yearbook staff begging Mr. McCoy for a little air-time to push the best book ever — the 1983 Trailblazer! Launching the sales week was a 30-minute assembly consisting of slides, music, and a talk by Coach White.

As an added incentive to buy a yearbook, prizes were given out each day. Mitch Gray, junior, Laura Merryman, senior, John Simmons, junior, and Delaina White, senior, were receipients of portable Headset stereos.

In the tracks of ET, students guessed at the number of Reeces Pieces in the jar. David Marshall and his sister, Michelle, were runners up with guesses of 3334 and 3335. The Grand Prize, a portable stereo, was awarded to Deleigh Bardwell with a guess of 3337. The exact number was 3342.

What's this? Coach White stands ready to demonstrate the value of an annual.

I can't believe it! Rodney Nanez, Trailblazer editor, awards the gran

All the Wage!

Finding a job is hard; keeping a job and school is even harder. Many NM students juggled their time between jobs and school during the year. Some of these students spent hours at their jobs working as cashiers, salesclerks, and many other occupations. For many, a daily schedule began with school at 8:30 a.m., then it was off to work at 2:30 or 3:30 p.m. Not only did they work right after school, they stayed until 10:00 p.m. or later, finding homework a problem. Joy Purvis, senior, commented, "My grades fell when I started work. I want money, so I work and wedge the homework in." Most students felt that they could keep their grades and work at the same time. Others decided to take a vacation from work and enjoy the rest of their school year.

Ticket time. Joy Purvis works in the lingerie at Joske's.

Service With a Smile

The time is 10:28 a.m. and you're on your way to your English class. You have this awful feeling that you've forgotten something, but you're not quite sure what it is. As you walk into the classroom, it hits you. You forgot to buy notecards! You panic! This was the absolute last day to get them and there's no way to go to Skaggs. So what do you do? Like many others in need of paper, pens, pencils, and other supplies, you go to NM's own school store located in B-2. The campus lifesaver, Mrs. Connie Hetzer, and her speech students run the store and use the profits for their speech tournaments. Opening around 7:45 every morning, the school store is open between classes throughout the entire school day for all of those students who must have supplies — immediately!

Power Play

North Mesquite students have always been active in sports, and when an opportunity comes along to participate in another one, we go for it with full force. Mr. Muscle himself, Kenny Barnes, put together a group of thirteen young, but strong guys who competed in power lifting area meets. Rodney Watson and Phil Manicchia placed first in the Dallas Samuel Meet where North Mesquite placed first overall. Other members of the power lifting team are James Giddens, Jeff Feinglas, John Crumpley, Gary Larkin, Tim Ayo, Doug Hall, Kevin Edgmon, Jimmy Reed, Troy Morton, Charlie McClean, and Anthony Rizotto. The power lifting team also placed fifth in the Lake Highlands Meet.

Special recognition goes to Phil Manicchia who placed third in state and Anthony Rizotto who placed fourth in state.

Spice of Life

"3-2-1, The North Mesquite Stallions has won another game!" What happens next? For many students, mostly seniors and juniors, Chili's is a sure bet as a favorite after-game hang-out. Although the cost of a meal averages five to seven dollars, Chili's still manages to attract large crowds. Other favorites of NM students are Pizza Inn, Pizza Hut, and Mr. Gatti's. As shoppers roam Town East Mall, they usually eat at the bottom floor fast-food booths known regularly as "the pit." They also have a choice between Farrell's, El Chico's, or Wyatt's. Although the cost of eating out rises, senior Cheryl Kirkpatrick comments, "It's a nice change from eating at the school cafeteria or at home!"

Roll out to Farrell's — Along with its ice-cream delicacies, Farrell's also serves hamburgers and french-fries.

Get it to Gatti's — Mr. Gatti's is one of the many places in Mesquite that serve America's favorite food — pizza.

Carnation Sellebration

'Roses are red,
Carnations are pink.
Buy your girl a carnation,'
And she'll give you a wink.

Although the Latin Club's advertising techniques were not quite this corny, they still managed to sell more than 300 carnations. The carnations, which cost a $1.50 each, were delivered on Valentine's Day to the recipients during their second period class by Latin Club volunteers, who also arrived early that morning to label and wrap the flowers. Working together proved successful for the Latin Club and the student body.

A carnation by any other name. Darlene Miller and Cindy Morton discuss their flowers after receiving them from their friends.

Corny Dogs Fair Well

Corny dogs, cotton candy, and candied apples were some of the sights and smells welcoming the Mesquite students to the State Fair of Texas on Fair Day, October 11. Sponsored by the school district, students were given free admission tickets and a day away from school to enjoy the many sights at the Fair. Students could tour the automobile building and look for their dream car, win stuffed animals on the Midway, shock their senses on spine-tingling rides, or stroll with a friend and enjoy the flavor of the fair.

He's got what it Tex. Big Tex welcomes the nearly 3 million visitors to the Fair.

Serves 'Em Right

Every day four bells ring to dismiss for lunch, and every day 2,500 hungry students charge towards the cafeteria. Who makes these luches? Twenty-three ladies who keep their kitchens spotless and in tip-top shape to serve the students of North Mesquite. These ladies arrive at 7:00 a.m. every morning to prepare the noontime meal that the kids devour in a matter of a few seconds. After the students have devoured these lunches, who cleans the floor? The thirteen maintenance people who sweep our halls and empty our trash cans. These men and women all work around the clock to make North Mesquite one of the best and cleanest school of the MISD.

Out to Lunch

After waiting in line for what seems like hours, you nervously pay the lady and pick up your lunch tray, embarking on the most horrifying journey of your life. Immediately, a small freshman darts between your legs as another student reaches across your tray for a napkin. Your foot slips on a big wet spot (hopefully water) as you move to the narrow aisle between tables which leads to your seat. You hold in your stomach and slip skillfully towards your seat until you find your place, but unfortunately not your chair. Another ten minutes is spent looking for a chair, and you return with only minutes left to eat. Sound familiar? It happens every day, as the North Mesquite students enjoy the comforts of their own school cafeteria.

Feeding time. Casey Sheffield and Steve Kinney receive their daily allotment of food, a plate lunch, for $1.45.

Top It Off

"You can always judge a man by the hat he wears." That statement could prove to be a problem on Cap the Cougars day at NMHS. The students wore hats ranging from cowboy hats to press hats to hats with fur and hats with antennas and legs. The 'spirit' hats were worn on the Friday of the Stallion vs. Cougar game to promote spirit for the football players. The arrangement of colors and designs could be seen floating through the halls, peeking out of lockers, or sitting on teachers' desks for causing too much trouble in the classroom. All this trouble paid off as the Stallions beat the Cougars, 20-7. No matter who was wearing the hat, anyone could judge him as a 'hat-tipping' supporter of the Stallion team.

Vein Seekers

What do you get when one hundred and twenty-eight people who are willing to sacrifice a "precious" hour from class to give blood? One hundred and nineteen pints of blood and nine people full of good intentions, but bad blood.

On February 10th, Wadley Blood Bank came to bleed students for all they were worth. One hundred and nineteen people were willing and able to give the precious "juice of life." Bill Johnson, junior, commented, "I gave blood because it is guaranteed for any North Mesquite student or any member of my family. Also, it was fun to see if people would pass out.

Out of one hundred and twenty-eight people who "courageously" decided to put their life on the line for the sake of charity, one hundred and nineteen were healthy enough to get go through the draining process.

Will she live? Ms. Sandra Gray comforts a donor after she donated a pint of blood.

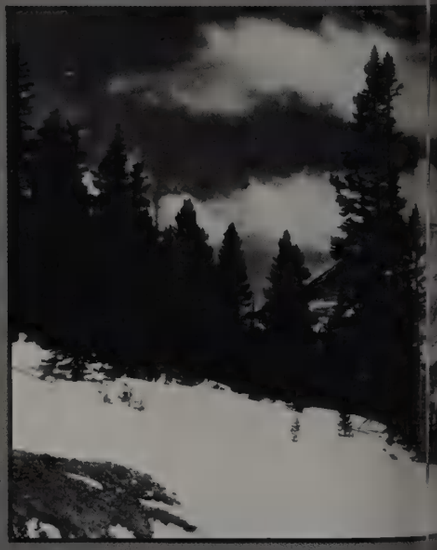
Think Snow

It is a proven fact that almost all Texans have a fascination with the white stuff known as snow. Almost everybody at one point has had the urge to travel north of the panhandle to experience the wonderlands which exist in Colorado. During the winter, skiing was on the minds of many NM students who just could not wait for vacations to allow them a week on the slopes. "The black diamond runs are a real challenge! The lifts are nice to ride, it's so peaceful looking out at the beautiful scenery. Everything about skiing is great. Especially when you knock down a cute guy," commented junior Angie Hale.



No guts, no glory. Mark Hill and Steve Piland head for the treacherous black diamond slopes.

Draw the Line

"All right now!" ordered Miss Bradley, North Mesquite art teacher, "This week we're going to draw the line. This week's run-through needs to be perfect, and that means you'll all have to work extra hard." Though an outside observer may think this a little harsh, the Art Club understands that the fabulous run-throughs must originate from their own hard work and dedication. Each week during football season, Art Club members work diligently during their art classes and even after school, painting the run-throughs to show their support of North Mesquite. The run-throughs are important to the rest of the school, too, as Sherri Mercer comments, "I like the run-throughs a lot. They really show the school spirit involved in making them."

Write On

The jukebox was playing "Eye of the Tiger." Cups were being filled with Coke, Mr. Pibb, and Sprite. The first social event of the year was taking place. The time was the first day of school, August 23, 1982, and the place was the school cafeteria. The annual staff sponsored the annual signing party and unveiled the 1982 yearbook. Graduated seniors picked up their initialed yearbooks and thumbed through their past year's experiences. Students yelled out over dozens of other students to find that certain person who had forgotten to sign that annual. In the distance, someone could be seen struggling to fit the plastic cover over his annual, upside down. The 1982 Trailblazer proved to be a super yearbook.

Meeting monthly on Mondays at 7:30 in the Administration Building, the School Board and the Administration help keep the school district running smoothly. The Administration, headed by Dr. Ralph Poteet, handles the business side of the school district, especially the various budgets. Mrs. Mackey serves as School Board President and oversees the School Board, which hears inquiries from patrons and makes policy changes for the school district. Together, the Administration and the School Board help keep North Mesquite High School one of the best high schools in the area.

Principally Speaking

Anyone who has met Mr. John Campbell can tell he is a man who really enjoys his job. For fourteen years, he has been the hard-working principal of North Mesquite High School; a job that he claims has kept him young. "I enjoy my job as much as anyone possibly could; otherwise I wouldn't spend such long hours at it."

Being principal of a student body of over two thousand demands large amounts of time, love, and patience, all of which Mr. Campbell has. He tries to hear what students have to say and does his best to make them happy. "I feel that the most beneficial asset I have obtained by being pricipal is my association with kids. It keeps my belief that there is a good future for our nation because of the nature of our kids."

Mr. Campbell enjoys his time off as much as his time at work. His farm in Winnesboro, Texas keeps him busy during his spare time. "There are always things to do. Fences to build, hay to bail, pastures to tend, and many other things seem to always keep me busy!"

When asked if he ever found his job boring, Mr. Campbell exclaims, "No way! A principal's job is different every day and there is so much to learn every day!"

Step up to the mike. Mr. Campbell prepares to make a speech.

Ol' Blue Eyes. Working hard is just one of Mr. Campbell's jobs of the day.

Spirits on the Loose

All through the year, spirits ran high through the students at North Mesquite. From cowboy hats to punk rock hats, students could be seen in all kinds of attire to boost spirits. However, that kind of spirit doesn't die with the diploma. Many members of the North Mesquite faculty participated in each spirit theme. Some wore Mickey Mouse ears on hat day while others wore cowboy gear for Western day. Mr. Shiflet, North Mesquite's business law teacher commented, "Teachers with school spirit definitely benefit the school. After all, an education entails more than just academics." While most teachers feel as Mr. Shiflet, some felt that the spirit themes were a little out of hand. One teacher was quoted as saying, "I think the spirit of the student body is fine. However, the teachers should not take part in the activities. They had their own time in their high school days." Mrs. Watson, a business teacher, felt, "Being involved in school activities and school spirit definitely makes for a better school year."

Counsel, Concerns, and Cares

With thirteen years of experience under her belt, Mrs. Wood is well suited for her counseling job. She has worked as counselor for five years, and now plans to teach English in the Frisco ISD. "Working as counselor has given me the opportunity to see students in a different environment," says Mrs. Wood. "I hope I can take the concerns and cares of the students with which I worked to enable me to be a better teacher."

The biggest job Mrs. Wood has is organizing the prom with the junior class officers. She cites fundraising as their biggest worry. She also helps with credits, the PSAT, registration, and the TABS test. But above all, Mrs. Wood tries to be a friend. "The only thing I will miss is that I did not get to know each junior as personally as I would have liked to," said Mrs. Wood. "There are just a lot of students you would like to help, and some you are not really aware of their problems until it is too late."

Teacher of the Year

The Leader of the Band

Q. How long have you taught at North Mesquite?
A. For about five years.
Q. Where else have you taught?
A. Well, I taught at McDonald Middle School for three years and at Mesquite High School for two years, where I was the assistant band director.
Q. How long have you been interested in music?
A. (Chuckles) As soon as I was born, I already started singing the Star-Spangled Banner!
Q. What degrees did you earn in college?
A. I got a Bachelor of Music Education at Abilene Christian University and a Master's of Music at East Texas State University.
Q. Where were you born?
A. In Abilene Texas. Yeah, I was born in a hospital in order to be near my mother. (Laughs)
Q. What do you enjoy most about teaching?
A. I have the advantage of seeing students mature as you teach them. You see, most teachers get a student for one year, while I have them for four.
Q. What are your hobbies?
A. Photography and computers; I have my own computer at home.
Q. What do you like more — concert or marching season?
A. (Deciding for a long time) Both are equal. In marching, we need more discipline and cooperation with others on a huge massive scale. In concert season, we do more things musically.
Q. Would you rather direct a smaller marching band?
A. I don't know. We could do harder things with fewer people. If we did that, we'd be cheating a lot of people out of experience.
Q. Who influenced you to become a band director?
A. Tony Anderson. He was my band director my senior year in 1969 at Abilene High School.
Q. If you could describe this whole year in one phrase, what would it be?
A. Very satisfying!

Direct Approach — More marching drill directions are given by Mr. Kline.

Prince Among Men — Mr. Kline proudly shows his much-deserved Teacher of the Year Award.

Mr. McCoy Retires

Closing Up Shop

Q. What is the most important part of your job?
A. (laughing) Trying to get every senior across the stage at graduations.
Q. Is it really hard being the "bad guy" that principals have to be?
A. Yes! I don't like that part at all.
Q. Have you ever regretted punishing someone?
A. Yes. When I found out that another student made the problem, I have to call the first student down and apologize to him. I never like to punish a student, but I was taught from day one to correct the mistakes as they come up.
Q. How do your kids feel about your being a principal?
A. I have a 24 year old son who graduated from NM who told me he wouldn't want to be in my shoes. My 26 year old daughter thought I used NM students too much when she was at Mesquite High.
Q. What are some memorable things about your job?
A. Working with young people and seeing them happy in what they are doing. I enjoy trying to help a boy or girl with their goal and I don't like to see anyone that is not enjoying life.
Q. What do you do when you leave this school?
A. I go work in my garden, fish, hunt and play with my granddaughter. I also work at the Fellowship of Christian Athlete's retreat center.
Q. When you were in high school, how did you feel about your high school principal and vice principal?
A. I loved them.
Q. Did you ever get sent to the office?
A. Yes! They did what they had to do to get me going the way I should. The talking board, keeping me in detention hall, etc . . .
Q. Rumor has it that at one of the past graduations you literally gave the shirt off your back to a young man who showed up without one. Is this true?
A. Yes, it's true. He showed up with a shirt that he couldn't wear a tie with, so we just switched shirts. A lot of parents were upset that I wasn't wearing a tie too!
Well, Mr. McCoy, good luck in all that you do. North Mesquite will never forget you.

Pigskin Pups

JV and Frosh Look Ahead

At one time or another in most little boys' lives, the dream of being a great football player filled many an imagination. But where does it all begin? The elementary and junior high years are important, but high school is a different ball game. Adjustments must be made to high school rules and coaching. That is why the Pigskin Pups, JV and frosh football teams, are an important step in becoming a Varsity Letterman.

In preparing for the dream, the Frosh Blue team began right with a 6-3-1 record. The coaches who stressed mental preparation and hard work were pleased with the team's progress. Coach Swann commented, "Each week, I could see improvement. That's what counts. Adjusting to high school can be hard, but it's easier when a player is not alone." "I know the coaches care. They may gripe a lot, but it doesn't bother me. It helps us to do better. If they didn't gripe, I would worry," commented Adam Otero.

The Frosh White started the season slowly, but ended the season by winning their last four games. "They're a good bunch of guys to work with. I know they will make sturdy Varsity players," remarked Coach Swann. When asked about the slow start, Bill Morris commented, "We had the big head, but half way through the season we realized we needed to pull together. The coaches cared enough to keep on us and finally we pulled out of the slump."

The frosh players will always remember their first year of high school ball. The coaches taught them more than football; they taught them discipline and how to care for other people. The frosh players will never forget Coach Barnes' stories about his high school girlfriends, Coach Morris' baggy shorts and sexy legs, or Coach Weeks' signals that no one could understand.

One step higher on the ladder to Varsity football is JV football. The team began the season by devastating their opponents in District and winning eight out of ten games. Their only losses came from Lakeview (3-0) and N. Garland (18-14). The high points of the season were triumphs over HP (27-3) and Mesquite (31-6).

'Many of the teams we beat had better athletes, . . . but we had better coaches.'
— Matt Baker

Like the frosh, JV owes everything to their coaches. "Many of the teams we beat had better athletes, but we won because we had more discipline and better coaches," commented Matt Baker. The coaches' demand for discipline created a very humorous situation for one daring player. One Friday, when the team was working out in shorts and helmets, one player came out with his shorts on backwards so that the number was in back. When the coaches found out, they made him take them off and put them on right, and the player had to do it on the field!

Outstanding JV player of the Year was Mike Collins. Outstanding defensive players were Diron Hitt, Heath Bobo, Randy Hendricks, and Vince Guerra.

Outstanding Offensive Players were Mike Collins, Paul Canaday, and Chris Youman.

Just the three of us. The JV coaches are Price Clifford, John Hicks, and Mark White.

The Team of '82 Was the

Recharging of the Blues

Picture a dream: Time — Spring Training 1982 — Place — North Mesquite High School — Who — The Varsity Football team — How — grueling workouts, teamwork, determined seniors, eager juniors, dedicated coaches, and a vision of the District 9-5A title. "The Team of 82" had one thing in mind — winning. No more second and third place. They wanted it all, and they had what it took to get it. The Stallions cruised through District play untainted. Brian Cain commented, "We had a lot of team spirit and unity. It helped us achieve the goals we had set earlier." The team of '82 was most assuredly the RECHARGING OF THE BLUES!

The season was often compared to a ladder, each game one rung to be climbed one at a time. The Stallions began climbing their ladder in fine fashion; the victims were the Samuell Spartans. The Stallion offense was up for the game, but before many fans had found a place to sit, NM had scored its first touchdown. With the game less than three minutes old, on the first offensive play of the 1982 season, Brian Cain connected with Todd Graham for an 89 yard scoring pass. Later touchdowns included a 28-yard run and a 77-yard run by Dan Roach. In the final period, Frank Mills put the icing on the cake with a 10-yard run for six. Billy Parks added three out of four extra points to make a total of 27 Stallion points.

The defense, led by Gerald White, Andy Braddock, Kevin Edgmon, and Don Dona held the Spartans to 6 points and a total of only 259 compared to North Mesquite's 385.

Brian Cain had 116 yards passing and Dan Roach had 152 yards rushing. There were, however, three fumbles.

The next stepping stone was the Skyline Raiders. The Stallions offense was unable to put together any successive scoring drives until the last few minutes of the first quarter. Down by seven points due to an interception, the Stallions perked up after Dan Roach's 64-yard run for a necessary touchdown. The extra point by Billy Parks tied the game, 7-7. The game ebbed on until the remaining minutes of the third quarter. Kevin Black ended a 47-yard drive with a 9-yard touchdown run. Billy Parks put NM ahead by seven with his extra point. Even though there was no more scoring, there was still a lot of action. David Hollifield tipped a crucial Skyline pass and Matt Brown and Andy Braddock each got their hands on the quarterback. There were, however, plenty of fumbles and penalties.

The Bryan Adams Cougars had always been a thorn in the side of North Mesquite. The Stallions were almost always the uncontested victors, but the rivalry persisted. The Stallions had a very sloppy first half. BA scored on the first play from scrimmage on a 70-yard run. The Stallions also gave up three fumbles and two interceptions. Some thought that without the power of Frank Case, Don Donna, and Dale Price, all three of which did not play, North Mesquite would have serious problems. Not so. The Stallions raced out of the locker room for the second half ready to settle a score. After some solid runs by John Garner and a timely catch by Troy Norton, Garner ran into the endzone. Billy Parks evened the score, 7-7. BA had to forfeit the ball after Andy Braddock sacked the quarterback on the BA 11. After some good runs by Mills, Brian Cain sneaked into the endzone. The extra point was no good, making the score 13-7. Midway through the final period, John Garner ran for six and Parks made it even. The final score was 20-7.

The previous three wins were nothing unless the Stallions could win their District games. Their first, against South Garland was a heart-stopper, NM had not beaten SG since 1975 and they felt enough was enough. The very physical game saw NM claim five SG fumbles and three SG interceptions opposed to four NM fumbles. Penalties were frequent in this offensive match. Scoring included a run by Roach, a 0 victory.

The next rung on the ladder to success was the Garland Owls. The Owls were obviously outclassed in their bout with the Stallions. The game had the Stallions' name on it from the word go. On Garland's first possession, they fumbled and it was recovered by Kevin Black. The Stallions capitalized immediately in four plays with a Cain run. The next scores came from a Dobson reception, a Roach run, a Cain run, and a run by Matt Stephens. Parks added four extra points. The Stallions defense held the Owls to a no-score game, making the final score 34-0. But the best was yet to come.

It all came down to one game. "The HP game was our highlight. We all felt good about ourselves because we knew all the run by Mills, an interesting run by Black, a sneak by Cain, and a reception by Norton. The NM defense gave 23 points. The jinx was broken and North Mesquite was on its way to District.

When it came to Wilmer, North Mesquite loved to win. Determined to make up for the embarrassing defeat in the previous season, the Stallions shut Wilmer down. The only score came from Kevin Black in the first half. Wilmer suffered from a bad case of slippery hands and bad throws which NM capitalized on. They gave up two timely interceptions. Wilmer couldn't recover the loss as NM finished with a 7-preparation was well-worth it." commented Mike Smith. The rivalry between NM and HP is understandable. NM was always getting beat and they were tired of it. North Mesquite waisted no time in proving who was more spirited, more talented, more capable of the two to win the grudge match.

On the Stallions first possession, Cain unleashed a pass to Graham, all alone at the Scotties 30, for a 68-yard touchdown. Billy Parks put NM ahead by a score of 7-0. Cain however, wasn't through with his crowd-stopper plays. The very next offensive play for the Stallions, he found Dobson for a 57-yard score — 13-0!

Two plays, two passes, two touchdowns! The HP Scots made a feeble attempt to catch up with two field goals. In the third quarter, Garner ran four yards for another touchdown. With the extra point, the Stallions led 20-6. Highland Park was determined to make the game 20-13. With less than two minutes to play, Highland Park made one last attempt to win, but Graham and Marshall took care of any threat. It was over. North Mesquite had beaten Highland Park. Dreams do come true.

Coach Tyler during his pre-game talk, decided to add some spice to the locker room. He walked in wearing a HP hat. He asked the guys if they wanted to remember the game that way, they all yelled "NO!" Then Coach Barnes tore the hat off, ripped it up, jumped on it, and threw it in the garbage.

After the game, HP coach, Frank Beavers commented, "They just whipped us. They whipped us on offense and defense. They were well-prepared. They had great enthusiasm and hustle. Our players didn't have that kind of intensity." There ain't nothin' like sweet revenge.

The next obstacle, Lakeview, was an easy one. Scores came easily as the Stallions picked off five passes and forced two fumbles. The first two scores were credited to Dobson. One on a 37-yard run and the other on a 47-yard pass from Cain. Other scores came from a Cain run, a Roach fumble-recovery in the endzone, and another Cain run. Parks added four extra points. Lakeview made one touchdown early, but Stallion defense held them. The final score for NM's 12th homecoming was 34-7. The dream was becoming bright.

North Mesquite cruised over North Garland easily on their way to District. Teamwork was the key. Cain connected with Graham for a 71-yard pass-play for six. Cain made two touchdown runs of 10-yards and 2-yards respectively. Garner scored on a 1-yard run and Stephens finished the scorings with a 2-yard run. Parks added five extra points. N. Garland attempted a comeback with two touchdowns, but the final Nine down and one to go.

The week before the Mesquite game was a tense one. Both Mesquite and Highland Park had only one District loss; the Stallions had none. A Stallion loss to Mesquite would create a three-way tie between the three; a Stallion win would place them in first and HP in second, right where NM wanted them.

The first touchdown was set up by a Graham interception. Five plays later, including a 55-yard catch by Dobson, Garner burst over the center for six. Parks put NM ahead by 7. A personal foul dampened NM's hope and another touchdown;

"I am proud of our team and I'm proud to be a part of it."

Jimmy Mohr, however, kicked a 26-yard field goal to further the Stallions, 10-0. Early in the fourth quarter, Roach, who finished the game with 121 yards on 25 carries, carried in the last score on a 1-yard run set up by the crushing defense. The final score was 17-0. The bragging rights of Football rivalry in Mesquite, Texas were back in the hands of the Stallions after two long years. "This has to be the greatest," commented Childress, "It's our first perfect season and that's what you work for."

The Stallions were paired off against the contenders from District 10-5A, South Oak Cliff Golden Bears. The game was rough from the beginning. Roach scored both touchdowns for NM and Parks added one extra point. There were , however, many fumbles. That and lack of mental preparation took their toll as SOC piled up 36 points. The final score was 36-13. "I feel like we did not mentally prepare for the game like we should have," commented Todd Graham.

Despite the loss to SOC, North Mesquite had its most successful and exciting game ever. A type of school unity was formed because nearly everyone was excited about their Stallions. "I am proud of our team and I am proud to have been a part of it," commented Todd Graham.

Inexperience, lack of school support, small injuries, and the frustration that comes with all these were the problems the 1983 Roundballers had to overcome — not the point spread. They were a better team than the 16-14 record indicated — games were usually lost by three or four points. The 1983 Varsity Basketball team approached their problems One on One.

No one expected great things from the roundballers. They were a young, inexperienced team with only one returning starter — Keith Adams. The other seniors, John Brown and David Fudge tried to provide leadership, but it was not until the end of the season that they felt comfortable with their new roles. The team surprised even themselves by winning more than half their games. The games lost were due more to bad breaks than bad playing. "The Stallions' main problem was inconsistency. One game we'd be up, but the next we would be sloppy," commented John Brown.

No one thing affected the Stallions' performance. It was the little injuries that kept piling up. John Brown, however, did have one serious leg injury midway through the season.

Unlike years past, there was no one outstanding player. The team consisted of ten balanced players. The team, however, was very young; there were quite a few sophomores on Varsity, some of which were Miles Haberer, Larry Blunt, Felix Foster, and Tim Tafoya.

"Our main problem was inconsistency."

Other players included Milton Crutchfield, Jimmy Brown, Rodney Hinton, David Fudge, Keith Adams, and John Brown.

As did everything else, team unity varied. The players were just learning that they needed to pull together to have that winning combination. For most of the players, this season was an educational one.

As far as effort was concerned, the roundballers scored A+. Every member gave 100% and Coach

Powell would settle for no less. "What the team lacked in talent," commented David Fudge, "we made up for it in hustle."

As always, Coach Powell demanded discipline on his team. The players knew what needed to be done and they worked diligently to accomplish it.

Of the fourteen District games, NM won six. A majority of the ones they lost in District were by under five points: Highland Park (41-38), Garland (38-36), North Garland (50-47), and Mesquite (33-31). The Stallions, however, did have a few bad breaks against South Garland (61-48, 38-28) and Wilmer (67-38, 58-49).

The Stallions used the games they won as confidence builders. They defeated North Garland (69-45) and Mesquite (29-26), Lakeview (52-35, 52-40), Highland Park (52-41) and Garland (46-42).

Coach Powell said, "The way they (the Varsity team) looked in preseason, I didn't think we would win more than five games. The guys showed a lot of character and really hustled for what they got."

The 1983 season will be remembered by all those who are involved. The North Garland and the Mesquite game will always hold poignant reminders of their close scores.

The team will never forget Coach Powell's "unique" phrasiology during practice and warm-ups.

Little Dribblers

Since the NBSA extention team, the Dallas Mavericks, came town, interest in basketball has taken on new life at North Mesquite. But as with every other sport, players start at the bottom and work their way up. Freshmen and most sophomores play on the Frosh and JV teams to gain experience for Varsity. The LITTLE DRIBBLERS worked hard but they had fun doing it.

The JV team cruised through pre-district with a 11-5 record. Their few losses were close ones, losing only by a few points. Their eleven victories satisfying. Most of their wins were large, the biggest being over Bishop Dunne, 63-31.

The Stallions had tougher competition in District. They held their own with a record of 7-7. The record, however, does not truly portray the ability of the team. Coach Harris emphasized discipline and teamwork more than anything. Jeff Gloden commented, "Coach Harris helped us so much. He really did his very best to prepare us for Varsity. He's a great coach."

> "He really did his very best to prepare us for varsity."
> — Jeff Gloden

The Frosh Blue had a difficult time getting their act together at first, but as the season matured, so did the team. They needed to use their first year learning the ropes, or else they would hang by them. Donnell Hayden reflected, "We performed okay for the first year, but we could have done better. We gave about 88% when we could have given 100%. We found out we could do more with fewer people."

The Frosh White had a different type of season. They moved through pre-district play 8-4 and District play 10-4. They worked hard, but the team learned much about unity and teamwork from Coach Randy Barnes. Scott Johnson commented, "If we didn't understand a play, Coach Barnes would get out on the court and explain it to us." Funny things will always be remembered by the freshman basketball team such as Coach Barnes singing during practice and yelling "Hey guys — it's the round orange thing with a net hanging off it!" One game no one will forget is the Irving High School game. The Stallions were leading by 17 in the 3rd quarter when Coach Barnes got excited and jumped up. As he did, he ripped the seat of his pants. He couldn't very well stand and yell at the team, so he sat down the rest of the game. The Stallions ended up losing by two.

The most memorable game of the year was the last; the opponent was North Garland. At the end of a low-scoring, high fouling first half, North Garland led 24-23. At the end of the first half, NM had nine personal fouls. Neither team could connect with the basket for love or money. With 1:13 left in the game, Delayne Dona fouled out. With :28 left, NM was down by six. Fancy moves and excellent coaching tied the game with no time left on the clock. The game was a stalemate 46-46. In the first OT, another solid player, Rodney Chapin, fouled out. In the first overtime, with NM down by two, Scott Johnson tied the score. He later fouled out and NG scored a basket. The second OT was a sizzler. The game was close at 48-50. With three out of five starters benched due to fouls and a fourth injured, Coach Barnes put in his third string. Rodney Reese hadn't played 30 minutes all year, yet played excellently under pressure. He tied the game with a layup and drew a foul. Rodney shot his first free throw and SWOOSH — NM was up by one. After missing the second shot, NM stalled the rest of the time, winning a close one 51-50. When asked about his performance, Rodney Reese commented, "I was dizzy; I knew I had to make the shot or else. I felt weird when it went in. I didn't even hear the final buzzer."

Rebound for Glory

"I didn't realize how much potential we had; I really think we deserved what we got because we worked for it." commented Michelle Steele on the girls' brilliant basketball season. As the Stallions raced undefeated through District, the 1983 Girls Varsity Basketball was Rebound for Glory.

The girls had an incredible preseason as well losing only to Duncanville (38-20, 38-31, 44-21), Lewisville (52-43, 68-56), and Caldwell Parish (44-39). The District games were not easy knock-offs.

"I didn't realize how much potential we had"
— Michelle Steele

The fifth game of the District season was against the Lakeview Patriots. The Patriots fought hard before succumbing the powerful Stallions. The roundballers led by ten after the first quarter 10-20, and led 32-18 at half. However, the third quarter was more difficult as the Stallions scored only nine points to Lakeview's eight, making the score 41-26. The final stanza saw the Patriots go into a full court press that enabled them to several steals, but as the slogan indicated, the Stallions were "second to none." They held the Patriots off and finally defeated them 53-44. Lori Porter was the high scorer with twelve points.

Several factors added to the Stallions' success. Some of these were their rugged full court press, their aggressiveness, and accurate shooting. All of these factors added up to carry the Stallions from victory to victory. When it became evident that the Stallions would sweep District, their popularity peaked.

The roundballers were paired up with District 11-5A's Bryan Adams for the Bi-District playoffs. Even though Jackson and Hearne got into foul trouble early, the Stallions took a halftime lead of 28-22. With Lori Porter scoring a total of eighteen points, the Stallions romped 48-34.

Scores can be deceptive. Such was the case in the Area play-off game against Dallas Carter. The final score 43-39 does not give an accurate picture. Falling behind early forced the Stallions to settle down and concentrate. Coach Capps, or "mom" as she was called, demanded strict discipline and this time it payed off. Shooting by Hearne, Jackson, Dunn, Steele, and Porter enabled the roundballers to snap out of it and become the Area champions.

They were play-off bound and running. Waco was the next and final stop for the girls. Their opponents, Longview, were tougher than anyone the Stallions had met before. Longview wore NM out and finally won 78-55. Even with the loss to Longview and the season ended, it was the most exciting girls basketball season ever. Coach Capps commented, "This season has been the most rewarding, exciting one of my career. Seldom do such strong, positive leaders come along. They are wonderful, unselfish athletes who perform as a team."

The girls worked hard and it all payed off. When asked about their Area championship, Kelly Dunn commented, "It felt fantastic! After the four years I've spent playing basketball, all the work paid off. Winning District was the fulfillment of our dreams. Bi-District and Area were the extra rewards."

Roundball Rally

Growing can be hard and fun at the same time. While the JV tied with Mesquite for the District title, the Frosh took their time adjusting to new rules, a new school, and a new way of life. The team learned much about teamwork, discipline, and character. They certainly had a Roundball Rally.

Freshmen have to learn and basketball is no exception. The adjustment to high school ball is a big one. "We played hard, but we had a lot sickness and injuries throughout the season. We just couldn't seem to get everyone going at the same time," commented Deana Starkey. The team ended with a record of 5-7.

JV had an amazing season for such a young team. Their season record was 20-5 and their District record was almost "unblemished, 11-1. "This was a terrific season. The athletes really learned how to pull together and play as a team," reflected Coach Reed.

The highpoints of the season were the defeats of Wilmer (55-46, 56-27) and Mesquite (34-33). The Stallions placed 1st place in the Arlington Tournament, and won consolation in the Arlington Sam Houston Tournament.

The team gave 100% and earned their success. Their new coach really added to their success and taught them unity. "This year has been great," commented Debbie Prater, "We made it over many obstacles. We really learned to get along. We also had a lot of respect for Coach Reed."

Take 'Em to Court

The North Mesquite Volleyball team began the season on fire, wanting the District title fiercely. The Netters decided to take district 9-5A to court, and found them guilty. The punishment, handed down by Lea Ann Stephens and her savage serve, was continual beatings by the Stallions, the eventual area champions.

Amidst the flurry and excitement of football, volleyball began to show its true colors. The Netters began knocking opponents off the courts as they walked through District play marred only by a loss to Lakeview (2-0) and Highland Park (2-1).

No one really paid any attention to the spikers until the Bi-District game against South Oak Cliff. Expecting a rough game against the Lady Bears, NM fans turned out in huge numbers to catch a glimpse of a fast-rising sport. Lea Ann Stephens commented. "The high point of the season was getting recognition from the school." She stepped out on the court to begin the game. She served first, last, and only. Never before had a student at North Mesquite served fifteen straight times, not giving SOC one chance at the ball. The second game was rougher, but North Mesquite easily walked away victorious, 15-0, 15-8.

The following Tuesday brought along a true test of strength. The area championship game was against Pearce High School. The Stallions lost the first game, 12-15. However, true champs can not be held down. The netters came back strong, dominating the net, by winning the next two games, 15-13, 15-12. Lea Ann Stephens moved her 1-girl show to the frontline and helped the Stallions beat a taller Pearce Squad.

Elated by their victory over J. J. Pierce, the Stallions traveled to the Region II play-offs. Huntsville, the location of the state prison, proved to be confining to the Stallions. Slowed by the injury of junior, Kristal Vaughn, the Stallions clashed with Houston's Cypress-Fairbanks. Unable to put their game plan into action. NM fell prey to C-F, 4-15, 4-15. Coach Deaton commented on the exciting season that took the Netters further than they had ever been, "We did everything that we had set our goals for. The team worked together well and strived hard to win.

District honors went out to: Lea Ann Stephens (All District), Kellie Beathe (2nd team), Carece Carter (H. Mention).

Kicking the Habit

From the beginning of NM soccer, there has been one problem. Because the sport wasn't big enough, it was not UIL sponsored. That meant that even though the Stallions brought home the District Title several times, that was the end of the road. With a new coach, Weldon Swann, and new UIL sponsorship, the Stallions were kicking the habit of years past. The Stallions had to work hard to win the District Title. "It seems like this year, our team worked more as a unit than ever before," commented Kevin Sledge.

The season opener was ironic. The Stallions lost to Pearce, 1-2, but that was the end of a short losing streak. The Stallions began to get serious about their game when they played BA. NM won 2-0. The last pre-District game, against Greenhill, was won by NM, 2-1.

The District games were what it was all about. Winning here meant everything. The Stallions blazed by South Garland, 8-0. NM kept their winning ways rolling by whipping Mesquite, 4-0. Playing two games a week can be draining, but the North Mesquite Stallions didn't look tired at all as they beat Lakeview, 6-0. The Stallions had always been a high scoring team and the game against the Garland Owls was no exception. The final score, as NM clipped Garland's wings, was 11-0.

Though the Stallions gave their all, the game was a stalemate, 0-0. The last game of the first half of District play was a close one. The first point scored on the Stallions in District play was scored by North Garland. The Stallions won by a closer margin, 2-1.

The second half of District play was not as high scoring as the first, but just as successful. The boys defeated South Garland 3-0. The Stallions also beat Mesquite, 1-0. North Mesquite made a repeat performance, beating Lakeview also 1-0. The Stallions cut loose against Highland Park, as always, was tougher than anyone else NM had encountered. the Garland Owls. The final score of the onslaught was 10-0. NM again met their rivals, the HP Scotties. The outcome was the same as the previous meeting. The final score was 0-0. History has a way of repeating itself and the last game of the regular season was no exception. The Stallions and the NG Raiders were tied, 1-1. In the wining seconds of the game, Steve Kinney got off a Once-In-A-Lifetime goal, and beat NG 2-1. Enter the 1983 District 9-5A Champions. The Stallions had set their goals high — the State Championship. However, the soccer team got a little ahead of themselves in the Bi-District bout with R.L. Turner. The team's mental attitude was not as positive and disciplined as in games before. In an extremely tight game that ended in a shootout, North Mesquite lost the Bi-District title by one goal, 4-3. Though the season ended in a different manner than most hoped, the soccer team and its coach considered the season a success. The Stallions and their new coach, Weldon Swann, had to get used to each other. Coach Swann stressed discipline on and off the field. He worked to keep his team in shape. He said, "I wanted our team to be the best conditioned team in the district." Once the team began winning, the guys understood his motives. "Coach Swann taught us discipline, and kept us in excellent shape. He's a good coach" commented Billy Parks. Coach Swann's emphasis on discipline created a funny situation for Billy Parks, Bill Kula and Robert Granado. They were singing on the sideline during a JV game and found themselves playing benchwarmer during their game. At the time they didn't think it was funny, but it was good for a few laughs later on. The JV boys continued winning by taking the District title again. They won eight games and tied three games. Many awards were won by the soccer team. Era of Success

Enter freshman class 1979. Sixteen girls who loved soccer and each other. Most of these girls played Varsity their first year and continued winning District. Though they were young and in four years they had four different coaches, the girls soccer ended an Era Of Success by winning Regional Championship their senior year. Unity was necessary to be one of the top four teams in the state. "Unity was one of our strong points. All of us got along very well. We love and respect each other as individuals as well as players" commented Robyn Walker.

Since only four schools in the District have girls soccer teams, North Mesquite has to play each team three times. The second round of District play was more successful than the first. Also during this time, the Stallions were pitted against non-District teams. Lakeview was again pounded 12-0. Lewisville fell prey to North Mesquite, 2-1. Mesquite was beaten by the well-coordinated team 4-0. The game everyone was waiting for was here — Highland Park. This time, the Scotties did not get away so easily. The season began in fine fashion as North Mesquite took on John Martin. They emerged unscathed as they won 8-0. Their next game, against Plano, was a close one as NM beat them, 1-0. The first goal scored against the Stallions was by Duncanville, but the Stallions remained undefeated as they won, 4-1. Lake Highlands were the next victims as they fell to North Mesquite, 2-0.

The first game of District play was a slaughter as North Mesquite romped over Lakeview, 8-0. The Stallions later beat Hillcrest, 3-1. North Mesquite always likes to beat Mesquite. They did worse than just beat Mesquite, as they roared 8-0. Highland Park always provides plenty of trouble for North Mesquite. Despite solid playing by the Stallions, the game ended in a tie, 1-1. third of the season by losing to North Mesquite, 2-1.

The last third of regular season play was more challenging than the previous two. Lakeview started by succumbing to the Stallions, 2-0. North Mesquite had trouble with Kimball as they lost 2-1. But the Stallions bounced back stronger than ever to beat Mesquite, 5-0. The regular season ended on a sad note as North Mesquite lost to Highland Park 1-0.

The finals of the Regional Championship set Irving MacArthur against North Mesquite. The game ended in a shootout that no one could ever forget. Separated by one goal, North Mesquite grasped the Regional Championship title by winning 3-2.

The state semi-finals were rougher than any other game before. Kimball got the best of the Stallions, sliding by them 2-0. Coach White said, "Kimball played a different style of game than we did. They play a 'ball in the air' type of game. We weren't ready for that."

The Stallions acquired a success unrivaled in '83. "The Best of 83" brought excitement to NM and respect to girls athletics. "I feel terrific about how far we went. We set our goals to go to state at the first of the season and we got there," commented Stacey Dunford.

The JV Girls team had a season record of 6-2-1. Their high-point was beating Highland Park (2-1) and (3-1).

Battle of the Bases

Success is usually measured by points, but some successes are measured in character, discipline, unity, and improvements.

The 1983 Baseball team improved its defense, but had a little trouble with its hitting. For the Baseball team, the '83 season was a Battle of the Bases.

"I'm pleased with the team's performance, but I think we had the potential to win District," reflected Hank Dixon. The season began on a good note as the Stallions beat Bryan Adams 4-3. The Stallions continued their winning ways against Hillcrest (11-10) and Plano (15-14). The Stallions, however, ran into a little trouble against L.D. Bell (4-14) and Irving MacArthur (7-8).

North Mesquite, coming off two tough losses, ended the next game, against Spruce, in a tie 6-6. The Stallions, however, returned the win column by beating Bishop Lynch, 3-0.

The Stallions participated in the Carrolton Invitational Tournament. They lost the first game to Newman Smith (4-5), but went on to beat Lewisville (9-1) and Highland Park (5-0). The Stallions won the Consolation Championship.

The Stallions began District play against South Garland. NM won 5-1. Other wins were Wilmer (11-1), Garland (10-6), and Highland Park (2-1).

The first loss in District play came when North Mesquite played Lakeview. The final score was 0-7. The next game provided little hope as the Stallions lost to North Garland 2-4. Losses seem to come in groups of three. NM fell prey to Mesquite, 1-4.

This win was a very rewarding one because Thomas Jefferson always seemed to be perennial champions. The Stallions romped over Wilmer, 14-0. The next victims were the Garland Owls. They fell prey, 9-2.

The next two games were rough ones for the Stallions. They lost to Highland Park (3-9) and to Lakeview again (0-7).

improved over the course of the season in the defense department, but their hitting dropped off late in the year during the competitive games for first and second place.

Coach Hicks was well-respected by the Baseball team. "He's a neat coach who really knows his game. He's really easy to get along with," commented Sammy Fischer.

The JV Baseball team had an overall successful season. They placed second in District with a season record of 8-5.

'Running Is Mental'

Those words ring through the ears of the boys on the Cross Country team. Coach Thorne and his group operate according to the theory that running is a mental exercise more than a physical one. Those who say 'anyone can run' have never been a vital part of a running team. Running takes a tremendous amount of mental stamina as well as physical endurance.

This endurance enabled the Cross Country team to do well, taking first in six out of eight meets, including the District Meet. The seniors, Robert Granado and Micheal Kurtz, wanted to take their team back to State, but their toughest opponent was injuries. Robert ran with pulled back muscles most of the season while Mike Ramsey, Mark Dilodvico, and Wayne McKee suffered various injuries throughout the season.

The Cross Country runners shared a great deal of unity. When the team ran in a met, they did so as one — not individuals. This attitude enabled them to sweep District.

Coach Thorne is a stickler for accuracy. At the St. Mark's Meet, the desire for accuracy and a little switchplay by Mesquite created a humorous situation for the team. The CC runners were told they were to run at 9:35 in Division II and Mesquite was to run in the same race. At 9:00, Robert and Micheal were warming up by the starting line. When Mesquite found out that they were running in the same race with NM, they switched races. When Robert and Micheal saw Mesquite lining up to run, they thought they had misunderstood their directions and began running in the 9:00 race. They had run about 400 yds. when Coach Thorne stopped them and pulled them out of the race. By this time, the rest of the team came along, worried about being late. The Stallions went on to place 1st in the meet.

Robert and Micheal wanted to end the season with a special memory. At the University of Dallas Meet, they were the undisputed winners towards the end. About 40 yds. from the finish line, they joined hands and crossed the finish line joint-winners.

The Stallions placed first in District, but only 6th in Regionals. Injuries seem to be the main reason.

Getting Nowhere Fast

The 1982 Girls Cross Country team began their season full of hopes and dreams set on District, but as the season wore on, it appeared that they were getting nowhere fast.

Like most athletes, the CC runners are highly devoted to their sport, but the team as a whole did not have the unity, desire, and persistence to take District. They did, however, have the leadership and coaching. Coach Robertson commented, "Our team was a combination of experienced and young runners." Julie Timms reflected, "Coach Robertson is great. He spoils us like babies, but it sure is nice!"

The first meet at Bishop Lynch, the team was geared up for a big meet, but the girls were a little surprised at their competition, or lack of it. No one else showed up for the meet. This gave NM an opportunity to gain valuable meet experience by being able to run with ut the threat of competition.

The following meet, at South Oak Cliff, the Stallions were in for a big challenge and came out in 6th place.

The rest of the season was more rewarding for the Stallions as they ranked higher in meets. In the Lancaster Meet, NM placed 1st, 2nd place in the Jesuit and St. Mark's Meets, and first in the UD Meet. In contrast, however, they placed 3rd in the District Meet.

The CC runners have valuable memories for the 1982 season. Some of these are "Donut Day" on which Coach Robertson brought them doughnuts and orange juice after the Thursday morning workouts, the UD Meet where several runners lost their shoes in the mud, and the District Meet when they spent most of their time under a bridge waiting for a break in the rain.

Despite the outcome of the meets, the runners gathered memories for what turned out to be a building season.

On the Right Track

"The athletes on the track team produced to their maximum efficiency and capabilities. None of them can be said to have not given 100% this season," commented Coach Brent Thorne. Although the tracksters gave 100%, they couldn't manage to pool their talents into one particular meet. The 1983 Track season was another stepping stone to their ultimate goal. The tracksters may not have won District, but they were on the right track.

The track team's first meet was at Jesuit. Mike Kurtz placed first in the one mile run and two mile run, Mike Ramsey placed first in the 880 dash and Chris Youman placed first in the 120 high hurdles. North Mesquite placed second overall.

The next meet was the Carl Norris Track Meet. Mike Kurtz again placed first in the one and two mile run and Frank Case placed first in the Shot Putt with a throw of 53′. NM placed second in the meet.

For the first time, NM hosted its own track meet. In the NMHS Invitational, Dwain Baber placed first in the two mile run, Mike Kurtz placed first in the one mile run, and Frank Case placed first in the Discus. North Mesquite placed second in this meet, overall.

North Mesquite attended the Mesquite Relays the next week. No one placed first in any events, but some very important personal goals were set by Frank Case, Kyle Tribble, Grant Gaultney, Darron Moore, Lonnie Pollard, Mike Ramsey, and Ronnie Aga. NM placed fourth in this competition.

In the second Jesuit Meet, Frank Case placed first in the Shot Putt with a P.R. of 54′3″, and first in Discus with 149′7″. NM placed fourth in that meet.

Mike Ramsey placed first in the one mile run. Overall the team ranked fourth in the meet.

Coach Thorne worked real hard with the tracksters so that they could be successful. "There is no way I could have gone as far as I did without Coach Thorne's help," commented Mike Ramsey.

Although, the numbers downplayed NM's success, the 1983 tracksters were successful in their own personal ways. "I've improved slowly, but I know next year will be my year," reflected Mike Ramsey, "I'm really looking forward to it."

"I've not only improved physically, but I've learned to try harder and be more prepared to run. The only problem is everyone in the district keeps improving also," commented Tanis Thompson. The girls varsity track team made great improvements and were very competitive in each of their meets. The track team is composed of over sixty dedicated girls willing to work during their sparetime. Though they placed only sixth in the District, they were on the right track.

The girls began the season with the Carl Norris Memorial Meet where they put forth a good effort and placed fourth. The other meets they participated in were the NMHS Invitational placing second, and HEB placing twelfth in which Kerri Porter received out-standing performer. Other meets the team participated in were the Richardson Meet placing twelfth, Keller placing fourth, District placing fourth, in which Sandra Washington placed second, and the Regional Qualifiers, placing third in which Sandra Washington also placed third. Results of the District Meet were as follows: 3200 meters, Stephanie Zimmerman, 13.48.83, 6th place; 400 relay, Cindy Lamb, Sandra Washington, Teresa Jackson, Kerri Porter, 50.1*School Record*, 5th place; 800 meters, Angie Garrison 2.28.04 and 2.29.15, 4th place; 100 hurdles, Sandra Washington 15.30, 15.45, 2nd place; 800 relay, Sandra Washington 27.58, Sandy

Coach Robertson's dedication to track has been astonishing. Not only has he worked diligently with the girls he has now, but also with junior high school girls to prepare them for high school track. The track program has grown to over sixty girls, over half of whom are freshmen. In two years, the program has grown from nine fulltime and twelve part time athletes to sixty-nine fulltime athletes and twenty-one part-time athletes.

Beginning next year Coach Robertson will be directing the girls and boys track program at NM. The one hundred and thirty runners will be the largest group of student athletes except for those in the football program. It is a big job for one man. Coach Robertson, however, sees it as a great challenge and opportunity fo put NM on the map where track is concerned. He has gone to the state meet and talked with the best track coaches in Texas to learn how their programs are handled. "I would like to see what I can do with track in Mesquite in the next few years. It will be a lot of work, but I am looking forward to being in charge of the program myself. Students at NM will see a greater emphasis on track while I'm the coach. I look at it this way- If it's going to work, you have to work at it," commented Coach Robertson.

"If it's going to work, you have to work at it."
— Coach Robertson

To further the interest in Track and Field, NM hosted three of these track meets in 1983, each having twelve teams competing. In addition to this, the track girls hosted and officiated the Middle Schools Track Meets. All of this helped call attention to the girls track program as an alternative to other programs.

Making a Splash

Swimming is one of the less publicized sports, but that does not make it less important. The swimmers had to overcome obstacles, but they succeeded in placing third in District as well as accomplishing many personal goals. In a sport that is highly individualized, the team managed to be fairly unified. They worked hard, but they had fun. "We worked out all summer, but it was worth it," commented Kendall Goodman. The 1983 Swim team really had fun Making a Splash.

The swim team has been in existence for seven years and all those years they've had only one coach. Herry Gooding worked hard with his swimmers and the work paid off in the District Meet. Although they placed third, the meet was a good one. The swimmers swam faster in the District Meet than ever before. Results of the meet are as follows: Don Garrison — 200 yd Freestyle, 1st, 100 yd Butterfly, 2nd; Kendall Goodman — 100 yd Backstroke, 1st, 100 yd Freestyle, 2nd; Mark Draper — 500 yd Freestyle, 3rd, 200 yd Freestyle, 4th; Kevin Gray — 100 yd Breaststroke, 3rd, 200 yd Individual Medley, 4th; Craig Smethie — 500 yd Freestyle, 5th; Shaun McQuiston — 100 yd Freestyle, 6th; 400 yd Freestyle (Goodman, Garrison, Smethie, Draper), 2nd; 200 yd Medley Relay (Glenn Shugart, Gray, Brian Cross, McQuiston), 4th; Jan Calloway — 100 yd Breaststroke, 3rd, 100 yd Freestyle, 5th; Shana Roark — 200 yd Freestyle, 5th, 500 yd Freestyle, 5th; Leann Chapman — 100 yd Backstroke, 4th, 200 yd Ind. North Texas is in one of the fastest regions in Texas. The boys 200 yd Medley Relay consisting of Goodman, Gray, Garrison, and Draper placed 9th and Don Garrison placed 9th in the 200 yd Freestyle.

Don Garrison and Kendall Goodman were All-District swimmers. Don Garrison and Jan Calloway were voted Scholastic Swimmers. Kendall Goodman and Jan Calloway were chosen as Most Inspirational Swimmers.

Stroke of Genius

Dedication, determination, and ability. These three qualities were dominant in the 1983 North Mesquite Golfers. Coming off a disappointing 1982 season, the Stallions amazed even themselves by winning first place in two important tournaments. They came back with a stroke of genius.

The Stallion golfers had set their goals high. They wanted to win Regionals, but realized there was much improvement needed. The change in the golfers was definitely noticeable. They golfed with more concentration and unity. "Our team was really close this year. We really supported each other," commented David Morgan. The golf team suffered a disappointment when the team did not reach regionals. "We really set our goals on the state tournament. Regionals seemed almost something we took for granted," remarked David Morgan, senior.

"Our team was really close this year"

The golfers did a superb job, winning the Mesquite Invitational Golf Tournament and also the South Garland Invitational Golf Tournament. However, they fell short of their ultimate goal by placing third in the District Tournament.

The golfers seemed to play very well, especially Vance Gilley and Matt Holcomb, in the fall, but tended to slack off in the spring.

Coach Tabor, funny clothes and all, was very supportive as a coach. "He always helped us whenever it was necessary. I've never heard any player say he didn't like Coach Tabor," reflected David Morgan.

Raising a Raquet

In all the hurry and scurry of all the highly organized sports, the smaller, yet just as important sports, such as tennis are often overlooked. Though they aren't given enormous recognition, they still press on and succeed. The North Mesquite Tennis team had a good solid season, but better yet, they had fun raising a raquet.

The tennis team placed second in the Fall tournament and second in the Spring tournament. Julie Schnurr and Teresa Martinez defeated North Garland and placed third in District girls doubles. John McDaniel and Marty Sitzman defeated North Garland putting them in third place in District boys doubles.

'The support of the other tennis players on the team was tremendous'
— Julie Schnurr

Highland Park seemed to be the undefeated obstacle in the Stallions' way to District. The North Mesquite Tennis team was considerably young. Becky Griffith, Melody Roberts, and Scotty Sitzman, all freshmen, did a good job and added to the program. Other players doing an outstanding job were John McDaniel, Rudy Davis, Dwight Reed, Marty Sitzman, Lisa Golding, Teresa Martinez, Julie Schnurr, and Kerri Lawbaugh. Teresa Martinez and Julie Schnurr provided excellent leadership. "The support of the other tennis players on the team was tremendous. We'd help motivate each other. We all played our own game of tennis, yet we helped each other out," commented Julie Schnurr, senior. The unity of the tennis team was one factor that allowed North Mesquite to place second in the District meet. Coach Brinkley did an excellent job of coaching and played an enormous role in motivating the tennis players. "He can get us fired better than anyone can. He helps our tennis and at the same time our attitudes," commented Julie Schnurr.

NM Sports Extra

A new wave of individualism hits society every day. Students at North Mesquite have always found ways to be unique and different. Two people in particular have found ways to be different in athletics. Diane Spruill and her gymnastics and Mike Price and his motorcross racing have earned a spot in NM'S Sports Extra.

Diane Spruill first became involved in gymnastics when she was five years old. Her mother got tired of her jumping on beds and turning flips in the grocery store aisles. To prevent injury and to channel all the energy Diane had, she was enrolled into the Mesquite Recreational Center gymnastics program so that she could learn to flip properly. She progressed very quickly and at age six she was placed on a team which eventually moved to a private club, The Metroplex Gymnastics. Diane then began competing in a team situation at seven years of age.

Diane's awards include USGF Class I Texas State Bar and Vaulting Championship, USGF Class I Regionals, USAIGC 1st Bars (finalist) and Regional Qualifier in USGF Class I.

Diane sustained a serious injury in late spring of 1982, so she has been out of competition for awhile. She will begin training lightly for a until she gains some strenght. Diane hopes to get a college scholarship her senior year and become a Sports Therapist.

"I love my sport. It is different, but I really love it," commented Diane Spruill. Besides being a top notch gymnast, Diane is a Piano Guild student and has studied modern jazz and ballet. she has earned the reputation from her peers as being a good loser as well as a good winner; she respects her competition.

Mike Price is involved in one of the most physically demanding sports in the world — motorcross. Mike likes his sport because he is constantly moving really moving! Anywhere from fifteen to thirty guys compete in a race and Mike is one of the best. He first became involved in Motorcross because his dad and brother had bikes and at age six Mike got his first bike.

In 1981, Mike won the state championship in his class. In 1982, he rode an 125 expert, but he received an early injury; so now Mike races on a 250.

Mike Price and Diane Spruill are good examples of people who pioneered new things in tradition bound situations.

Sometimes it is tough to do something that is not 'in,' but Mike and Diane are individuals and are interested in realizing personal goals.

Saints and Winners

Athletes come and go, graduate go off to college, but who helps them achieve their goals? Who binds their wounds, both physical and mental? Who — the coaches and trainers. Some athletes will spend more time with their coaches and trainers than they will with their parents. This close association between the athletes and the trainers and coaches produces respect, friendship, and admiration.

When an athlete is injured, the first thing a spectator sees is a trainer run out and help the player off, but the story doesn't end there. Many people have a misconception about the role of a trainer. Dennis Hart and Sarah Wolfskill are both licensed by the state of Texas as certified Athletic Trainers. They must keep up-to-date on every type of sports medicine in order to be efficient. The trainers can't be everywhere at once, that is where the student trainers come in. They are instructed in basic first aid, CPR, care of injuries and many more necessary skills.

When an athlete becomes injured, the trainer's job is to get him back to full playing capacity. "We keep 'em playing," commented Dennis Hart. They must work with the player to rehabilitate him so that he will be able to play again without risking further injuries. "The coaches decide who plays, but they work with us and won't play anyone we think is still unfit to play. We belong behind the scenes and that is where we want to stay," reflected Dennis Hart.

Because the coaches and trainers work so close together, funny things do happen. Coach Wolfskill helped quite a bit with the Varsity football and an interesting thing happened in the endzone after the H.P. game. Everyone ran down to celebrate in the endzone and Coach Childress grabbed Coach Wolfskill and planted a kiss on her. Leave it to Cable to get the whole picture.

Good coaches are essential for a successful sports program. NM has been very fortunate to have such a crop of winning coaches.

"We keep 'em playing"

— Dennis Hart

The relationship between an athlete and a coach is much different than a student-teacher relationship. Coach Randy Barnes commented, "Coaches and athletes are much closer. It's almost a friendship. There is still respect, but there is also a strong bond."

Coaches not only teach athletics skills, but also teach sportsmanship, discipline, goal-setting, and the acceptance of the judgements of others. These will help them more in life than athletic ability.

The athletes, who comprise approximately one-fourth of the school, owe alot to their coaches — and they know it. Frank Case commented, "They are special men. They want us to be first — in athletics and life!"

Energetic students took pride in everything they did. We won at many things. Most importantly we won at working together. It was essential for us to release the tensions that school, homework and extra-curricular activities created. We forgot about school for a while by going to concerts, parties, and movies.

Frank Case

Frank Case received an internship, all-state and all-district honors during his senior year in football. Track has also been a big part of Frank's life, and he always scored high in discus and shot put competition. Texas A&M coach Pat Dye recognized Frank's talents and offered him a scholarship. Frank has signed with Texas A&M and will begin a new football career as an Aggie.

Lori Kirkpatrick

Lori Kirkpatrick has served on the Statbook as a freshman, JV and Varsity cheerleader. She was a JV player for the girls soccer team, an integral part of the science club and a member of the Homecoming Court. Lori has served as junior and senior class vice president, receiving many leadership awards.

Journey to the Center of the Court

If, when approaching North Mesquite High School on the morning of October 22, you heard bells. You might have even thought it was Christmas time at the school. As you cautiously walked through the halls, you might have smelled flowers and seen mums of all shapes and sizes, stuffed animals of all enormities, and crepe paper filling the lockers and halls everywhere on campus. The air was filled with excitement and teachers could be seen preparing to attack the first jingle they heard with scotch tape. Students some how found their way up the stairs with arms full of flowers, stuffed animals, and other good luck items among the books and unfinished homework from the day before. The day seemed to drag on as students started looking forward to the activities later that evening. The 3:30 bell rang and students stumbled to their shoe-polished cars and raced home to prepare for the game to come. The crowd filled Hanby Stadium as the Big Blue and The Pacesetters marched onto the field. This was the beginning of a new tradition for North Mesquite as in previous years, the Homecoming game has always been played at Memorial Stadium. The court anxiously awaited on the sidelines until it was signaled to approach the center of the field. The crowd became silent as the court was announced. "The 1983-84 Homecoming Queen is . . . Miss Sherrie Reville." Sherrie, escorted by her father, received a dozen long stem roses. The crowd roared with excitement as the new Queen and her court were escorted off the field. The homecoming fans were not let down as the Stallions stampeded over the Lakeview Patriots with a score of 34-7.

Freaky FRIDAYS!

Every Friday afternoon during football season NM students could be guaranteed one thing for sure — plenty of school spirit. The Varsity Cheerleaders planned the pep rallies right down to the last detail. Posters were hung in every corner of the gym as Stallion Battalion members wheeled in the school mascot. Band members tuned their instruments as Pacesetters and J.V. Drill members found their places in the bleachers. The pep rallies which the students and faculty participated in each week was different, but the spirit was always overflowing. One week a rock band performed and electrified the audience. At the Highland Park pep rally ex-coach Terry Kinard made a surprise visit and predicted the victorious outcome of the game against the Scots. Then towards the end of the season Coach Childress and his football team received a trophy from K104 for being the Team of the Week. The cheerleaders encouraged students to show their spirit by dressing differently each week. This gave everyone a chance to break the old routine of school life and let it all hang out. There was a sense of unity and togetherness that was shown at the pep rallies. The Mesquite pep rally is usually the last one, but not this year; at the time of the bi-district game no one knew it would be the last game. Some felt this was the year we would go all the way to state. As we sang the school song and gathered around 'Spirit,' students felt a growing pride within themselves. But as the song ended so did the football season as NM fell victims to the SOC Golden Bears by a score of 36-13. Disappointment pervaded but nothing could stop the pride and spirit which was sparked by a dream of becoming winners at all the pep rallies.

Getting Casual

Being casual has been a trend for years and being casual often comes from wearing t-shirts. When walking through Town East Mall with friends, it is always fun to stop in T-shirts Unlimited or Spencers Gifts to see all the latest decals and t-shirts that are available. T-shirts are a way of expressing feelings that are otherwise unexpressed. Almost anything can be placed on a t-shirt and they are therefore a good source of student expression. Rock concert stars, school emblems, senior graduation years, friends signatures, school club emblems and activities, are just a few of the many things that are seen at school everyday. It was made clear by NM students that the number one reason that t-shirts are worn, is comfort. Rosemary Smith, a sophomore, says "I like wearing t-shirts because they look a lot more casual with jeans and tennis shoes. They are a lot more comfortable than some long sleeve shirts and look more easy going." Christina Tovey, a junior, comments, "I buy most of my t-shirts at T-shirts Plus. I wear them because they are comfortable and easy to move around in." Not only do students like t-shirts, but MS Attaway, French teacher, says, "Esput de corps — English — translation: A feeling of unity." She feels that French club t-shirts are a big must to kids who want to be a member of the French club. Remember how many times this Scene happened at NM. It is the day after a rock concert, possibly Rush. The GO-GO's, or Aerosmith. Fighting the usual crowds through the halls, almost all that can be seen are concert t-shirts. All those who were lucky enough to get tickets, wanted to show it, by wearing the t-shirt that represented the group. There are many places in Mesquite to get t-shirts. T-shirts Plus, T-shirts Unlimited, and Spencers Gifts are just a few of the shops where t-shirts and decals can be purchased. The t-shirts range from $3.00 to $13.00. Decals range from $1.50 to $3.00. T-shirts are definitely "in" as many NM students take advantage of the casual look and start 'Getting Casual.'

Paying the Price

"Seniors, you need to bring a $10 deposit for . . ." "Seniors you need to be in front of the auditorium at 7:30 tomorrow morning with your $25 deposit for . . ." "Seniors, your invitations will be here Monday. You need to bring . . ." These announcements haunt the pocketbooks of most seniors — and with good reason. For most seniors, the expenses start during their junior year with the purchase of their class ring. During their senior year, a student may spend a thousand dollars. Senior portraits can cost anywhere from fifty to a hundred and fifty dollars. The prom, of course, is a big part of every senior's life. To make this event memorable, some seniors spend hundreds of dollars. In preparation for graduation, seniors must order caps and gowns, buy tassles, and order announcements. Janet Sloan commented, "We are being forced to face the real world by being stripped of our life's savings." Many seniors felt the same as they opened their pocketbooks time after time to pay the price of finally becoming a senior.

Good Tidings

Look past all the gift wrapped boxes and commercialized Christmas displays and a genuine feeling of the holiday season could be found at North Mesquite. In a time where the world was faced with inflation and unemployment the spirit of students were not dampened during the month of December. Some seniors gathered one winter night to spread a little Christmas cheer by singing carols door to door. Afterwards they enjoyed a get-together at Farrell's.

Many student's spent time with their special adopted grandparents at the Big Town Nursing Home. For many of the residents at the home, the students were the only family they had, and without them their Christmas would have been a lonely one. The year of 1982 ended with a very special season, not because of gifts exchanged, but because we learned that the giving of ourselves is what Christmas is all about.

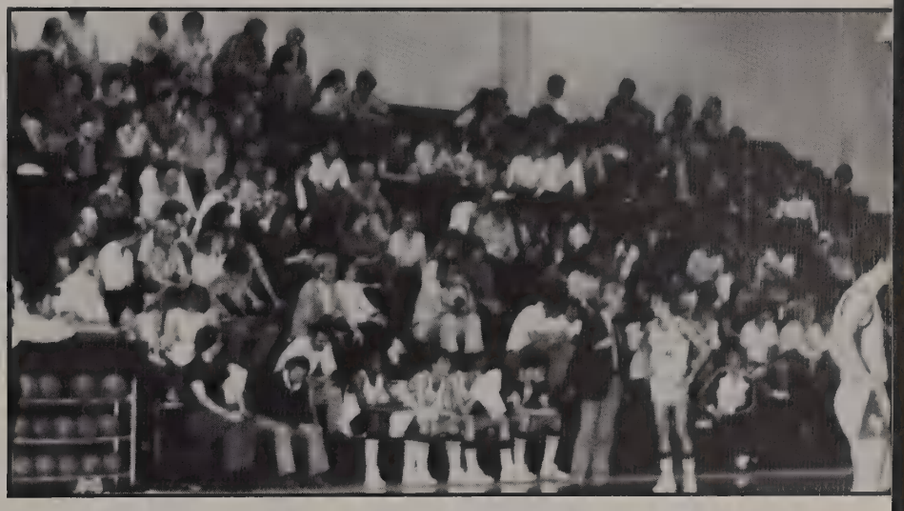
When Push Comes to Shove

Keeping its reputation of "Home of the crowd one of the most spirited high schools in Texas." The North Mesquite High School students and parents flocked to most all sporting and extra curricular activities that involved their NM peers; giving them their undisputed support. This support worked out favorably for NM as it gave the football team, cross country team, volleyball team, girls soccer team, and boys soccer team the desire to take district championships. As the trophy case filled to capacity, one would wonder if there would have been some true support for the boys basketball team and baseball team, would our trophy case have been boasting with even more awards.

What's all the excitement about? A somewhat smaller crowd watches the basketball team excite the students.



Looks like we made it. The Highland Park game ends with a crowd around the school mascot to celebrate our victory.

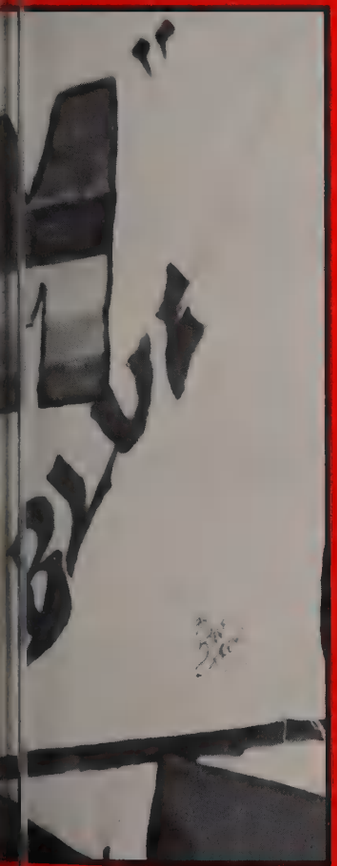
The Downbeat Goes On

"Where's my hatbox? . . . You sat on my lunch! . . . That's my suitbag! . . . Wait for me!" Confusion, as it seemed, was the mood that described the Parade of Champions Contest on October 11 in the Cotton Bowl at the State Fair of Texas. High School bands from all over the state of Texas and Arkansas competed in this prestigious event. The Big Blue was rated by three judges on precision, perfection, and performance. The Big Blue waited nervously on the sidelines for the judges signal to begin. The flag was waved and the Big Blue took to the field as they played "Ride Like the Wind." The Stallionaires Drum Line performed their feature "Brazilian Fire," and the Flag Corps knocked them off their seats to the song "Fire Dance." As the finale, the Big Blue gracefully played the beautiful ballad "Something." After eleven other 9-5A bands performed, the bands were eliminated down to the top three. The Big Blue qualified for the preliminaries and was called back to perform and compete for the final placements. The band once more exercised its halftime show and the final decision was made. Out of twelve 9-5A class bands, the Big Blue marched away with a second place trophy. When asked if there was . any difficulty telling over 200 band students what to do, Mr. Kline replied, "It depended on the cognizance of the students at the time. Many times it was as if some of them had an acute case of Avitaminosis, compounded by a condition similar to Somno Opressus."

In 1982 the band placed third in competition, in 1983 they placed second, and hopes are for placing first in 1984.

Precious Moments — Clark Giddens awaits the final outcome of the Parade of Champions Contest.



Commanding Presence — Mr. Kline makes known his presence as he commands the band during warm-up.

Unlimited Talent — Richard Getso expands his talent as he performs his solo to "Something."

With the addition of nine new movie screens in our area this past year North Mesquite students are probably more movie conscious than they ever have been. We've seen movies about starving orphans, starving actors, space aliens, space warfare and even spirits from the supernatural. "I usually see about two or three movies a week," explains Rich Talley, a junior. It's nice having the new theaters, too, because there's more variety to choose from. "Obviously, variety is important, students have gone to see movies about everything from established classics to modern here-and-now comedies and even an occassional love story now-and-then. A movie is a good place to take a date, a friend, or just yourself, and if a movie is especially appealing the devoted addict will see it as often as possible, with money and time presenting no barriers. Junior, Cheryl Morris explains, "They're worth the time and money if the movie is really good, because they provide a relaxing escape from the daily hassles of reality.

Slip Slidin' Away

"Welcome to Texas Stadium. Texas Stadium is conveniently located in the city of Irving. For your halftime entertainment, the Big Blue band will perform with the Pacesetter drill team from North Mesquite High School." As the drum major blew his whistle and the band marched on to the field, the spectators' applause rang through the stadium and the freezing rain which was steadily falling. The temperature was below freezing, and each step brought a new splash from the saturated field. The crowd roared as the Pacesetters performed their impressive chair routine to the "Greatest American Hero." As the band began their formations, the rain fell harder, but the band played on. Their courage and perseverance was unmatched by anyone, as was their performance at this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

Dancers Show Mavericks How to

Step to It

On the morning of February 4, the North Mesquite Pacesetters set foot into Reunion Arena to practice for the Dallas Maverick game that night. The Pacesetters were practicing for their performance of a kick routine to 'Yankee Doodle Dandy' while the Educational Television was filming the practice to show it to the schools later. The practice was grueling, but the big night finally arrived. As the Mavericks lost to the New York Knicks, the Pacesetters put all they had into their performance. As Patsy Doane, junior Pacesetter, explains, "It was an exciting experience performing for people other than our home crowd. The large crowds made it really thrilling!" Even though the Mavericks disappointed the many spectators, they were still won over by the Pacesetters.

Top of the Charts

"What's your favorite . . .?" was in question as the yearly North Mesquite poll was taken among the students from all four grades. One of the categories asked about was the "favorite jeans brand." The guess would be Jordache or Calvin Klein? Wrong, Lee's was the unexpected winner. As for the favorite motion picture, there were entries from "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" to "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas." Steven Spielberg scored big with "Poltergeist" but scored even bigger as his "E.T.: the Extra Terrestrial" was expectedly the hands-down winner. Although many students watch cable-television, the majority believed that the highly-rated "Three's Company" was their favorite television show. "It's the only show on television that can make me laugh!" comments senior Carol Abarquez. A surprising second place winner was "Fame", a critically-acclaimed, but low-rated show. Under the "favorite vocal group" category, numerous, different types of New-Wave bands were entered including Duran Duran and The Clash. At the final count, the rock group, Journey, still proved to be the favorite as it slightly edged-out the New-Wave/Reggae group, Men At Work. When asked what the favorite radio station was, the majority of the students agreed that the "Eagle from KEGL" does not surpass "Q102 — NM's Best Rock!"

Hard as Rock —Q102 was proclaimed "NM's Best Rock."

New Arrivals

"See ya' later, Alligator!" was one of the fashion quotes of the year as the Izod alligator found itself left out in the cold. Along with the Fox, tiger, and dragon, the alligator was chased away by Ralph Lauren's Polo horse and by the new rival Hunter's Run. For the numerous female students of North Mesquite, the favorite was the tuxedo-style blouses. Along with the popular ballet shoes, these two, added with the revival of the baggie pants, all combined and created the "in" look. On the men's section, the crew-neck checkered sweater, buttoned-down collar shirt, and the topsiders created the preppy image, which many often denied having. As the climate turned colder "Members Only" jackets appeared on both boys and girls. With the coming of spring, the only two important letters that mattered were "Op." Ocean Pacific, whose line of fashion wardrobes include T-shirts and pants, were seen on the male and female students who preferred to have the easy going, casual look. With the coming and going of many styles of fashions, the same can be said to the many fads that hit North Mesquite. Last year's rainbows, Rubik's Cubes, and punk-rock sunglasses were replaced this year by friendship pins, rock pins, and unicorns. The phenomenial Pac-Man gave way to its successor, Donkey Kong, as the leading video game. Another new arrival is the Walk-man miniature radio. Its tiny size became handy when having the urge for music during those boring geometry and history classes. Also experiencing a shift in popularity is the music scene. In the late seventies, disco was "the thing" to listen to. Last year, punk-rock or New Wave Music was the "in thing." Although New-Wave is still popular, many medium-rock groups have emerged into the billboard charts. Equally as popular as Men At Work and Adam Ant were Toto and Asia.

Tennis Anyone — Patrick Pearson leisurely plays tennis in his Nike shoes and Op shirt.

Stick It — Stickers remain popular among the young crowd.

Uniquely Unicorn — The beauty and grace of the unicorn fancies many NM students.

Goody Two-shoes — Mike Pearson sports his checkered shoes, while Brad Davis absorbs the sounds of his Walkman radio.

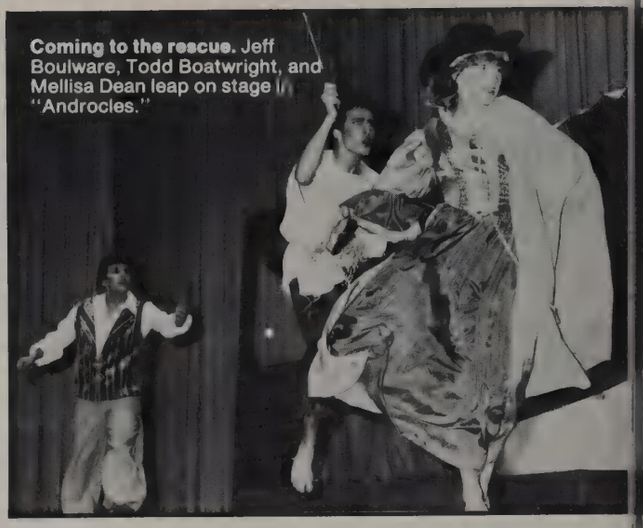
Friend or Fad — E.T. dolls were just a part of the nationwide "E.T. Mania."

Bits and Pieces — Garfield's popularity steadily grows giving competition to Snoopy and Mickey Mouse.

Looking ahead. Beverly White paints roses in "Alice In Wonderland."

Feline groovy. Laura Swank portrays a line in "Alice in Wonderland."

Coming to the rescue. Jeff Boulware, Todd Boatwright, and Mellisa Dean leap on stage in "Androcles."



Kidding Around

"The bus is here," exclaims a drama student. A certain panic hits Mrs. Clark, drama instructor. "The kids are here almost an hour early," says Mrs. Clark. "Round up the rest of the cast and lets get the show on the road." The first childrens performance put on by the drama students was "Alice in Wonderland." Grades one through three from Lawrence, Price, Florence, Shands, Porter, Range, Tosch, Beasley, Rugel, and McKenzie attended. Mrs. Clark commented that "the first through third graders really enjoyed it. One first grade class sent us a book of drawings of their favorite characters. The drawings were very cute. Alice and the White Rabbit were the favorites."

"The next production was "Androcles and the Lion." Forth through sixth grades from the previously mentioned schools attended this production. Mrs. Clark said that her students enjoyed putting on these productions because of the colorful costumes and the make-up. She also said it was fun to do. Many of the drama students themselves attended childrens theatre here at NMHS when they were in first through sixth grades. "I enjoyed doing these plays. They gave my students a chance to do a different type of play than any of our others," says Mrs. Clark. She said that she wished that her students could have had more contact with the elementary school children. The drama students really wanted to come out in their costumes and make up and to have the chance to meet the children. Christina Tovey, junior drama student, says, "I think everyone enjoyed themselves. The best part was hearing the laughs from the little kids in the audience. The actors started rehearsing right after "Brigadoon" and we really cut it close when it came to learning our lines. All in all it took a lot of work but it was worth it."

Child's play. Lana Browning, Amy Gotthardt, and Ginny Martin, perform a scene in "Alice."

Playing around. Lisa Stiles, Eddie Lock, Beverly White, Dan Degroot, Amy Weatherby, and Carrie Gatlin get into action in "Alice."

Simply enchanting. Victoria Payne portrays a caterpillar in "Alice."

Acting up again? Amy Weatherby, warns Chris Gist and Trent Hunt in "Alice."

Tea time. Christina Tovey, Sheila Cooper and Amy Armstrong sit down for tea time in "Alice."

Cast away. Jeff Boulware, Kelly Smith, Mellisa Dean, Teresa Rios, Todd Boatwright, Jami Huthinson, Paul Gandy, Amy Chambers and Danny Bradley bow after their performance.

Some Gotta Win, Some Got the Blues

If you're going to be good at something in life you have to overcome obstacles along the way. One of the most difficult obstacles is competition. The competition is not limited to such areas as sports, but covers a wide range of different organizations and individuals. The cheerleaders and drill team members are all familiar with try-outs and all the hard work that goes along with the title. Sore muscles don't stop the smiling girls from doing their best for the judges. It's sad that everyone who puts his heart into it doesn't always come out a winner. "Try-outs are the thing I like least about my job. You want all the girls to win because they are all such a super bunch. Unfortunately, life just isn't that way," commented cheerleader sponsor, Linda Muhl.

Music is another area where students are constantly struggling to be the best. The orchestra which is ranked second in the state is made up of a conscientious bunch of students who all battle for the first chair of their sections and the Big Blue members have try outs for such things as drum major, majorettes and the flag corps.

The drama dept. holds auditions for parts in plays, and for most amateur actors and actresses this proved to be a nerve racking experience.

The leaders of our school, known as officers, had to overcome their opponents in elections. Popularity often proved a plus for many of the students running, but many worked extra hard to get the votes they so desperately needed. Whether we won or lost at our goals in high school, students who competed gained a valuable lesson about life. We can't all be winners, we have to learn from our mistakes and disappointments.

Future Leaders

Mesquite City Hall was home for forty-six seniors on March 11 as they took control of the city for a day. In a special election held in the NM auditorium February 2, students were elected to fill the mayor and city council positions and others were appointed to fill the remaining positions. Soon after the elections, the student officials traveled to City Hall to meet their counterparts and learn how the city functions. During a mock trial, Teresa Trail convinced the jury that defendant Jeff Leslie was guilty of speeding through a school zone, and he was fined $199. After being treated to a luncheon at the Dallas Athletic Club, the student city personnel returned to City Hall where ■ city council meeting was held. This provided the students with a taste of cit government procedures. "Sitting through the city council meeting made me realize what these people really do. It gave me a lot o respect for them," commented Brian Harvey. The first application hearc was for a multifamily development in an already crowded area of Mesquite After hearing arguments o both sides of the issue, student city council voted t table the issue until the ne meeting in 1984. After seeing the tenth run of "I Love Lucy" in four ays, you finally decide to ice up your spring break ext year. Maybe you'll urchase a watch in witzerland, survey the shions in Paris, and see the lling countryside of ngland unfold before you. Some North Mesquite udents were able to do this taking the spring break tour to Europe. The students first flew to London to see Windsor Castle. They visited Amsterdam, Germany, next, and cruised down the Rhine River. The students toured by bus to Switzerland and the Swiss Alps, and then visited Paris. "Paris was very different," said senior Cheryl Kirpatrick. "The sights were gorgeous but the town was very unsafe." After exploring Paris, the students ended the week by returning to London for more sightseeing before returning home. "This trip really taught me a lot," tells David Shupe. "It taught me about the many different people around the world, but they're still alike, and I dropped a lot of prejudices because of this. This trip was well worth the money."

A Banquet to Remember

As the school year progressed, numerous organizations, including the sports teams, Pacesetter drill team, cheerleading squads, foreign language clubs, and several music organizations, held banquets for their members to round off the year's activities. It was also the time to bid farewell to the graduating seniors and to honor those individuals who had contributed greatly to each organization with various awards. At the Pacesetter Banquet, held May 3 at the Dunfey Hotel, awards such as "Most Outstanding" an "Best All-Around" were given out to a Junior and Senior girl. One of the highlights of the evening w the announcement of the co-captains of next year's drill team. At the end of the banquet, Mr. Kline, the ba director, was presented wi

White Water Red Skin

"So what do you want to do this summer?" "I don't know. What do you want to do?" The age-old principle of boredom strikes again. With three months of hundred-degree weather stretching ahead, North Mesquite students can only look forward to hot, sweaty expeditions or an air-conditioned house with nothing interesting to do. But a new amusement park has provided a fun alternative to this: White Water.

For $8.95, customers are admitted to 2,500,000 gallons of water used in more than forty activities. The park boasts of two pools, one with "manufactured" waves fifteen feet tall, and the other with twenty different activities, such as slides of all shapes and sizes, and two inner tube courses. The park has eight water slides, and three are the tallest in Texas. White Lightning is the faste in America, and riders are almost airborne on Wild Blu Yonder, two of the other water slides. An 18,000 square foot playground is available for children, with the main attraction being a life-size pirate ship. Eighty-five lifeguards are available to help, and two tons of chlorine a week keep the water sparkling clean.

The park is open twelve hours a day, and after five o'clock a two-dollar discou is available. A limited number of season passes are available for $39.95. The park is located at Northwes Highway and LBJ, real clos to good old Mesquite, so w not grab a few friends and try it out? "White Water's really a lot of fun," commented Cindy Bowman, "and I plan to go there eve chance I get this summer."

Hot run in the summertime. David Baker and Sean Self explore the park for themselves.

Wet and wild. Karl Cole splashes around in the water to beat the summer heat.

They're Playoff and Running

The Junior class of 1982 wanted a memorable senior year. Plans were made for get-togethers, parties, and any activities that would unify North Mesquite. However, a spirit of unity came over NM that was totally unplanned. When the trophy case began filling up with athletic awards, it became apparent that North Mesquite was undoubtedly the home of the proud. Football, Boys Cross Country, Volleyball, Girls Basketball, Boys Soccer, and Girls Soccer were all Playoff and Running.

Boys Cross Country led the way by outrunning the District and acquired the District Title. The volleyball team had great success and made North Mesquite realize that girls athletics were something to reckon with. Defeating JJ Pearce they snatched the Area Championship title.

The two new UIL sponsored sports brought success to the spring of 1983. Amidst excitement of graduation, boys soccer cruised along, and under a new coach, grabbed the District Title.

Perhaps the most heartwarming success, however, was yet to come. One of the closest groups of girls at NM had a dream. "I think the secret to our success, and to any success is setting goals and having teamwork. We had a lot of both," commented Stacey Dunford. Taking their dream all the way to Austin for the state championship, the girls soccer team proved what hard work can accomplish. After losing a heartbreaker to Kimball, the girls came home proud with heads held high.

Success came easy for North Mesquite in 1983.

"I think the secret to our success is setting goals and having teamwork."
— Stacey Dunford

Perhaps the most publicized success was that of the football team. By going undefeated in regular season play, they grasped a dream in the form of a District Title.

Fall sports did well, but what about winter sports? Coach Capps and her girls answered that question by aggressively taking the Area Championship.

There were multitudes of All-District players, awards, and recognition from the community.

For all involved, the recognition has been long overdue. All the dedicated players, coaches, fans, teachers, and administrators pitched in to make 1983 the Year of the Stallion.

Never Forget

World events from as far away as Russia to as close as our own state effect our lives seemingly each day. 1982-83 was a year of triumphs and defeats, times of joy and what seemed like hours of sadness and grief. It was a year of monuments in honor and moments of horror. 1982-83 fits the mold of years past and assuredly of years to come. Some of these events you will remember, others you will not, and some you will wish you could forget. In 1983 we saw unemployment hit 11% the first time since 1941 for double digit unemployment. In Dallas, Braniff Airlines folded its wings and headed for the hanger in May of 1982 only to be revived by Hyatt in 1983. A chill ran up our spines in the fall when tampered Tylenol killed seven. Shelves were cleared and policies changed regarding packaging. Charles and Di made news again, this time they had to share the spotlight as William Arthur Phillip Louis made his debut in the summer of '82. He is the next in line to the British throne after Prince Charles. An overdue tribute to the men who fought in Vietnam finally arrived in the fall of '82. Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev died in early winter. The British fought the Argentines over the Falklands or Malbinas depending on whose side you were on. The British won, by the way, after 74 days of fighting. Some of the most shocking news came from the football stadiums on September 21 when the NFL players began their eight week strike. The following weeks would be filled with Canadian and college football, car races, happy wives, and a lot more people outside on Sunday afternoons. It was a typical year in many aspects. However in many aspects it was very untypical. To some this was a year of grief, to others a year of victory and joy, but to all it was a year that we will never forget.

Long Live the Queen. The British celebrate the arrival of their victorious soldiers.

Dying Colors. Dallas based Bran Airlines folds its wings but as of n has refused to fall.

Honor Wall. A tribute to the Vietnam soldiers is a welcome site in Washington.

Deflation. The fans of football suffered through an 8 week strike as the players took an early vacation for more money.

On the Stage Again

The big night had finally arrived. After sweaty practices and late-night rehearsals, the excitement mounted as the curtains opened for the 1983 Pacesetter Stage Show: 'An Evening Under the Stars.'

The Master of Ceremonies, Kevin Sledge, opened the show by announcing each of the senior Pacesetters. The seniors wore formal gowns and were escorted by their fathers. The stage was dominated by a 20-foot star with smaller stars made by Paul Wade and Steve Piland. More than 1,200 people were present to watch skits, slide shows, and 15 routines done by the Pacesetters. The stage show was highlighted by the traditional routine to 'Daybreak' and the introduction of the 1984 officers and J.V. Drill instructors. The new officers were Karen Anderson, Shann Barton, Cathy Hill, Kim McLain, Kim Smith, and Cheryl Wenz. The new J.V. Drill instructors were Christi Callan, Patsy Doane, Dot LeBrun, and Regina Watkins. The Pacesetters did other routines to 'The Stars on 45,' 'American Heartbeat,' 'Dance in the Gym,' 'Don't Talk to Strangers,' 'Dancin,' 'Stray Cat Strut,' 'Let It Whip,' 'Square Pegs,' 'Goody Two Shoes,' 'Life Is Just a Fantasy,' 'Dancing in the Streets,' 'E.T.,' 'Rock It,' and 'Alright.' As Karla Perry, junior Pacesetter, thinks, "The stage show was a great way to end a super year."

Closing encounters. The Pacesetters end the Stage Show to the tune of 'Daybreak,' the traditional routine.

Star-ry nights. Carrie Prater is escorted onto stage by her father during the senior introduction.

Let there be tights. Sandra Monroy and Kim Smith dance to 'E.T.,' a routine created by Sherry Prater.

A tight situation. Devy Winniford performs to 'Don't Talk to Strangers' with other senior Pacesetters.

Count your lucky stars. Performing the junior routine to 'The Stars on 45,' Regina Watkins and Sharm Barton stop for a picture.

Shine 'Pettie'. Donna Browning holds up Stephanie Roberson in Rhonda Taylor's routine to 'Goody Two Shoes.'

Uptown, Downtown

The big night, April 29, actually began early that afternoon, when 492 students left North Mesquite to visit florists, hairdressers, and rental shops. The students all had the same thing on their mind: the prom at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel that night.

Arranged and planned by the three Junior Class officers, President Mike Smith, Vice-President Keri Baird, and Secretary Karen Anderson, the prom began at 7:30, but some couples came early to pose for pictures outside the ballroom. The students were then admitted to a spacious ballroom with a dance floor and tables seating five couples each. The guys received engraved glasses while their dates received silk roses in vases, and each received a program designed by Paul Wade. Dinner was served after Mike Smith and Billy Kula, Senior Class President, welcomed the students and asked David Morgan to say the blessing for the meal.

After dinner, counselor Mr. Bill Scott announced each of the seniors for the senior walk and the dancing began. Denise Todd highlighted the evening by announcing her engagement to Kevin Hall, and the dancing continued until 11:30. Some couples left early to visit other parties, go bowling, or get something else to eat. Don Carter's bowling lanes were frequented by many NM Seniors. "The prom was one of the biggest times of my life," says Linda Boroughs, "and I can't wait until next year to go again."

Moonlight flight. Eydie Guevara and her date dance the night away after dinner and the senior walk.

Dated affair. Steve Kenney, Deanna Donaldson, Teresa Martinez, Casey Sneffield, Jerald Little, and Priscilla Martin enjoy each other's company during dinner.

Berry good. Sampling the excellent dinner, Devy Winniford bites into a strawberry before the main course is served.

Fashion, Hyatt. Loretta Schnurr and David Marshall wait for the photographer to take their picture before the prom.

Seems like old times. Mr. Klein and Mme. Attaway sway to the music while chaperoning the students at the same time.

Getting together. Robyn Walker and her date catch one last dance before leaving the prom.

Talk of the town. Ritzy Matt Brown shows his date, Tracy Limmer, a night on the town.

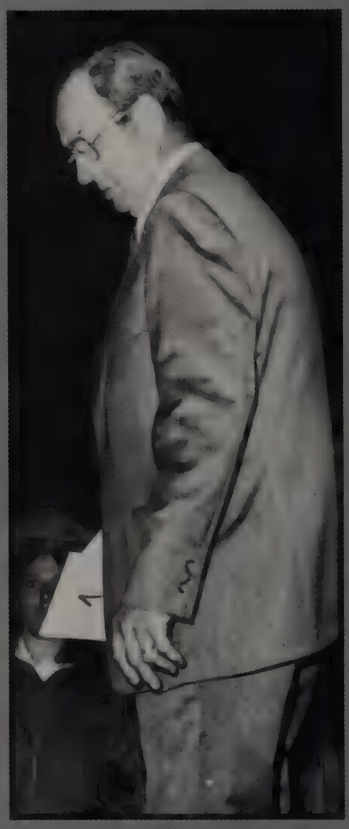
Southern Belle. Stacey Nelson dresses the part as she shows off her pantelets under her hoop dress.

...dating game. At Don Carter's ... Hall shows off the ... gagement ring he gave ... fiancé, Denise Todd.

Two less lonely people. Kim Rattan and Steve Piland anticipate all the fun in store for them.

Moving right along. Principal John Campbell asks about Steve Walker's Salutatorian speech before graduation begins.

The man with the golden tongue. The graduating seniors listen closely as Mr. James McCoy gives his final farewell.



Out of the wild blue yonder. A senior shows his joy at finally graduating.

Blue Monday. The blue caps and gowns decorate Reunion Arena on Monday, May 23, 1983.

New Beginning. Bobby Deets congratulates Deanna Donaldson on her new freedom after graduation.

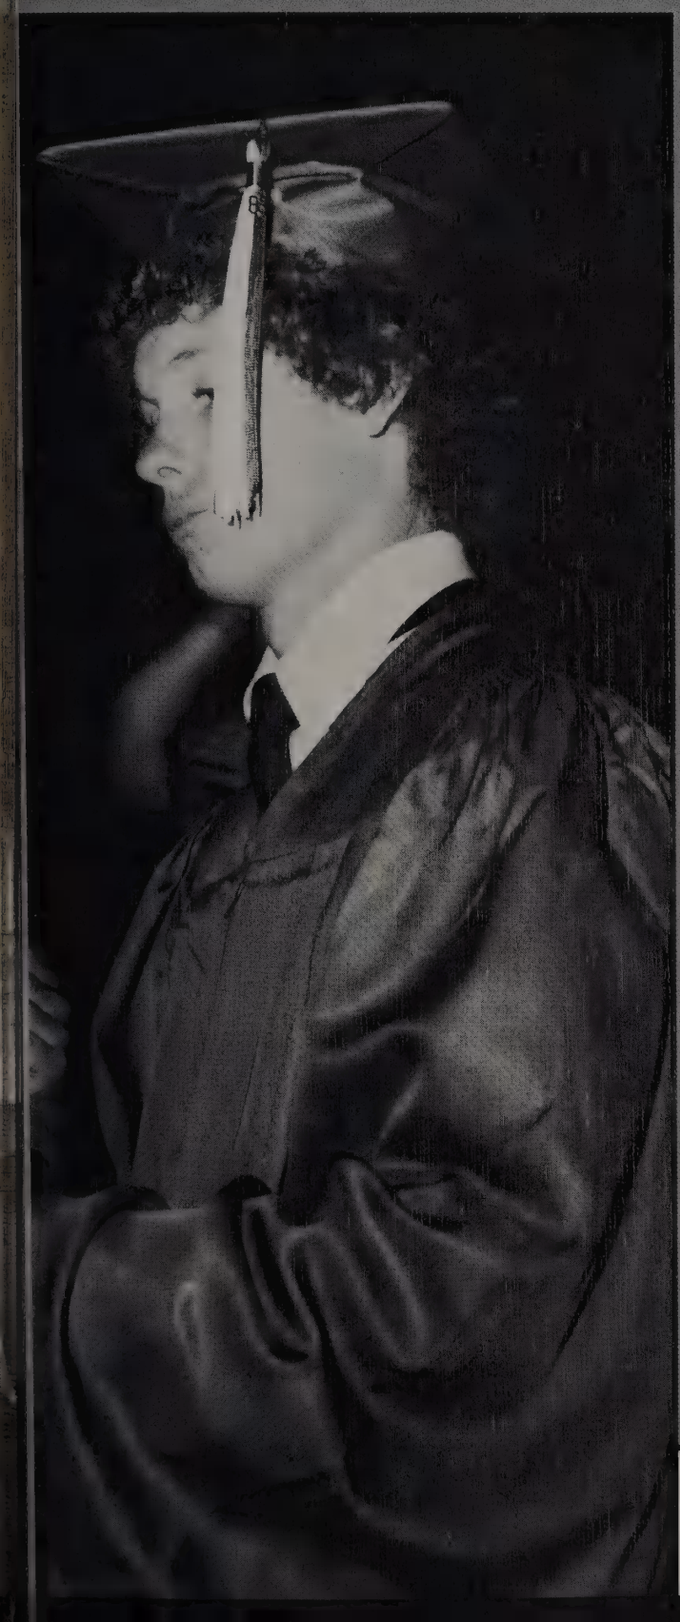
The Last Cherished Memory

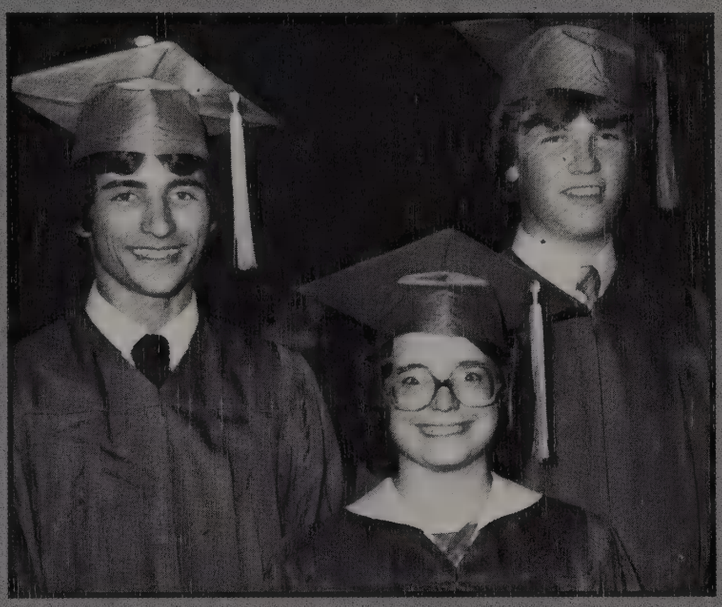
A low hum of excitement and anticipation filled Reunion Arena, as the expectant spectators waited for the 1983 seniors to enter and take their seats on the floor below. The seniors, soon to be graduates, were waiting patiently below, ready for their biggest night to begin.

Some were leaders, some were followers, but all started out the same, with that first day of school bringing that same feeling of nervous apprehension to everyone. They fought through twelve years of school waiting for their hard work and dedication to culminate in their ultimate goal: graduation.

Graduation snuck up quietly with caps, gowns, tassels, and invitations being ordered early that winter. Colleges were chosen, invitations mailed, and Baccalaureate brought the ending even closer. While Don Shaw, minister of St. Marks Methodist Church, gave his Baccalaureate message, worried glances were exchanged and plans made. (cont.)

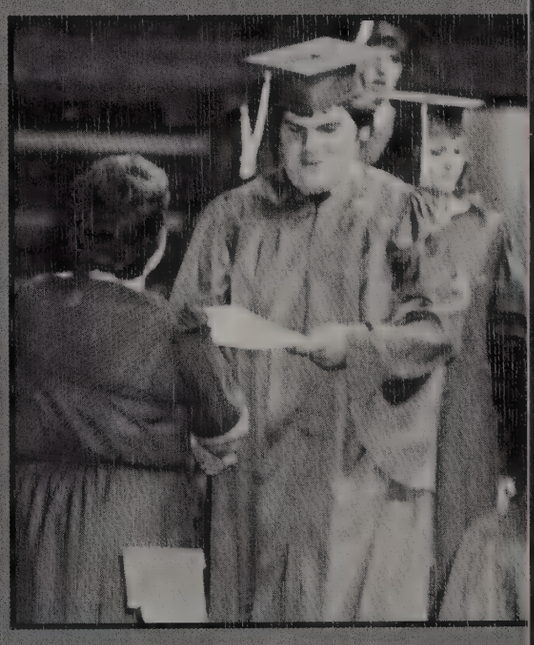
The good, the bad, and the ugly. Greg Banno and Doug Bannister stand one last time with Julie Bankert before graduating.





In his crowning glory. Rodney Nanez protests the long wait before graduation begins.

Signed, sealed, and delivered. Paul Wade accepts his long-awaited diploma from Mrs. Sue Ann Mackey, school board vice president.



Trying to kick that twelve-year habit. While waiting backstage, Jeff Bouleware does a quick tap dance for all to see.

Dream on. Laurel Pannoni makes plans for after graduation and next year.

Here today, gowned tomorrow. The seniors sing the Alma Mater for the last time to end the ceremony.

Point of no return. Relieved to have finally Made it, the 1983 seniors celebrate by throwing confetti.

Sister act. Ramie Lay and Angela Rios say one last goodbye before turning in their gowns.

Memory

Jennifer Cowan checked her yarn supply for her knitting, while Gary Sapp polished his crutches. "I'm going to cross that stage if I have to crawl," said a determined Gary.

Finally, May 23, the big night arrived. The students filed in and took their seats as the ceremony began. E. J. Larsen gave the invocation, and then Dr. Ralph Poteet addressed the graduates. Salutatorian Steve Walker and valedictorian Kelly Rattan, gave their speeches, and the big moments began. The tassels were moved from left to right, and each senior strode across the stage as their name flashed on the scoreboard above.

Then suddenly it was over. The students were no longer students, and never again would they skip classes for Big Mac attacks, memorize the preamble, agonize over term papers, or ever see their friends as classmates again. But these memories help them see their future as a bright horizon, with more memories in store and graduation as the most cherished memory. "It doesn't seem like it's really happening," said Kathy Wade. "I'm glad it's over with, but it's sort of sad. We'll never be able to goof around the way we did in class and not worry about the outside world. This is it, and it's time to be a grownup."

Dressed for success. While Kelly Rattan speaks as Valedictorian, the graduates sit patiently and listen.

Pontiacs never die, they just get shoe polished. The major celebration shows itself in a small way as Kari Ryle decorated her father's car.

Reel Winners. UA Town East 6 provides six screens of entertainment for NM students.

The yearbook staff was able to produce this edition of the Trailblazer through the support of our community. The advertisers in this edition bought over $3,000.00 of advertisements to offset the cost of the book for the students. The yearbook would cost several dollars more per copy without advertising support. We are indebted to them. Much of the credit of producing an award winning book goes to these support groups. Without this support, we could not produce an award winning annual. Support them as they have supported our school.

NM Rodeo Team In Action

The North Mesquite Rodeo Team is a member of the Lone Star High School Rodeo Association. The team was organized in 1973, and this year's members meet every Monday night from September to May at 7:00 p.m. at the Elk's Lodge on Gus Thomasson.

In LSHSRA there are thirteen events. These events include bulls, bareback, barrels, poles, saddle bronc, calf roping, breakaway roping, team roping, goat tying, steer undecorating, steer wrestling, ribbon roping, and chute dogging. Entry fees for each of these events range from $12 to $15.

Trophies or plaques are awarded for first through sixth place winners, and points for each event in a rodeo are given and tallied and work toward finals.

The North Mesquite Rodeo Team is proudly sending three members to the LSHSRA finals. They are Sherri Mercer in barrels and poles, Melissa McPhail in steer undecorating, and David Izzo in bulls and bareback. The 1982-83 LSHSRA Queen is Miss Sherri Mercer.

LIFE IS BETTER THAN EVER IN MESQUITE

In Mesquite . . . a winning attitude is paying dividends during this important time in our city's history.

Important because it's a time of growth in Mesquite. And, new businesses and families are investing their futures in our community at a record pace.

Families like the amenities of life Mesquite offers: outstanding schools, excellent recreational facilities, a wide variety of housing and convenient shopping.

Businesses like the advantages of a Mesquite location: easy access throughout the Metroplex and beyond, a top notch work force, favorable land prices and a cooperative attitude from city leaders.

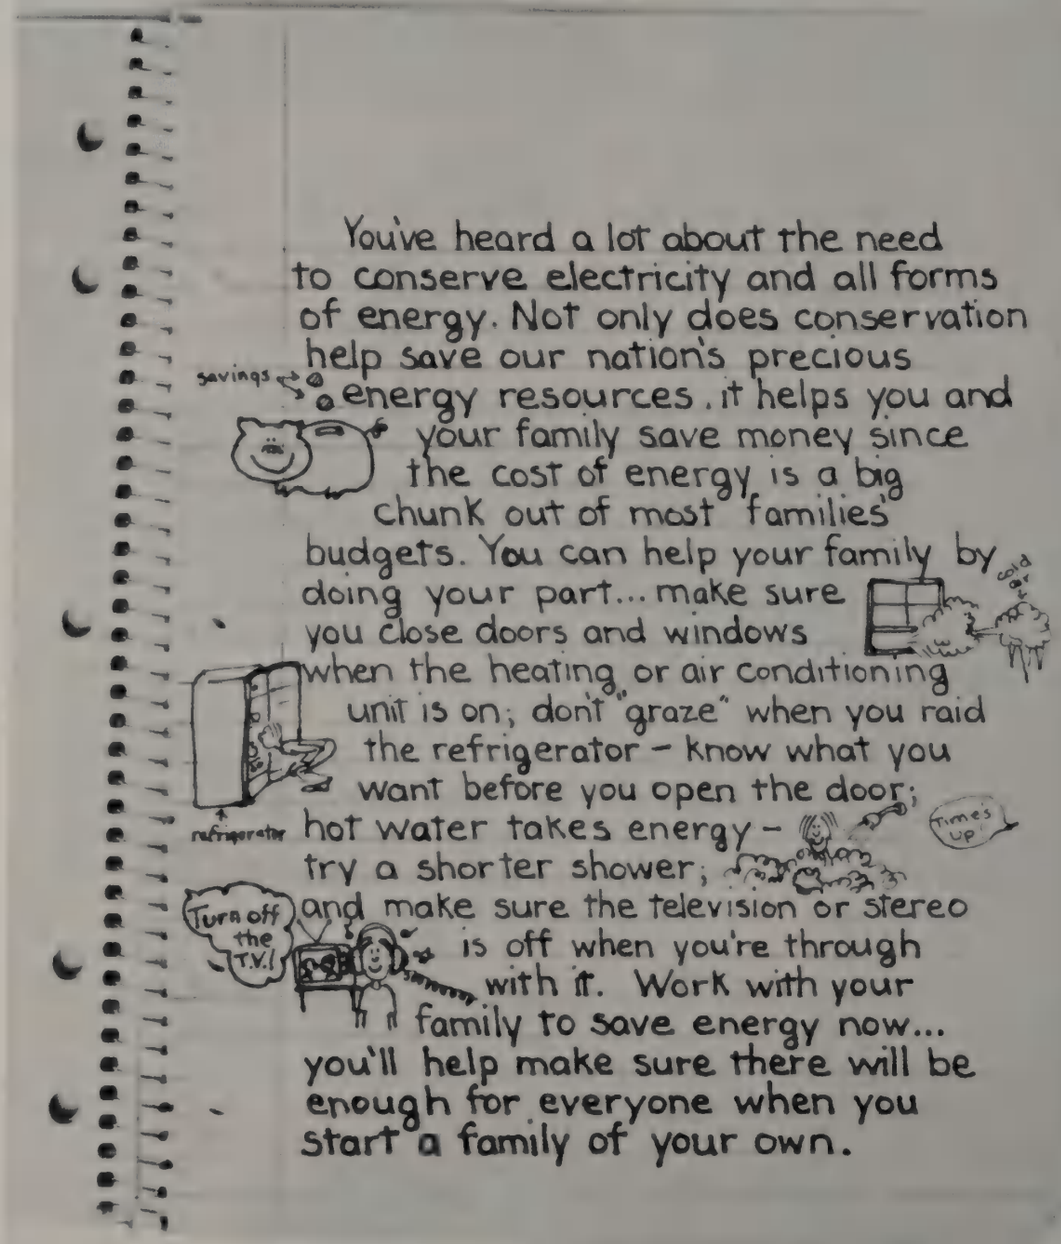
You can help.



You've heard a lot about the need to conserve electricity and all forms of energy. Not only does conservation help save our nation's precious energy resources, it helps you and your family save money since the cost of energy is a big chunk out of most families' budgets. You can help your family by doing your part... make sure you close doors and windows when the heating or air conditioning unit is on; don't "graze" when you raid the refrigerator – know what you want before you open the door; hot water takes energy – try a shorter shower; and make sure the television or stereo is off when you're through with it. Work with your family to save energy now... you'll help make sure there will be enough for everyone when you start a family of your own.

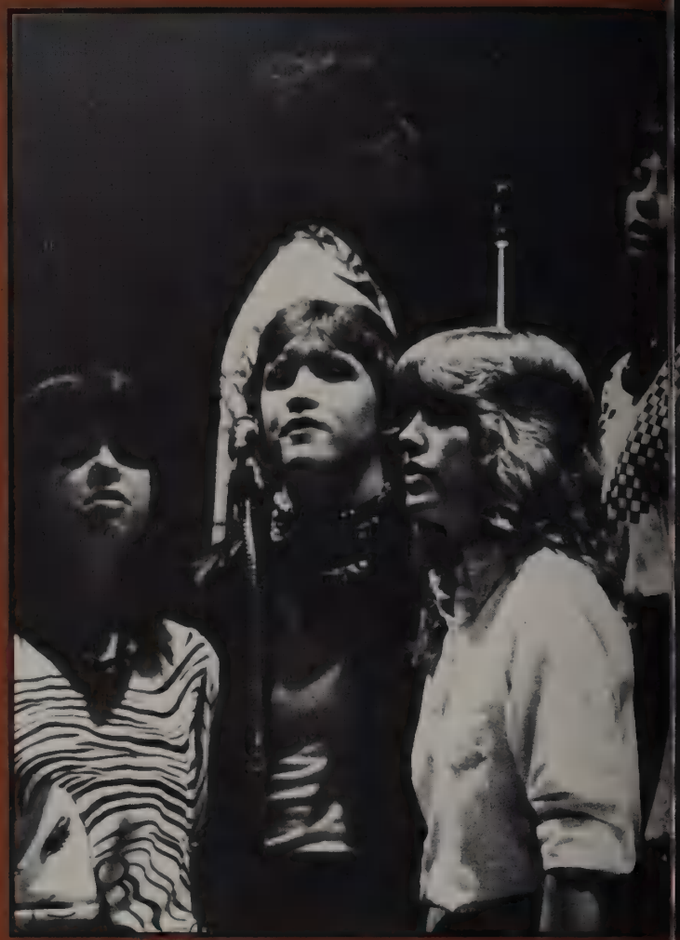
Straight from the Hart. Coach Hart gives a little insight into the afternoon's ball game.

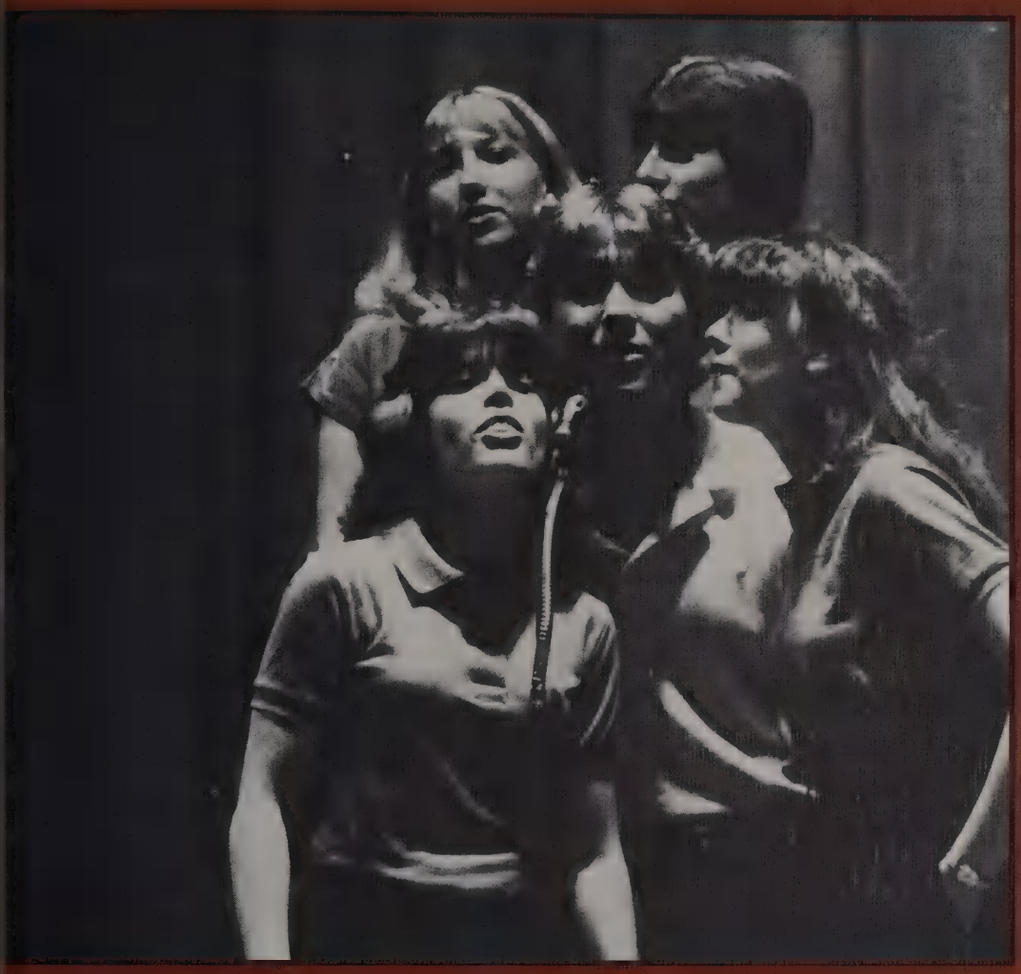
Closing Notes. Members of Unity close out the year with another dramatic performance.



Proud to Be

By the look of things it seemed a tornado had swept through the halls and classrooms as the final days of May were marked off the calendar. It was time to part with the text books and air out lockers, we were tired of the old routine and had a bad case of spring fever. Final exams and grade averages should have been the most important thing to us as school was winding down, but it wasn't. Students couldn't help thinking of escaping to Six Flags and White Water, or getting concert tickets for Journey and the Texas Jam. Those last few days slowly crept up on all of us as we looked back over the last months it was easy to see that we had left our mark. school throughout the year. High standards were set at the beginning and with much determination from students, athletes, coaches and teachers. Those goals were met and often surpassed. No longer would we be labeled "lucky;" we proved to ourselves and outsiders that luck had nothing to do with it. We got where we were because of sacrifice and dedication. In sports there was a dream of becoming undefeated champions. The football team made this dream a reality and from then on almost every athletic team on campus turned a little spark into a blazing fire that wasn't easily extinguished. It felt good to win, but it felt better to know that people were behind us each step of the way. The sound of school spirit in a gym or stadium is what winning is all about.

Military Brawl. ROTC cadets have a little fun after their AFI annual inspection.



Save the last dance for me. Denise Todd and Kevin Hall contemplate their future together while at the prom.

Simply Enchanting. Miss Pinkston gives some lessons on how to dissect the catch of the day.*

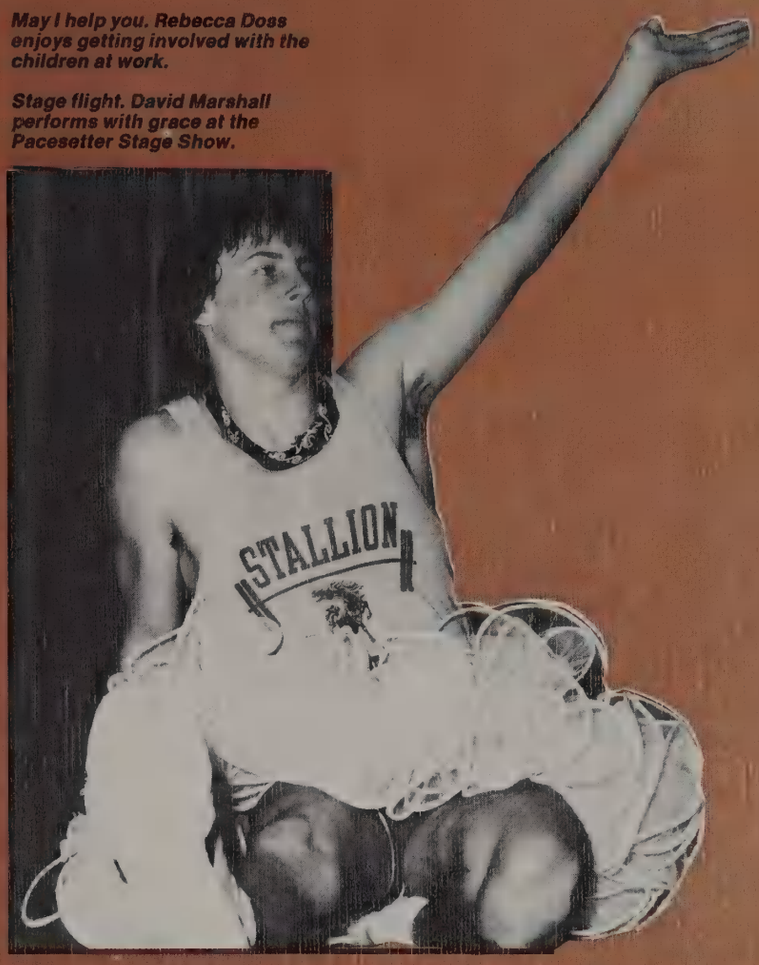
Few Limitations

Even though our generation was one of few limitations and great dreams, we still had to fight against all of the worldly troubles in order to keep our high hopes alive. School was like a security blanket and while we were there, it didn't seem to matter what was going on in the outside world. In the toughest of times we involved ourselves in study, competition and much hard work. For the underclassmen the end of the year only brought a much needed break from school, but for the seniors it was a totally different time in their lives. Graduation signaled freedom and a new adventure. It was time to start being an adult and put all the knowledge we had obtained to work. It was sad to leave the people we had gotten to know, but it was a step that had to be taken. As we went our separate ways, it was hoped that each of us would take our winning spirit and attitude everywhere we went. It is hoped that this yearbook has captured those precious moments forever and that when we flip back through the pages 20 years from now, we will always remember that 1983 was the year that North Mesquite Pulled Together to produce a Winning Combination.

May I help you. Rebecca Doss enjoys getting involved with the children at work.

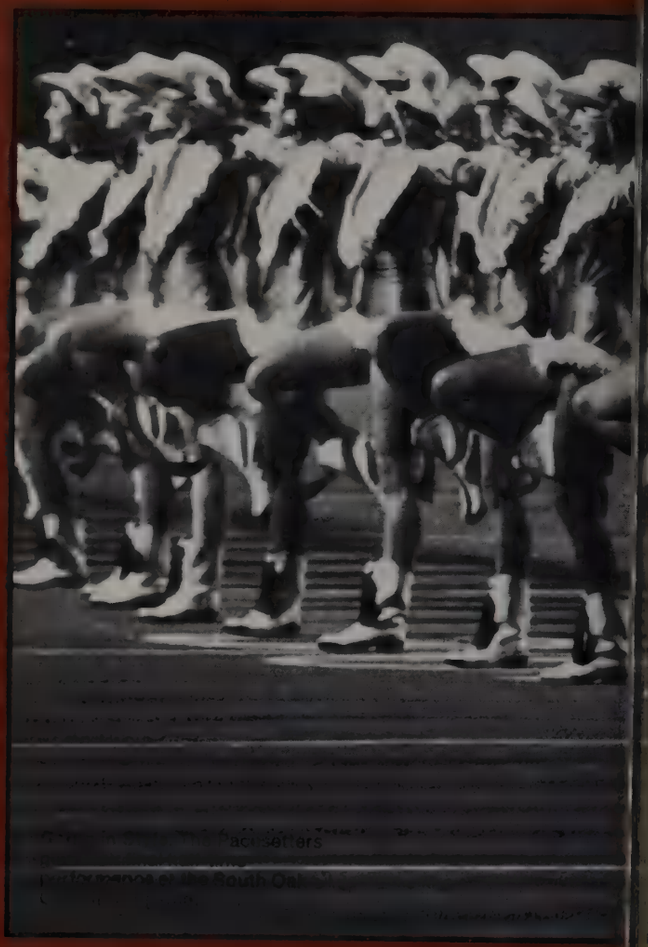
Stage flight. David Marshall performs with grace at the Pacesetter Stage Show.



Golden memories. A Friday night performance, a memorable experience for Kamy Aylor and Debbie Morrow.

Quest for the best. Although they fell a little short in their game, Kelly Rattan and Cathy Henry's feelings were stronger than ever.

Can't smile without you. With her everlasting smile, Peggy Barnett jokes with Terry Brewer and Patty Ramsey.



One to boot. Christi Callan shows her true spirit and dedication by continuing her performance, despite the loss of a boot.

Flags flying high. In the midst of the flag corps, Sharon Carter prepares to perform her tryout routine.

Colophon

The 1983 Trailblazer which sold for fifteen dollars, was the first North Mesquite yearbook to be collegiate size, 9″ × 12″. The publisher was Taylor Publishing Company, represented by Don Griffin, which published 1875 copies.

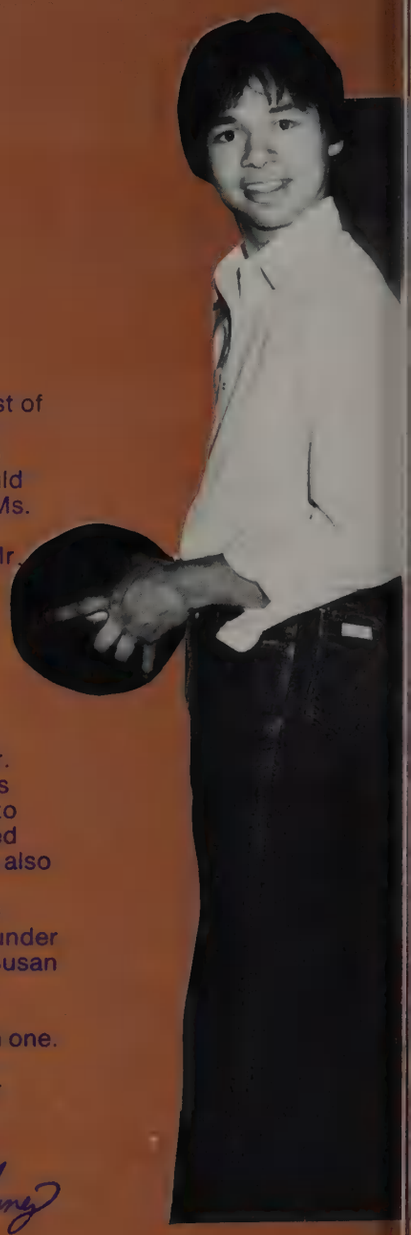
The cover, a custom tool and dye, was designed by Paul Wade, with gold foil accenting the Blue #452 Cordova Grain. The pages are eighty pound saxmark enamel, with various screens and twenty-three color pages used throughout the book. There were thirty-nine spot color pages using Russet Brown #45, Cherry Red #31, Buckskin Tan #45, and Process Blue #9. All copy was 10 point Helvetica Standard, captions were 8 point Helvetica Standard, and heads were in 36 point, 24 point, and 18 point Palatino Bold.

Thanks to Hennington Studio for the class portraits, School Photographers for the Senior Portraits, and Glenn Phillips, Steve Trew, Andy Bill, Coach Hart, Melissa Dean, Martha Adcock, Jana Kennedy, David Schupe, Dave Taylor, and Mr. Kline for their help and pictures.

The 1982 Trailblazer was awarded a second place certificate by Columbia Scholastic Press Association, an Award of Achievement by Interscholastic League Press Conference, and a Certificate of Merit at Texas High School Press Association.

Lookin like we made it. Evelyn Rabot basks in the glory after graduation ceremonies.

The Best Reward



I would like to start off by saying that being editor of a yearbook is not an easy job, but I guess everything has its own rewards. The best reward would be that this yearbook adequately captured the memories and events that occurred in the year 1983, and that it would be accepted and enjoyed by everyone now and for years to come. If there was one thing I wish everyone could learn from this yearbook, it would be that in order for NM to thrive and become even greater than what it is, administrators and students will have to pull together and work closer with each other. Students and teachers need to remember the good times; athletic events, watching the Big Blue and Pacesetters, and field trips with our own organizations. We need to remember the good things in life and not dwell on our misfortunes or dislikes. We should start off each day with a clear conscience and a positive feeling toward everyone. As the editor of this yearbook I tried to do my best, whether it was taking pictures, designing a layout, organizing a favorites field trip, or just dealing with the people. We hope that this edition of the Trailblazer is the best book that NM has ever had, and one of the best in the state of Texas. I can only hope that when this yearbook comes out students and administrators alike will understand and overlook our inconveniences, straightforwardness, and insistent attitudes. This is the only way it could be done. There are many people who I need to thank especially Mr. Taylor and the staff I worked with. I would especially like to thank my assistant editor, Paul Wade. Paul did an enormous amount of work on this publication, including designing the cover, functioning as the head photographer, and overseeing all of the Student Life Section. I would also like to express my appreciation to two very special people, Kari Ryle who did a fantastic job on the Advertising and Faculty Sections, and to Steve Reed who was in charge of the Organizations Section and kept us on top of all national events. Two very special people whom I owe a lot are Linda Boroughs and Debbie Burchfield. Although I was the editor, they taught me many things, including the meaning of friendship. More quality yearbooks will come from NM as Linda will be in charge of the 1984 Trailblazer. Linda did a great job as the asst. editor of Student Life, she often found herself picking up the slack of many people. I can not express how much Debbie did for this book, she had a hand in many sections, a big part coming in Sports and Organizations. I would also like to thank the rest of my staff; Edward Abarquez, Leanne Goolsby, Jill Johnson, Leigh Ann Lacy, and Claire Taylor. The list of teachers I need to thank goes on forever, but you know who you are. I would especially like to thank Ms. Martha Adcock (you character), Miss Gray, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Hoffman, and the Richardsons — Jan and Gloria. I would also like to express my appreciation to the entire office staff for their assistance, especially to my bud, Mr. John Campbell, who was there to bail us out and to give us that much needed pat on the back. I would also like to thank the 1982 Trailblazer Editor Susan Purcell whom I worked under for the past two years. Susan was a good friend and helped to make our transition a very smooth one. Above all I would like to thank my family for their constant support and understanding.

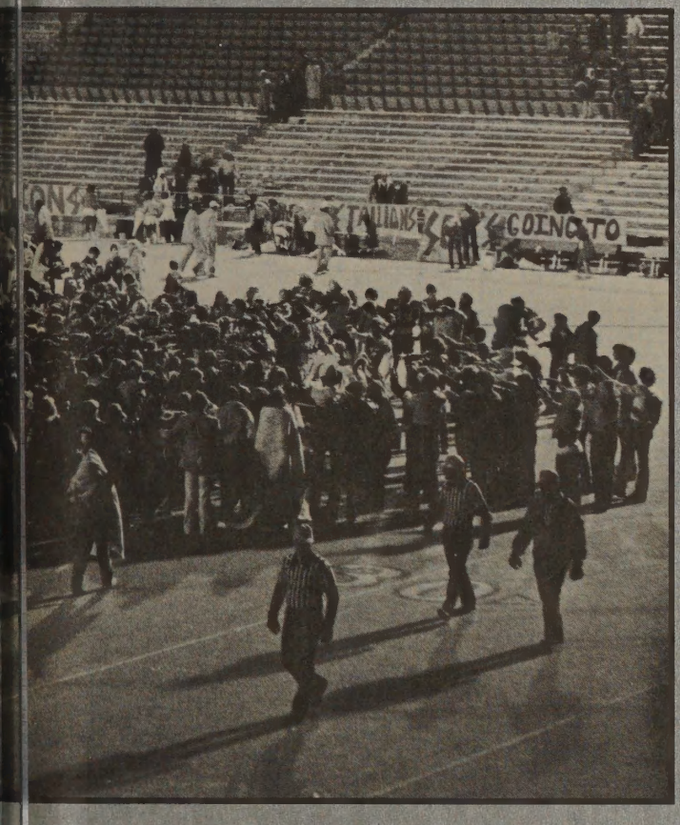
Pulling Together...

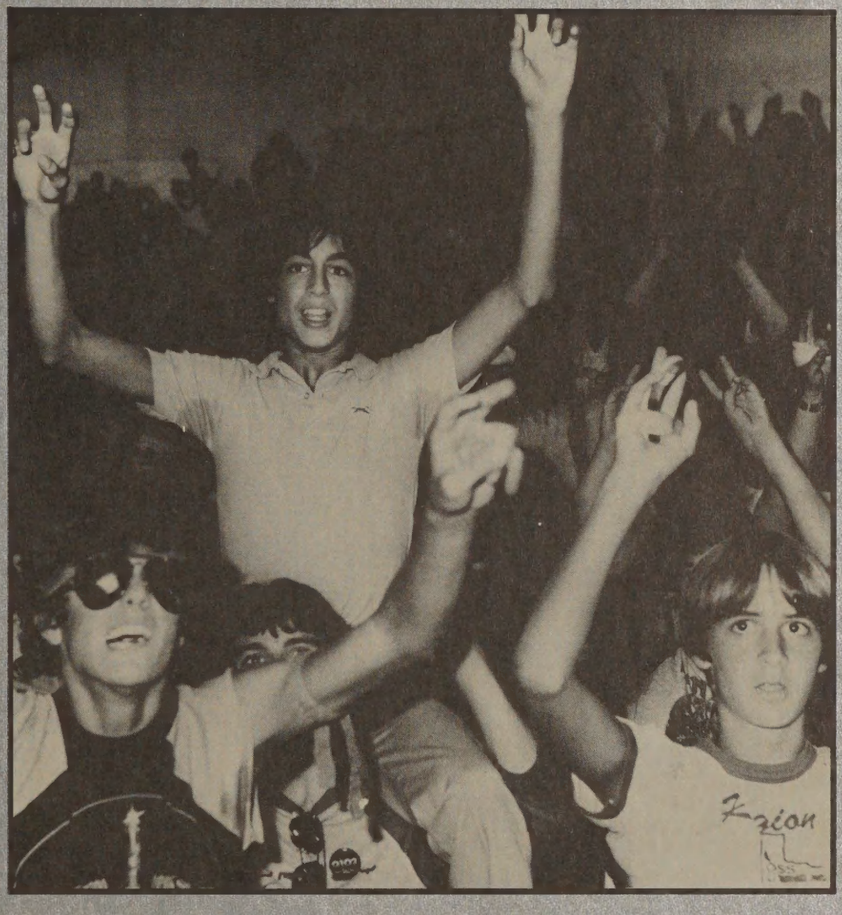
A Winning Combination

When Punch comes to Shove. Junior cheerleader, Barbara Tobias, socks it to the Stallion football team.

Some say that high school is just a slice of life and that each year is full of memories, events, faces, victories, defeats and friends. We laugh, cry, dream and love; yet our winning ways throughout the year are probably what will remain in our minds the longest. Sometimes it may be a sports team that stood out in greatness, while other times an organization will gain recognition. Those are the best times in high school for most of us. Our goals may have differed, but we all basically went through the same routine day after day. The most important thing learned was that by Pulling Together we were and will always be a Winning Combination.

Look Ma, All Hands. The excitement of the Rock and Roll pep rally brings students to their feet at the singing of the school song.





All Good Things Must Come to an End. The football season ended as everyone gathered around Spirit one last time.

The Sound of Music. Cathy Henry, John Hunstable, and Diane Wagner sing at the Unity Christmas concert at Town East Mall.
